Misunderstood.

It frets some people to find out that they are misunderstood and misjudged by their fellow men; to have an unworthy motive attributed to them by others, with perhaps no opportunity of set themselves right. We simply need to remember that every other inhabitant of the world who has had the advantages of human society, is subject to the same misfortune. There is no escape from suspicion of evil for any one so long as there are evil hearts in the world, for they will attribute the low and selfish motive every time, regardless of the character of the person suspected. Christ was the most misunderstood person of history, but amidst all the arrows of cruel suspicion that pierced his heart he never lost his perfect calmness and dignity.—Midland Ch. Adv.

"Do Not"

Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them; the kind things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go.

Let us Get Into the Spirit of Christmas.

In another month Christmas will be here. This means that we must get into the spirit of Christmas. What is the spirit of Christmas? Oh! simply the spirit of giving. So if you will say, "I am always in the spirit, but alas! I lack the means to give." Oh, no! that is a mistake; every one can give; no one is so poor that she can give nothing, and I believe we can all give much more than we think. I have just heard of a young woman who expected to go to a foreign land as a missionary, but she became lame from some cause, and her hearing became defective, so she made up her mind that some one else should be helped to go by the efforts she would make. It would make a book to write the history of that young woman since that time. She has kept at work, until now her receipts from all the things she started amounts to eight hundred dollars a year, and she expects to reach one thousand dollars.

We learn to do by doing. Do not take the time in dreaming what you would like to do; but begin at once to do something.

The Fairy's Gifts.

Last night when I was snug in bed A fairy came to me and said:

"Dear child, three gifts to you I bring A box, a mirror, and a ring.

"Each morning use the mirror bright To bring your little faults to light;

"When you have found them every one, Open this box, as I have done,

"And pack them quickly out of sight. Remember! shut the lid down tight.

"We call these, best of gifts to youth, One, Self-control, the other, Truth.

"This golden ring, Sincerity, Wins friends wherever you may be."

I never spoke, I did not stir, I only lay and looked at her.

And where she went I do not know,— She melted like a flake of snow.

The door was barred the window too— How do you s'pose that she got through?

I'm sure she came—so real it seemed, But Mama says I must have dreamed. J Torrey Connor.

Won't You

Be pleasant at home? You can never make the world believe you are amiable if you are disagreeable in your family.

Be less selfish? The women who have made the world better for their living in it are those who forget self.

Be contented? If you could know the skeleton in your neighbor's closet, yours would seem less ugly.

Be appreciative? It is the little things that make up life, and a thank-you costs nothing.—Edna Witherspoon.

Thoughts For the Day.

Joy is of many grades. Man is like an orchestra, and as the music of each different instrument is distinctive so is the joy of each different faculty.

Complete joy is the harmonious joy of all.

Man is an animal. There is a joy of his animal nature. It may be perfectly innocent, harmless, healthful. It is in the mere animal spirits of a healthy boy. Blessed is the man who so keeps his animal nature pure and strong that he keeps pure and strong the joy of his childhood.

There is a joy in the social faculties, in the interchange of life with life in commingling the joy of the animal life with that of others, in certain phases of intellectual activity.—Christian Union.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Glean Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

Dynamo, Dynamite, Dynasty.

Abdul Hamid, it appears, still lives in fear of machinations against his life. One of the largest firms of electrical engineers in the city has been applying for an electrical concession in the sultan's domains. Everything had been satisfactorily arranged and the necessary formalities complied with, and only the sultan's signature was required. But Abdul Hamid is determined to keep control of things and not be a figurehead. He read the document through, when suddenly his eye lighted upon the word "dynamo." This was quite enough. He immediately tore the paper up; for, though not properly acquainted with electrical machinery, he has learned that "dynamite" carries with it certain terrors. Explanations were of no avail, and the concession was not granted.

It is curious Abdul is not a better Greek scholar. If he had ever thumbed a lexicon, he would know that the Greek root which gives us "dynamo" and "dynamite" is, by an irony of etymology, the origin of the word "dynasty." It is thus that the whirligig of time brings in its revenges.—London Mainly About People.

The End of the World.

The Buddhist priests of Haputale, in Ceylon, are circulating all kinds of disquieting stories as to the end of the world. One priest has warned the local villagers that the end of the world begins next week. A woman with a very pretty baby is to visit the villagers' houses, and whoever can be prevailed upon to hold the baby will die. The people are more or less scared. A few months ago these people gathered firewood and made provision for three days' darkness, which was to usher in the grand finale of all things.—Advocate of India (Bombay).

ELECTRICITY FROM WIND.

Reasons Why This Method of Getting It Is Not More Generally Adopted.

If we mistake not, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, in his last attempt to reach the north pole, had the Fram equipped with a specially designed windmill, which when operating drove a dynamo and furnished the necessary current for lighting purposes. An aeromotor erected on the roof of a building in Park place in this city has been for some time successfully driving a dynamo in connection with a storage battery plant, the current from which has been utilized for incandescent lighting. From this it will be seen that there is nothing very new in the application of windmills to the driving of dynamos.

There are probably several reasons why the windmill or aeromotor has not been more universally adopted for the above purpose. In the first place such a motive power is always more or less uncertain and cannot always be depended upon. There may be a calm just at the time it is found necessary to recharge the batteries, or the batteries may be in use when a breeze springs up. This would necessitate having two sets of batteries at a considerable cost. Another reason why aeromotors have not been more extensively adopted is probably due to the fact that current can now be generated with steam as a motive power very economically, especially in large quantities. The erecting of an aeromotor and the installation of a number of storage batteries with a dynamo mean a considerable outlay of money, especially when the cost of maintenance and renewals is taken into account. In certain cases it may be found that the interest on the batteries, generator and windmill, with the labor item figured in, will cost as much in the long run as the current could be purchased for on the outside.

But probably the chief reason why the power of the wind is allowed to go to waste when it could be employed for generating electricity is the same as that which prevents the immense power derivable from the tides in both the Hudson and East rivers from being utilized—namely, conservatism, or, if not lack of progress, a slowness in availing ourselves of opportunities.—Electricity.

DO YOU BROOD ?

Melancholia is a Grave Disease and Leads to Insanity.

A Broken Down Nervous System is the Cause of Trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound Nature's Nerve Bracer and Health Restorer.

Do you brood from day to day and make life a continued misery for yourself and family? If you are a victim of melancholia, understand at once you are suffering from a terrible grave disease—a trouble that induces suicide and homicide.

One of the most celebrated physicians of the day says that there are several forms of melancholia: simple melancholia, melancholia agitation, melancholia attonita, and melancholia with stupor. The first two are the most difficult of recognition and are the forms that especially endanger the lives of victims and their friends.

Some of the first and most important symptoms of melancholia are sleeplessness, depression of spirits, slow mental movements, terrifying hallucinations and aversion to food. The whole nerve system is soon in a most alarming condition the mind becomes affected, and even insanity may show its hideous form.

Experience has proved that the ordinary medical treatment of melancholia ails in nine cases out of every ten.

simply because the root of the disease is not reached.

Hundreds of cases of melancholia in all stages that have baffled the best medical men have been successfully cured by nature's nerve medicine—Paine's Celery Compound. This marvellous medical prescription does its work directly on the nerves. It tones, strengthens and braces up the entire nervous organization, and, as a consequence, the tissues and muscles are built up, and pure life-giving blood is freely supplied to every part of the body.

Reader, this should be an all-important subject to you if you are sleepless, despondent, languid, out-of-sori, depressed in mind and mental faculties impaired. Your path of duty is clear. Terrible dangers are ahead if you fail the first symptoms. Your present and future happiness and health depend wholly upon your choice of medicine. The use of Paine's Celery Compound at this time means new life, health, vigor, activity, free-mental powers and a length of happy years.
