WINTER IN THE MAGDALENES.

Interesting Letter From a Resident.

GRINDSTONE ISLAND,
Magdalen Islands,
May 1, 1895.

DEAR EXAMINER,—No doubt some of your numerous readers would wish to hear something of the Magdalens, and, as our good mail ship (St. Olaf) with her genial commander, Capt. LeMaistre, aftes an absence of about four months, has just visited us, we were glad to hear from our friends in the outside world.

Our new year opened on these Islands with a very strong gale of east wind, accompanied with a tremendous sleet storm, which broke down all the telegraph wires over the Islands.

Quite an enjoyable entertainment was got up by our worthy and esteemed clergyman, Rev. J. Hunter, who commenced his duties here last fall as pastor of the Church of England mission on these islands. The entertainment and amusements were quite a novelty to the children, which they heartily enjoyed. A beautiful tree was decorated with lots of useful articles,, which were distributed to the children, not one but got something. About 10 p. m. the proceedings were brought to a close, as the little ones were getting pretty tired, having played games and romped to their heart's content. The rev. gentleman kindly gave the parsonage to them for that day. There was no restriction; the children were allowed their freedom all over the house. Great praise is due to the Rev. Mr. Hunter, and also to Miss Alice Beers, of Charlottetown, who is teacher of our Protestant Dissentient School, for the able and efficient way the entertainment was carried through.

The weather on the Islands the first part of the winter was very open. January was a beautiful month. In fact, we were expecting that the post office authorities would try and send us a mail about the middle of that month. The last mail we had was on the 13th of December, so news even a month old would have been quite acceptable; but alas, we were doomed to disappointment—none came.

On Sunday, the 9th of February, we experienced a very heavy gale from the north-east, with very high tides. At midday the wind increased to a real hurricane with a blinding snow storm.

On the 13th of February a very remarkable thing was to see the whole of Pleasant Bay free of ice, which at that part of the winter is generally filled in. The 25th of February, or I may say the night of the 24th, up to sunrise of the 25th, was the coldest experienced in the winter, the thermometer registering 8 below zero. The Islands being surrounded by salt water, the cold is not so intense, nor the frost so keen, as in the upper parts of Canada where so much fresh water is.

On the 26th I had the pleasure of paying a visit to the Grindstone Protestant Dissentient School, under the able management of its teacher, Miss A. Beers. I found she had forty-one scholars ranging from sixteen to five years of age. I examined the scholars in the different branches which they were studying, and I must certainly say they are doing remarkably well. It was wonderful to see how eager these children were to show a stranger what progress they were makingin their studies.

Nothing of any note occurred during the remainder of February, only heavy falls of snow, which made traffic almost impossible, particularly in the bays and lagoons.

The month of March came in for the first few days fine and moderate. But about the tenth it got very cold and blustery. On the 11th of the month a party of men, seven in number, started from West Point to go over to Deadman's Island, a distance of about eight miles from the mainland, to remain there for a few weeks seal hunting, having put provisions there last fall by boat. On arriving, they found everything was gone, the buildings which had been erected there, for the last three or four years, were all swept away with their contents. No doubt, by the heavy N. E. gales, and extraordinary high tides of the first part of February. The poor fellows were sadly disappointed, and consequently had to trudge back over a very heavy road. They had been in the habit of going there for the past four springs, generally leaving home about the 25th March, remaining two and sometimes three weeks, and always doing well.

There are eight schooners from House Harbor prosecuting the seal fishery. The first one left the Harbor on the 22nd March, the "William Albert," Capt. L. Vigneault, with a crew of twelve all told. On the 27th, the remainder left the Harbor, viz. Schooners Lion, Una, Ledee Adele, Canadian, Gold Hunter, Richard B., and Marie Enese, and after procuring ballast in Pleasant Bay, proceeded on their voyage of which I hope to give you good returns when next I write. The seal fishery on these islands, I fear, will soon be a thing of the past. Seal oil at present is almost unsaleable; other oils are taking its place in the market, which are much easier obtained at very low prices. The skins also, which in former years were in good demand in the English markets, are hardly of any value there now. Therefore, unless a schooner can capture, say from a thousand to fifteen hundred seals, it hardly compensates for the expenses incurred. And then the risk is very great, as it is a very hazardous business. A number of sealing vessels have been lost belonging to these islands, and also lots of valuable lives. Two or three years ago one belonging to this harbor I have above mentioned, called the Esperance, Captain Vital Richard, and a crew of twelve men, including two of his sons, went to the bottom after striking, it was supposed, either some sunken rock or some boulder of ice in a gale of wind and snow storm, and scarcely ten miles from their homes. Not one was saved to tell the tale. Pieces of the vessel and other articles by which she could be identified were washed ashore during the following spring, which were the only tidings of the sad calamity. As ever.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Merely a suggestion. Why pay a quarter for three cigars when you can get five "Something Goods" for the same money?—and they are equal to any ten center. We don't want you to take our word for it either, we only ask you to buy a quarter's worth and judge for yourself.

TWO-HUNDRED-POUND PIGS AT SEVEN MONTHS OLD.

The old-time way of feeding hogs for eighteen months before selling them is fast becoming a thing of the past, as it has been proved that young animals pay better returns for food consumed than older ones. But to attain good weight at six or seven months the pigs must be well-bred and carefully fed. The stock must be rather large, and well-matured, the dams weighing from 350 to 600 lbs and the sire of a quick-maturing strain which will fatten easily at any age. After the pigs are a month old they will eat some soaked corn, and drink milk, and should be fed in a small pen near their mother's feeding floor. Ground corn and oats with some beans and shorts will make good slops, mixed with milk and water twelve hours before feeding. After this swill has been fed a liberal supply of soaked corn will add enough flesh to keep the pigs plump all summer. They should have a clover pasture to run in during summer, and sweet corn, pumpkins, squashes and beets or other vegetables which are raised on the farm, to help make a good growth.

Sometimes pigs at 100 days will weigh from 85 to 90 lbs, seldom reaching 100 lbs, but oftener they weigh from 60 to 75 lbs, and this may be considered a good weight at a little over three months old. During the next three months they will grow rapidly on the proper food, and if corn is added to put on flesh, will weigh 165 lbs when six months old. During October they will gain 60 lbs more, making from 200 to 225 lbs by November 1st. During September and October the market is usually much better than later, so if the pigs are ready for sale by October the best profit is secured. As much of the food used during such a crowding process must be purchased, the feeder must decide for himself if the profit in these pigs is enough to justify the expense. If three months more of time are taken, and clover, sweet corn, rye and home-grown corn fed after maturity, during winter months, and the pigs sold during January and February, a very satisfactory return will be received, and less cash is expended.

FARMERS' GIRLS.

S. SOLACE.

Farmers' wives and daughters as a rule have been steadily leaving certain duties and health giving employments in the half century just past. Would they fain woo the pale face, the flabby muscles and nervous exhaustion? This is a bold inference. Let us see if it is really true. The country girls of sixty years ago spent much of their time in outdoor employment. Many of them worked in the garden, helped milk the cows and drive them to pasture, knew how to harness a horse by actual practice, and could drive. All there things were done without neglecting necessary household duties. Those great-grandmothers of ours were wonderful women. They would spin, weave, knit and bake six days, and ride to meeting the seventh day on a pillion. Numerous sons and daughters were raised and the surplus moved toward the setting sun.

As the old man writes he feels that times have changed. The piano stool has taken the place of the milking stool. The faces of the young girls are turned toward Vassar, and many of them yearn for a "career." The great-grandmothers bequeathed a legacy of physical vigor. How many generations, with exclusive indoor employment, study and trim dressing, does it take to exhaust this family vigor and produce a degenerate condition? The alarm has been sounded. Good old families should not become extinct. We hear talk of physical culture. The girls stand up straight in a hall or schoolroom and swing dumb-bells. They swing them around, up and down, right and left, backward and forward. May the bells prove the salvation of the belles. But there is no music in croaking. Let the old man make a suggestion to farmers' girls, the dear, charming girls. Do you love flowers? There is the garden. You can paint your face just the right color in the garden, and the best young man will meditate on that fact. Let not the hired servant do all the work. He may help, but the artistic feminine touch gives a charm and helps make home a lodge of happiness. Why should not the farmers' girls have charge of the poultry yard? No branch of farm work affords such opportunities. The rearing of chickens requires considerable time and a fund of gentleness and patience. The girls have a fondness for young life. They do not practice deception when they fondle the wee downy balls. "Oh! the dear, innocent creatures! Too cunning for anything." The men, with deep voices, down where the gullet grows, are gone to the field. The girls see the early spring shower coming and secure the chicks under cover. They are at home and hear the disturbance when a strange cat or a weasel comes around. How gentle the high-toned voice! It sounds up in the rear part of the bonnet. It is the voice of love for the helpless. Ah, give me girls to rear chickens, when once they are listed. Country girls should pet the horses and ride on their backs. Better than dumb-bells is horseback riding. People may think and say what they please, the future of our country depends much on the physical vigor of our girls reared on the farm.

Experience Has Proved It

A triumph in medicine was achieved when experience proved that Scott's Emulsion would not only stop the progess of Pulmonary Consumption, but by its continued use, health and vigor could be fully restored.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—South American Rheumatic Cure, for rheumatism and neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits.

TOOTHACHE!

This is addressed to all those who are suffering from Toothache, or who may require treatment of any kind at the hands of a Dentist. I make the very best Teeth, guaranteed, for $15 a set. If not satisfactory, money refunded. Gold and Silver Fillings a specialty. The following letter from Dr. Robertson, of Crapaud, as regards the PAINLESS EXTRACTION of Teeth, speaks for itself:—

To J E McDonald, D D S, Summerside, P E

Dear Doctor,—I am so well pleased with the work you have done for me, that I will take it as a special favor if you will give publicity to this letter. I positively assert that after an experience extending over twenty-two years under the hands of many dentists, you are the only one who ever extracted a tooth for me ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT PAIN. The TEN teeth you removed for me at one sitting did not hurt a particle, as Mr James Dawson of Tryon, who was present at the operation, heard me testify. The man who invented your method should be knighted.

I am yours, gratefully,
H. W. ROBERTSON, M. D.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. Good Photographs.

A fine lot of Photos, taken by MR. C LEWIS, were laid on our table a few days ago. Those Photos are of gentlemen who attended the funeral of the late Sir John Thompson at Halifax—Lieutenante Governor Howlan, Bishop McDonald, Dr. Doyle, and many others. They are to be put in the large picture, which is to be painted at Toronto, of the interior of the Church, representing the funeral Mr. Lewis has the best fitted Gallery in the Province; the arrangements of light are correct; he uses the Dallmyr Lens, which is free from distortion. All work first class; prices very reasonable.
