Presentation For C. N. R. Conductor

On the evening of Friday, Dec. 22nd, Mr. Michael G. Mooney, recently retired conductor of the C. N. R., was waited upon by a number of his friends from the Railway and presented with a gift in remembrance of his long and meritorious service with the company. The presentation was made by Conductor William Doyle and the following address read by Conductor Gordon MacCallum. Conductor Michael G. Mooney:

During the course of a lifetime we witness the occurrence of many events which could truly be termed "events of world-shattering impact". In the span of one short life we see nations rise and fall, we see governments set up and overthrown, and we see opposing ideologies vie with one another for supremacy. However, despite the undeniable importance of these events, they are soon obscured by the mists of the past and remain only as vague memories of things gone by.

In the midst of these events, acclaimed by the world as the most significant of the age, but the memory of which, none the less, soon dies, events occur which stand out from all the rest, not because of their world importance, but because of their significance in our individual lives, they are indelibly impressed on our memory and remain with us until we can no longer remember. The retirement of our highly esteemed friend, Conductor Mooney, is one such event and this gathering tonight is evidence of its importance to us and is our tribute to a faithful friend, a Christian gentleman, and one of the finest conductors on the Canadian National Railways.

Conductor Mooney: Your devotion to your duties as Conductor, arduous and difficult as they are at times, will always stand out as a shining example to all who follow you. Faithful, efficient and conscientious in the discharge of your duties, you have always been motivated by the highest principles and have never denied anyone the benefits of your wise and prudent judgment. Your outstanding ability and keen interest in your work, all we feel sure, would have won for you an administrative position had your retirement not come when it did. The sterling qualities which elevated you to the position of high esteem in which you are held by all your fellow employees were not only recognized by Railway men. It was not unusual, but a very common thing, to hear the patrons of the Railway speak of you with words of sincere appreciation, praise and commendation. When running on a passenger train your whole passion was the welfare and comfort of your passengers. In you the Railway slogan of "Courtesy and Service" was ever evident and your absence will be noted and lamented by all. In particular, you will be sorely missed by your fellow workers who, on so many occasions, greatly benefited by your wise counsel and the sound advice which can be given only by one possessed of prudent judgment and many years of experience and which, when you were with us, was always at our disposal.

Your associations with all have ever been guided by that truly Christian rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." and in this, you exhibited the qualities of a deeply religious man carrying the practice of religion into daily life. Your absence will be spoken of with accents of sorrow by all those "on the road", for they will miss your genial personality which provided a joke for every occasion and a smile to make the greatest difficulty easily bearable. It is, therefore, with mixed feelings of joy and sorrow that we greet your retirement - joy because your untiring efforts and unflinching devotion to duty are rewarded by it - sorrow, because with your retirement we are deprived of a fellow worker who is truly "an abridgement of all that is pleasing in men". It is our heartfelt desire that, free from the worries and cares peculiar to the duties of a conductor, you and Mrs. Mooney will enjoy many years of well merited retirement.

As a manifestation of the high esteem in which you are held by all, and, in particular, by your fellow workers, we ask you to accept this small token of our joy and gratitude for having you as a friend and for having had you as a fellow worker. Your fellow workers. Conductor Mooney, though taken quite by surprise, fittingly and feelingly replied referring to many pleasant associations with his fellow-workers during his long service.

Wheatley River C. G. I. T. Hold Vesper Service

The Wheatley River C.G.I.T. group held its Christmas Vesper service on Sunday evening, Dec. 24 at 7.30 in Wheatley River Church.

The service opened by all singing the old carol "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", followed by the responsive reading from Isaiah, chapters 40 and 9. A prayer by the Leader followed by another Christmas carol, "Angels From the Realms of Glory". First Scripture reading, Luke 2 (1-17) read by Gertrude Barrett. Second reader: Marjorie Axworthy read a poem from the Vesper Service sheet, entitled "He Missed It All".

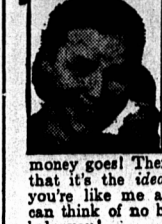

While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks was then sung by the choir. Second Scripture: Matthew 2 (1-11) read by Gertrude Barrett. Alice MacLean then read from the Vesper sheet "God Calls His Angels, God Guides by His Store". Miss June Eikhoud then led in prayer. The Christmas offering was taken by Shirley and Helen Rose Eikhoud and dedicated by prayer repeated in unison by the congregation. The C.G.I.T. group sang the carol "O Come All Ye Faithful". The story for this service was very capably read by Miss June Eikhoud, "Jesus increased in Wisdom and Stature" was the title of the story.

The remaining part of the service was the candle-lighting. Following the repeating of their C.G.I.T. Purpose together, the girls came to the front of the church to light the 5 candles. The central candle representing Jesus the Light of the World was by Jean Chandler. From this central candle the remaining four were lighted by Shirley Eikhoud, Alice MacLean, Vaunda Murphy and Marjorie Axworthy. The four lighted candles were symbolizing the four parts of the C.G.I.T. Purpose, Health, Truth, Worship and Service to others. While standing around the table with the candles gleaming on their trim uniforms the girls quietly sang "Silent Night". This very inspiring service was completed by all singing the carol "Noel, Noel" and Benediction by the Leader.
