The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♣	1♠	Pass	4♠

Opening lead—two of clubs.

One of the important elements of good dummy play is proper timing. The declarer will sometimes find himself with a sufficient number of theoretical tricks to make his contract, and at the same time find that the defenders can beat him to the punch and cash enough tricks to set him before he can score all his winners.

Let's suppose, for example, that a club is opened and that East is foolish enough to cash his three aces immediately.

If we then take stock of how many winners are left for declarer, we find four trump tricks, two hearts, and four diamonds, plus the ability to ruff two clubs in dummy, or a total of twelve tricks in all.

But since East would not defend in this hypothetical manner, which would constitute a loss of timing, we turn instead to a more rational defense.

East wins the club lead and shifts to the jack of hearts. East sees that he must attempt to build up one or two heart tricks for his side before declarer makes use of his diamond suit to discard losing hearts.

South wins the trick and observes he cannot afford to knock out the ace of trumps at once because another heart would then be returned and he would end losing one trick in each suit.

South therefore attacks diamonds at once. He finds himself in a race, with East trying to build up a heart trick, and South being forced to establish diamonds to counteract East's effort.

East ducks the ten of diamonds but takes the next diamond with the ace. He returns a low heart and West's queen forces dummy's ace. A heart trick is now established for the defense.

Dummy leads a good diamond. East must ruff, otherwise declarer disposes of a heart. South overruffs.

A club is trumped in dummy and another diamond is led. Declarer now discards his heart loser whether East ruffs with the ace of trump or not.

The race is won by South. Proper timing prevents a heart from being lost.

Moscow Says Eisenhower Disappointing

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass Monday night described President Eisenhower's opening speech at the NATO summit conference as disappointing to those expecting some concrete proposal that might ease world tensions.

In a dispatch from Paris, the Soviet news agency said Eisenhower "did not answer the hopes of the French and other peoples that the United States would change its present cold war policy."

"President Eisenhower talked a lot about peace which must be pursued," Tass said. "He talked about peace under which people can produce freely, trade freely, travel freely, think freely and pray freely."

But, Tass said, he did not hide the fact that the powers of NATO are "aimed against the Soviet Union."

Tass accused Eisenhower of emphasizing the necessity of continuing a policy of position, strength, cold war and the armaments race.

Tass said Eisenhower had interpreted Soviet scientific and technical achievements, the strengthening of the Soviet economic position and the Soviet challenge to the West for peaceful competition "as threats to Western nations."

Radio Moscow, in a broadcast heard in London, said the Eisenhower speech was aimed at persuading allies of the United States to give up national sovereitny "for the sake of America's military designs."

The English - language broadcast charged the speech was an attempt to "save bankrupt U.S. power politics."

INVITATION RENEWED

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower has renewed his invitation to President Coty of France to visit Washington, a White House spokesman said Monday. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Coty has indicated willingness to accept the invitation but that no date has been set for the visit.

RUSSIAN FISHERIES

Production from the Soviet Union fisheries in 1956 reached 2,617,000 tons, compared with Canada's 1,077,000 tons.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints Each day the code letters are different.
