A Poor Way

If Premier Chou En-lai would only try to practice at all times what he preaches on the rare occasions when he is on his good behaviour, how very different the world situation could be!

It is almost certain that if Messrs. Chou and Mao had not authorized Communist aggression in these countries, Communist China would long since have been given a seat, wisely or unwisely, in the United Nations.

Significant Meeting

Can religion, business, and politics mix? Well, quite a large group of United States Congressmen—Representatives and Senators—says they can.

The idea itself resulted from a movement known as the International Council of Christian Leadership started twenty years ago by a small group of business men in Seattle, Washington, who pledged themselves to try to bring the principles of Christianity into every day business life.

There is obviously something wrong when the unreasonable demands of a few hundred technicians are allowed to lead to unemployment for 23,000 contented employees in another part of the same business.

Experts at the Washington Carnegie Institute have detected radio waves from the planet Jupiter which they take to be nothing more than troublesome "static."

Within a few years the dreaded disease of leprosy will have practically disappeared from French Equatorial Africa, it is believed by the French authorities.

President Eisenhower, who was unable to attend the event, sent the following message: "This meeting is inspiring evidence of the conviction of each of you that religious principles must not be kept in a realm apart from everyday life, that they must more and more be put into practice in business, law, government, diplomacy—in every area of practical pursuit.

The Lysikov Case

Now that 17 year old Valery A. Lysikov is back to his home in the Soviet sector of Berlin, where he belongs, it is probable that American officials are re-considering this practice of giving political asylum to anyone who might ask for it in any circumstances.

Whatever the real reason for his temporary defection it had nothing to do with political or ideological likes and dislikes. And, anyhow, plain, old-fashioned, homesickness, that strong faithful ally of the mothers of adventurous boys the world over, did not fail to do its kindly work in this instance.

The privilege of political sanctuary is, of course, a democratic right not to be treated lightly or with levity. But, surely, when it comes to extending it to minors, need for thorough investigation and discretion is indicated, something which in this case seems to have been lacking.

EDITORIAL NOTES

This date, 1915, marked the opening of the second battle of Ypres in the First World War, which continued until May 25 and in which the first German gas attack was launched and successfully repelled, but with terrific losses, by the 1st Canadian Division.

Within a few years the dreaded disease of leprosy will have practically disappeared from French Equatorial Africa, it is believed by the French authorities. The long fight waged by the French Government and by individuals such as Dr. Albert Schweitzer at Lambarene has met with great success since the introduction in 1952 of sulfa drugs in the treatment of leprosy.

Monkey Hunting In India

By Eugene Levin, Associated Press, New Delhi

Monkey hunting has become one of India's fastest growing enterprises, supplying raw material for polio vaccine.

Two weeks ago it looked as if government action virtually banning simian exports, were heading toward bankruptcy after a relatively short period of prosperity.

Today their future appears brighter than ever. The government has relaxed its restrictions, and the Salk vaccine which is made with monkey kidneys has found a market.

During 1953, when some 1,600 monkeys were exported, dealers here paid jungle hunters about $1.25 a monkey. Last year—the first year Salk vaccine was extensively tested—monkey exports were valued at $40 million.

Dealers say they have not been able to pass all price increases to such consumers as the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, in the United States.

Many Indians whose Hindu religion considers monkeys sacred have always objected to the hunting. Reports that monkeys were being eaten during shipment led the Indian government to restrict exports.

Will the Indian monkey supply ever run out? Informed sources say not. India's monkey population is estimated variously at between 8,000,000 and 35,000,000.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Let us, then, have fluoridation for Alberta. Let the government announce the administrative machinery promptly so that the community in the province may be prepared to confer on its children the benefits of sound teeth and save its parents considerable money.

Medical Speaking: Herman N. Sudenes, M.D. CHRONIC BRONCHITIS IS COMMON IN ADULTS. Unlike bronchitis or acute bronchitis which usually runs its course in about two weeks, chronic bronchitis will only get worse if left untreated.

The Poet's Corner

OLD: Says the son of man, "I am old." Yet he knows there are older things: The lurking wolf of the wood; The windy, spumy wings; Of the sea-gull; and the sea-creatures, careful and cold.

Baby Talk

The latest remarks of the Minister of Immigration have incensed unusually many people, from the president of the Canadian Congress of Labor to the Toronto Globe and Mail from Mr. George Hees to Mr. Solon Low. It is hard to see why he should be taken so much more seriously than he deserves.

The Age Old Story

The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. His work is honorable and glorious; and his righteousness endureth for ever.

Many Parliamentarians Of Non-Canadian Origin

More than 11 per cent of the members of the House of Commons were born outside of Canada. The 1955 edition of the Canadian Parliamentary Guide, the "Who's Who" of Parliament Hill, shows that eight other countries were the birthplace of 32 of the 283 members of the House, which has two vacancies.

Two are Cabinet ministers—Trade Minister Howe, 69, and Fisheries Minister Sinclair, 46. The Liberal party has the most members not native to Canada. This compares with nine members of the CCF party, five of the Social Credit party, and two Progressive Conservative.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

K. L.: What causes bad breath within an hour after eating and a white coating on my tongue, and what could I do for this condition? My teeth are perfect.
