Bear For Busby Hunt Will Not Be Slaughter

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leo Del Villano of Timmins said Saturday a black bear hunt he is organizing to provide bearskins for Buckingham Palace guardsmen will not amount to a slaughter of the animals.

The mayor, here on a business trip, said plans for the hunt have been approved by the humane society and the department of lands and forests. "It will be strictly a sporting event."

Mayor Del Villano offered to supply bearskins for the guards regiment after reading a news item last month which reported the guardsmen were short of skins to refurnish their worn busbys—the tall black hats which distinguish their dress uniforms.

A later London report said 6,000 bearskins would be needed. This touched off a flood of letters to the Timmins mayor protesting such a "wanton slaughter."

An editorial in The Times of London Friday said the idea of the British Army accepting a gift involving slaughter that would not otherwise take place is "not pretty," the Times also wondered if the mass hunt was really necessary.

"We never at any time said we were going to kill 6,000 bears and the guards haven't asked us to," the mayor explained. "They told us they have 3,000 hats and about 300 need replacement each year."

No goal has been set for the hunt which will take place when the snow leaves the Northern Ontario bush and the bears emerge from hibernation — probably in the early part of May.

The skins are at their prime in May and this usually lasts for two or three weeks. Only prime skins are suitable and it takes a whole bearskin for each hat.

An organized force of about 60 men will take part in the Timmins hunt. Other groups at Cochrane, New Liskeard, Kirkland Lake and North Bay have offered to stage hunts in their areas.

Plans for shipping the skins to London are still incomplete. They will be shipped raw, if possible, to let the guards handle the tanning expense which runs about $15 a skin.

The mayor said officials of Ontario House in London have offered to help arrange the shipping to eliminate import duty and red tape. But if it becomes necessary to have the skins tanned before shipment he does not know where the financing will come from.

It's possible some revenue might be obtained from the $10 bear bounty. But this only applies in agricultural townships and it's expected most of the animals will be shot outside these townships.
