Coming Visit Recalls Highland Clearance Issue

The coming visit to this Province of Dame Flora MacLeod of MacLeod prompts Mr. George F. Ferguson of New London to send this paper a clipping from an Island paper quoting the late H. C. MacLeod, who was general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia. In an article written following his visit to Scotland several years earlier.

Mr. MacLeod, who was born in the Park Corner school district, devoted a large part of his education to those who were responsible for persecution of the Highlanders in the period 1797 to 1806.

Mr. MacLeod noted that many outstanding Scottish spokesmen had denounced "The Highland Clearances" as "the usurpation of feudal power to expel a whole people from lands they had tilled for generations."

He quoted the Right Honourable Joseph Chamberlain who referred to the incidents in these words: "The history of the 'Highland Clearances' is a black page in the account with private ownership of land, and if it were to form a precedent, if there could be any precedent for wrongdoing, if the sins of the fathers ought to be visited on the children, we should have an excuse for more drastic legislation than any which the wildest reformer has ever proposed. Thousands of hard-working industrious, God-fearing people were driven from the lands which had belonged to their ancestors and which for generations they had cultivated; their houses were unroofed and destroyed, they were turned out homeless and forlorn, exposed to the winter season, left to perish on the hillsides or to swell the full tide of misery and destitution in the cities."

Has Praise For Britain

LONDON (Reuters) - A politician and television commentator said Wednesday Britain has "probably the most advanced society since ancient Athens."

Woodrow Wyatt, former Labor party member of Parliament and political commentator for the BBC, said many Britons emigrating to Canada and Australia are leaving for the wrong reasons.

Speaking at a luncheon Wyatt said many emigrants are not moving to the younger lands "with a sense of adventure to forge something new for Britain and the world."

"They are going there because they say income tax is very heavy in England and let's get out of the sinking ship while we can."

He added Britain today "resembles a very ugly Victorian mansion with a badly-painted facade, pretending it had a staff of servants when in actual fact mother and father run down to the kitchen to do the washing up."

But, Wyatt said: "We have got probably the most advanced society since ancient Athens. I think it is terribly good and I would not move out of England for anything."

REPORTS FROM THE VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS indicated that a most active year had been experienced in the life of the church.

Mr. G. L. Bennett, Superintendent of the Church School reported an enrolment of 958 children. These he said were being cared for by a staff of 68 officers and teachers. The total collection of the school for the year was $1,242.

FUTURE EXPANSION In looking to the future, the pastor Rev. A. Frank MacLean noted the growth of the City especially in the Spring Park area and predicted that in the near future it might well be possible that another church would have to be built in that area to take care of a further overflow at Trinity.

In such a case, Mr. MacLean pointed out, the financial strain on the congregation would be great. He therefore suggested that the Official Board be empowered to study the feasibility of setting up an endowment fund which would serve in the future to look after the needs of the central congregation.
