CEMETERY thieves have been discovered and will probably be proceeded against. This species of barbarous vandalism must be killed out of the community, even at the expense of injuring the reputations of some of its members. Ghoul and grave robbers must be swept away from the town, and the EXAMINER hopes that the punishment meted out will be sufficiently severe to act as an effectual deterrent.

MR. JAMES O. NEVILLE, the general import and export agent of the Allen Line, and general Dominion shipping agent, of 538 Dorchester street, Montreal, Canada, says: "While on a late exhibition trip to the States, my old foe, the rheumatism, attacked me, and gave me a rough siege. Having read the endorsement of well known people who had used St. Jacobs Oil I determined to give it a trial. In two weeks time I was as well as ever, and fully able to attend to my business."

We do not wish to incessantly carp at the police for the non-fulfilment of their duty. We simply beg to call their attention to the increasing number of corner loafers in the city. By day the lower corners of Queen and Water Streets are haunted by a gang of foul-mouthed "vagabonds," who invariably insult ladies and gentlemen. At night the corners of Upper Queen and Grafton Streets are crowded with a more genteel sort of loafer, who indulges in conduct equally as disgraceful as his brethren below. We hear many remonstrances made, but the police seem powerless to abate the nuisance. We suggest that some of the leaders of both Associations be immediately arrested, and that examples be made of them. This matter should not be overlooked by the police.
