House of Assembly.

APRIL 22.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House in committee resumed consideration of the bill respecting elections.

Hon. Mr. McLeod said that it was proposed to take from mortgages the right to vote. It was, he said, as just to give judgment creditors the right to vote as mortgagees. A mortgage is only a security for the payment of a loan. It was, therefore, not right, in his opinion, that a man worth $4,000 or $5,000 in cash should be able, by a judicious distribution of his investments, to vote in every district in the Province.

Mr. J. R. MacLean said that he was altogether opposed to special votes on anything. A man who votes on property should go to the place where his property is, and vote there. But if special votes are to be retained, he did not think it right to discriminate between a mortgagee and an owner.

Mr. Bell explained that the interest of the mortgagee is equal to that of the owner. The mortgagee is really in possession of his property by means of his tenant, the mortgagor. It would be inconsistent to give a special vote on property and refuse a special vote to a mortgagee.

Mr. Farquharson argued that the mortgagee had an interest in the locality in which his money was invested, and should, therefore, have the right to vote in that district.

Mr. McMillan was willing to do away with all but one vote; but he could not see any sense in letting one man vote on an interest in land amounting to only $6 a year and refusing a vote to a mortgagee whose interest might amount to a large sum.

Mr. Peters contended that unless it was intended to alter the franchise altogether, it should be left as it is, and declared that if all the mortgages were to be drawn in, agriculture could not be carried on in this Province. Mr. Peters argued that anything which injures the locality in which the mortgagee's interest is, injures him; his interest is to maintain the value of his security.

Mr. Rogers pointed out that the only real interest the mortgagee had was to get the interest on his investment, and to get his money back. The mortgagee does not add anything to the value of the property. He takes very good care that the property is of much greater value than the money he advanced upon it. He pays no taxes. He is not entitled to a vote on account of his interest in the property.

Mr. J. R. McLean said that mortgages are, in many instances, a great advantage to the country. Farmers in the country have, at times, to borrow money.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson said that it was not, in the first place, the intention of the Legislature, to give to a mortgagee the right to vote. Mortgagees never voted as such until 1875 or 1876, when some of the lawyers took the point that they could do so; but there were yet lawyers and laymen who would not vote on their mortgages for the reason that they believe that to do so is unlawful and wrong. One of the evil results of voting upon mortgages is the system of espionage which it has engendered. Many persons have been very much annoyed by reason of the watch that is maintained to discover whose farms are mortgaged and who is the mortgagee. Again, he had known three mortgagees to vote over the head of one mortgagor. He believed that voting on mortgages was unknown in any other country.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Summary of Proceedings.

OTTAWA, April 22.

Mr. Blake having, at Mr. Foster's request, referred his motion advising a reference to a judicial tribunal of vexed questions relating to disallowance, the House this afternoon went into committee of ways and means. Further modifications of the new tariff were announced by the Finance Minister, and discussed and agreed to. The changes were as follows: All manufacturers, and not those merely of woolen and cotton goods, are allowed the privilege of the free importation of blood, albumen, tannic acid, antimony, salts, tartar, emetic and grey tartar.

The item providing a duty of 30 per cent. on building stone is made to read dressed building stone. Ginger wine is to pay 75 cents, in place of $2 per gallon. Repairs made to ships are no longer to be dutiable. The skelp iron duty, now $13 per ton, or about 35 per cent. is to read thus: Skelp iron shered or rolled in grooves not wider than eight inches nor finer than 20 gauge until such time as it is manufactured in Canada, 30 per cent. Buttons of hoof, rubber, vulcanite or composition are to be 5 cents per gross and 20 per cent. ad valorem in place of 10 cents per gross and 25 per cent.

On a discussion arising on the pork duties Mr. Foster reiterated his statement that under the terms of the General Inspection Act clear cut pork may be entered as mess pork, at 1 1/2 cents per pound, but he said that, in view of the difference of opinion on this subject, the Government would consider the advisability of further defining the term mess pork.

The Committee having risen and reported the resolutions, Mr. Foster moved that they be read a second time and concurred in. The resolutions were read a second time and agreed to, and a bill founded thereon was introduced and read a first time.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, taking up several items of the main estimates left over on previous occasions. After the committee rose Mr. Wallace's bill amending the Combines Bill was read a third time and passed. The House adjourned at 12.50.

Parnell on Land Purchase.

LONDON, April 22.

In the Commons yesterday, Parnell moved that the Irish land purchase bill be rejected by the House, and spoke at length in support of his motion. The Parnellites are divided in their opinions on Parnell's motion. They think an explanation is necessary. The Fall Mall Gazette says if the proposal had been brought in by the English Cabinet it would be overwhelmed with every epithet of execration that the Irish imagination could invent.

The Chronicle and Telegraph both consider that the alternative proposed by him was not intended seriously. The Times says Parnell is so occupied with his new banding that he failed to draw a serious indictment against Balfour's bill.

Parnell's Inconsistency.

DUBLIN, April 22.

The Freeman's Journal (Home Rule) says it is certainly curious to find Parnell proposing a scheme by which landlords will be retained in Ireland.

The Express (Conservative) says Parnell's proposal is a remarkable one, coming from such a quarter. His proposal asserts a principle for which the landlords vainly contended before the Irish Land Act was passed in 1881.
