

Tignish area has high moss catch

By EDITH ELDERSHAW
Tignish Correspondent

As the village of Tignish and the people of this community look to the future for a year of success, expansion and advances, we point with pride to what has been accomplished during the past year for the good of all.

handle the fish processing there. At Skinkers Pond improvements were made to the harbour where some 65 boats fish the fall season.

Jerry Bule who operates a fishing fleet at Tignish Run employs a large staff to operate his factory where lobsters are canned.

RECORD YEAR

The past year was a record year for Irish moss. Not once since the start of the industry in 1916 has so much moss been gathered and sold in this area where there are six buyers.

SEWER LAY

A sewer system project started in the village on August 1, 1961 at a cost of $100,000 was completed in October making it possible for the taxpayers to enjoy modern conveniences in their homes, along with improving sanitary conditions.

TIGNISH CO-OP

During the past year the board of directors of Tignish Co-operative Association entered into a managers agreement with the Maritime Co-Op. This step was taken to provide better and stronger relations by the local co-op with the central wholesale co-op. The members were paid a five per cent rebate, three per cent went to a new five year revolving credit plan with interest, and the members a better chance to save.

PARK OPENED

Anglo Park a much needed camping site in this area, was opened up a few miles north-west of Tignish during the past summer. Twelve hook-up teams and three village basketball leagues and supervised skating classes are now heading the list.

HORSE LOVER KEPT HIS WORD

LONDON (AP) — In all his 85 years, Walter Lavender never forgave the internal combustion engine for replacing the horse. He never rode in an auto and had a horse and cart of his own.

His granddaughter, Mrs. Jill Cavanaugh, told reporters: "He once pointed to a motor car and said 'I don't want to go to my grave in one of them. It isn't fit and proper.'"

"When he knew he was dying, he made my grandmother and me promise that we would get him a horse - drawn hearse."

Walter will get his wish. A film studio is providing four bays and a splendid black carriage to carry the horse lover to his grave Friday.

Several streets in the village were paved by the provincial government during the past year, making a tremendous improvement in the village.

Three new water tanks for fire-fighting purposes were installed on the Blind Road, Upper Church Street, and on the corner of Joseph Bunde completely covering the entire village with water tanks.

The Tignish fire department with Fire Chief Earl MacDonald work in their spare time to enjoy modern conveniences in their homes, along with improving sanitary conditions.

A great deal of improvements were made to the newly painted fire hall and firemen's supplies grew during the year. A questionnaire was sent out to every household and a check of fire hazards in homes was made by the department.

DOCTOR SECURED

In November the village was fortunate to have secured the medical services of Dr. Roy Kennedy who came to fill a vacancy left since last May. This has been a welcome service to the entire community.

The past year saw many anniversary celebrations taking place.

SCHOOL OPENED

The Tignish Regional High School officially opened in 1960 had six classrooms (a teachers room, janitor's room and two lavatories at a cost of $60,000) added to meet the overflow of high school students in this area.

An up-to-date training room for related children was made available. This room is a delight to see, and is a credit to this newly formed association in Tignish area. Adult education classes are carried on regular each week at the high school.

SEVEN YEARS OF PROGRESS

JUDE'S POINT—HOME OF TIGNISH FISHERIES

Shareholders numbering 152 operating 100 boats were responsible for this fish catch. Over 2,000 cases of chicken Huddle were put into cans and shipped to Winnipeg, Toronto, New York and Virginia, and today with a major need in Illinois for more fish the manager of the Tignish Fisheries Shea said there is not one can left.

The overall lobster catch was down over the previous year by 50,000 pounds but the market value in dollars was up.

Other lobster facts:— 110,000 market lobsters were transported to the Boston market; 15,000 cartons of lobster cocktail were processed besides 10,000 cartons of canned lobster, with the high boat during the season bringing in 13,204 pounds.

BUILDING FINISHED

A salt fish storage building built during the past year is capable of handling up to 2,000,000 pounds of salt fish a year. A great increase in cod fish is forecast as many of the fishermen are getting equipped with gill nets. A cold storage and freezing plant is expected to be built this year, as a new wharf on the north side of the cannery was built for its erection during the past fall. An ice maker put into operation for the fishing seasons past was a continuous in operation and now supplied all the ice used. Another ice maker is to be installed at the Tignish Run where a rental crew will be employed to et and her mother, Mrs. Campbell Gaudet, owners of Gaudet's tourist lodge, Mrs. Leona Gavin proprietress of the Bellevue hotel had a great deal of improvements made to the interior of the hotel during the year by interior decorator Sylvare Myers. Improvements were made to various business firms during the year, and homes in the area. The Irving service station and buildings, the ice surface was completely wired allowing a hook up with Maritime Electric. Board fencing was erected around the ice surface. Improvements were made to dressing rooms and canteen, P.A. music system was installed.

The park situated on the outside shore along a very scenic drive that goes through to North Cape (where stories have been written about its buried treasures) became a very popular camping site in the short time it was operating.

Boasting one of the nicest beaches and picturesque shorelines on the Island the park has 16 acres of nice green turf with a wooded background for campers, swings, teeter-totters are made available for the younger set.

Along with picnic tables and outdoor fireplaces. And a courteous caretaker, Lloyd Shea, is always near by to give what ever assistance he can.
