The following is the address: Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hardy: You are about to conclude your work with us and go to another vineyard, we, your friends and neighbours, have met with you tonight to express in a small measure the appreciation which we hold for the services amongst us.

During the past four years you both have been ever alert in your work, and your daily example of Christian living will long remain with us. You and the people of this church have journeyed together in the close fellowship of pastor and people.

To you, Mr. Hardy, this church has had in their minister an able spokesman. God has guided you from week to week to bring to us so many truths from the Bible in your most inspiring messages. You have made God's plan and the way of Salvation very plain. The Young People should not readily forget the council and help you have given, and the wonderful Bible study periods spent together. The sick and needy of our community also those in hospitals looked forward to your many visits, and your generosity to children will long be remembered.

Your place will be hard to fill and we would gladly retain your services. However, we feel confident that in whatever portion of
