Stage Manager Arrives In City

Katie Robertson, a stage manager, has arrived in Charlottetown Friday, the first of Confederation Centre's summer festival personnel. Miss Robertson's official title is "production manager" and she is also to stage manage "The Ottawa Man", the non-musical show in the festival's repertory. One main problem Miss Robertson will have to handle will be coordination of rehearsals. Although "The Adventures of Private Turvey" doesn't go into rehearsal until the opening of "Anne of Green Gables" July 4th, leading cast members will be prepared at the same time and many cast members are in both productions. She will also work with technical director, David Loynd, in planning the setting-up of

A native of Victoria, B.C., Miss Robertson comes to the Charlottetown Festival after a year's association with a new theatrical venture being tried out in several American universities. She was stage manager for a professional repertory company attached to California's Stanford University, where she did post-graduate work as a directing manager in 1963-64 following graduation from the University of British Columbia with a BA in English and drama.

Sigsworth, Anderson Wind Up Campaign

"The dye is now cast, and the appeal lodged by the Premier awaits judgement by ballot. Whatever may have been the feeling at the outset of this election campaign, concerning the political completion of Second Kings, there can be no doubt existing now, in the minds of any political observers on the Island, concerning the political awareness of the people in this district. As Alex Campbell's Liberal candidates here we have more than succeeded for you in proving convincingly to all that there is alive and active in Second Kings a boldly militant spirit of Alex Campbell's new Liberalism which has laid devastating siege to what had long been looked upon as an impregnable Tory stronghold. Before the continuous and snoring balist of the Liberal trumpet the walls of the Tory fortress were shaken, and the disorganized band of hapless Tory camp followers have been methodically reduced to their present pitiful confusion. As your two Liberal candidates we spared no effort in the assault on Toryism in Second Kings, and before the pummeling Liberal logic every battery of Tory power in this district has been shaken."

Don Anderson and Frank Sigsworth, Liberal candidates in Second Kings told a campaign wind-up rally in the Morell High School auditorium on Saturday night. Mr. Anderson continued: "When the ballots are all counted on Monday, one certainty will have been firmly established here in Second Kings, and that is that the glistering bright banner of Alex Campbell's New Liberal Party has been planted firmly here. It is, therefore, with a satisfying sense of achievement that, as your Liberal candidates, we are able to report to all proudly that the clear and resonant note of the new and revitalized Liberalism, struck by our energetic young leader, Alex Campbell, echoes now, and will continue to echo and re-echo throughout Second Kings. To the people here it has become the long-for-announcement of a bright new future of prosperous security for every man, woman and child in the District."

"As long as politics is a topic for discussion among the people here, your Alex Campbell Liberal team of Anderson and Sigsworth will have a place reserved for it in every such discussion."

When the noises of the election battle are quiet, and the tribunal of history sits in quiet judgement on all the events of this election campaign", said Frank Sigsworth, "all candor and justice demands that the verdict embody the assertion that Second Kings was one of the principal focal points of the whole campaign. The whole of Prince Edward Island watched this District with excitement as the people here eagerly gave their approval and placed their seal to the sound principles of Alex Campbell's New Liberalism with an enthusiasm rarely equalled in our political history, and never exceeded," said the thirty-seven year old lawyer.

Music for entertainment and for dancing was provided by the Tremontes and refreshments were served by the Ladies Liberal Association and the Young Liberal League.

Women Attend Annual Meeting

Over 100 women representing a membership of over 24,000 United Church Women attended the fourth annual meeting of the Maritime Conference of United Church Women held last weekend at Mount Allison University, Sackville, New Brunswick. Included in the number of delegates from the Maritimes who registered were three delegates from Bermuda.

Guest speakers, reports from boards, presentations and the election of a new slate of officers for the ensuing year highlighted the weekend conference.

Dr. Christine MacInnis of Halifax made a presentation to the Halifax Wesleyan Female Benevolent Society on the occasion of their 150th anniversary. The organization was founded in 1816.

Speakers included Whitney Dalrimple, on furlough from Angola, featuring his work as a missionary spoke on the physical, political, spiritual and social tributes of his area of concern and Dr. L.H. Cragg, Sackville, who spoke on the principles of union and the women of the church. In his address Dr. Cragg observed that in 1906 the first lady was ordained to the ministry of the United Church of Canada.

EIGHT ELDERS — Mrs. Roy Veil gave a report from the Board of Women.

Rev. Elden R. Hay officiated at the Communion Service following the election of the officers. Eight lady elders were present in the sanctuary, five who assisted Rev. Hay in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Other activities were a school for United Church Women conducted by Beatrice Wilson, assistant secretary, Board of Women, Toronto and Mrs. Charles Howatt led in the service of worship. Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, Charlottetown, Presbytery chairman of Leadership Development led a group discussion on the subject of group discussions.

The members of the new executive are Mrs. Henry Noyse, Summerside, president; Mrs. Ewen Anderson, Charlottetown, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Howatt, Victoria, P.E.I., chairman, leadership development committee.

Members attending from the Prince Edward Island Presbytery United Church Women included: Mrs. Heber Jones, Mrs. Henry Noyse, Mrs. Cecil Wilber, Mrs. Ewen Anderson, Mrs. Charles Howatt, Mrs. Allen Jenkins, Mrs. Alfred Horning, Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, Mrs. Edward MacAusland and Mrs. David Mutch.

1260 Donors Are Required

At least 1260 blood donors will be required from four Prince County areas and the Canadian Forces Base during the week of June 5th, according to F.A.S. Jones, provincial chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee. Mr. Jones explained that the quotas for each centre are set at 40 an hour for morning and afternoon clinics, and 75 an hour during the evening hours, as a means of establishing a fair basis for the competition for the "Manning Trophy" which is awarded each year to the centre achieving the highest percentage of its quota.

According to figures released by the provincial Red Cross blood laboratory some 355 patients in Prince Edward Island hospitals received 1100 bottles of blood during the first five months of 1965. This necessitated the cross-matching of 1753 bottles of blood. Since the beginning of this year only one series of clinics has been held when 1405 donors attended the three day sessions at Charlottetown in April.

For Prince County "Blood Donor Days" June 4th-8th, clinics are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, June 6th and 7th at the Legion Home in Summerside with an objective of 600 donors; at the Canadian Forces Base on Wednesday morning and afternoon with a quota of 240; at Tignish Legion Home on Wednesday evening, quota 150; at Alberton Legion Home on Thursday afternoon with an objective of 120, and at O'Leary Legion Home that evening where the quota is 150 donors.

Mr. Jones said that active committees have been at work in each of these centres during the past few weeks, and that each one is making every effort to exceed the objectives set in view of the ever-increasing demand for blood and its by-products which play such a vital role in present day medicine.

max with the second fiery suicide.

—Youths clamored atop automobiles, cut their arms and wrote letters in blood to Johnson demanding U.S. intervention in the Buddhist cause.

—Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang, a power behind the Buddhist opposition, told reporters in Hue: "The American president has killed all the sympathy the Vietnamese Buddhists had for him."

—U.S. diplomats kept in close contact with Buddhist leaders, urging a compromise formula.

—Ky scheduled new meetings with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, a former South Vietnamese army commander who took the Buddhist side.

—In the war against the Viet Cong, ground and air action went on but U.S. officials were clearly concerned that the Buddhist campaign coming after Ky's victory over rebels last week—Ba-Nang, might cut into the U.S. effort here.

LOCKED IN COMBAT

U.S. military briefing officers in Saigon reported that troops of the American 25th Infantry Division were locked in bloody combat with a force of North Vietnamese army regulars in the central highlands near the Cambodian border. American informants here say about 10,000 North Vietnamese troops are poised across the Cambodian border for an attack on the central highlands.

Hours after the first suicide by a nun in Hue, Thich Tri Quang called his first press conference since the anti-Ky campaign erupted 11 weeks ago. He said the nun died in protest of Johnson's support of Ky. He produced letters he said were written by the nun and addressed to Johnson. Reproduced in English for reporters, one of the letters said:

"The irresponsible attitude of the government which you direct as well as that of American officials in our country, shows that you implicitly accept and approve the massacre of bonzes, of the faithful and of patriots."

"I pray that clear-sightedness and humanity may return to those who have been pursuing in the spirit of slaughter. I pray for the comprehension of America toward the suffering our people are enduring. I pray that peace and happiness may return to our people."

STUDY MOON MAPPING MANCHESTER

Mapping the moon for man's first lunar landing will be discussed by leading scientists at an 11-nation conference at Manchester University, England, next week. The conference, organized by the university's astronomy department and the American air force Cambridge research laboratories at Bedford, Mass., will plan for the time man makes his first voyage to the moon.
