Statement By Mr. R. R. Bell

Mr. R.R. Bell, Progressive Conservative leader in this Province, issued the following statement last night:

"Today's by-election was brought on by our Provincial Government as a test of strength. In view of the result of June 10 and the landslide victory of Mr. Myers today, in a former Liberal district, to my mind our local government should now resign."

"It would be unfortunate for this Province to continue to be governed by a party who are adverse to the policies of Prime Minister Diefenbaker. It is essential to our economy that we join in the many benefits offered by the Federal Conservative Government and we may very well be seriously prejudiced by having a governing body in Prince Edward Island openly adverse to our present Federal Government."

Ontario Warned Of New Storms

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's storm-mauled southern counties, dotted with smashed barns and uprooted trees, were warned Thursday in the midst of the cleanup to brace for a new onslaught by gales and rain.

A special weather office advisory said the district south of a line between Georgian Bay and Kingston could expect another dose of the natural violence which Wednesday night a deadly Thursday cut a swath of destruction from Lake Huron in the west to Lindsay in the east.

The deaths of at least two persons—both boys—were attributed to the hurricane-force winds and sheeting rain that tore through power and communication lines, toppled trees onto highway and parked cars and shattered barns. Three other persons were injured, one of them critically.

Moscow Fires 3; Sinister Note Heard

LONDON (AP)—The Kremlin Thursday fired V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich from their high government posts. Polish sources reported all three were under house arrest in Moscow.

The disgraced trio and Dmitri Shepilov, former Soviet foreign minister were previously expelled from their top posts in the Communist party. Shepilov, who holds no government position, was not mentioned in Thursday's announcement and Polish sources said he is not under house detention.

Moscow radio continued to call the official announcement of the dismissal of Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich from government jobs, injected a sinister note into its reporting of the events. A commentator said history has shown that the "sternest possible punishment" is the correct way to deal with party deviations.

Moscow radio continued to call the deposed men "comrades", however, indicating that they are still members of the party, although stripped of government and party responsibility.

Molotov, 67, was first deputy premier and minister of state control. Malenkov, 55, was a first deputy premier and minister of electric power stations.

Nothing has come from the mainland to bolster speculation that the Soviet move would be followed in Peiping by similar party or among the "rightists" who have questioned Red rule.

The ideological ties which knit the two vast Communist countries are reported to have been subjected to great strain during the last years of Stalin's rule. The late dictator imposed harsh conditions on economic aid.

The regime of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has since attempted to heal this wound to Chinese sensibilities, but whatever differences divide the two countries are regarded as mostly economic in nature.
