

Russia's Public Hangman.

[From the London Telegraph.]

There is but one State executioner in the vast Russian realm, and he is a pardoned malefactor named Froloff, who, in the good old pre-Nihilist days, when the abolition of capital punishment was still maintained in Muscovy, committed three successive murders, and was condemned to penal servitude for life. When, however, revolutionary successes rendered the services of an imperial hangman indispensable to the Ministry of Justice, Froloff volunteered for the office on condition that an amnesty for the past misdeeds should be granted to him. His offer was accepted, and for some time past he has been a busy man. For every 'function' he receives forty silver roubles—about six pounds—from the Russian Exchequer; but that official fee by no means represents the total emolument he derives from the practice of his gruesome handicraft, for he is permitted to trade upon the superstitions still current in Russian society respecting the luck conferred upon gamblers by the possession of a morsel of the rope with which a human being had been strangled, either by the hand of justice or by his own. Immediately after young Miedelsky had been hanged, only the other day, Froloff was surrounded by members of the Russian jeunes d'oree, eager to purchase scraps of the fatal noose; and he disposed of several dozen such talismans at from 3 to 5 roubles apiece, observing, with cynical complacency, when he had sold off his last remnant, that he hoped the Nihilists would yet bring him in plenty of money. There is, indeed, every prospect, if the Melikoff regime only last long enough, that Froloff will speedily become a wealthy man.

The Family Rudder.

A Comstocker, who was having his hair cut yesterday afternoon, gave the barber particular instructions not to remove a long lock that projected in a somewhat unsightly way from the front of his head.

'It don't become you,' said the barber. 'Can't help that,' said the customer. 'Better let me take it off,' said the barber.

'Just you leave it as it is,' said the man.

'But,' persisted the barber, 'I can't give you a smooth cut if I leave the hair so long in front. I can't see what you want it there for?'

'That's because you don't know what it is—you don't know the use of it.'

'I know it's a bunch of hair, and that it's unbecoming where it is.'

'Yes, it is a bunch of hair, and it is something more than a bunch of hair—it's the family rudder.'

'The family what?'

'The family rudder. When things don't go right at home, my wife always grabs that lock of hair. She would be lost without it. When she can get hold of that, she can handle me—steer me in the right course, so to speak—and when I go in the right course, the whole family go in the right course and all is well. I've got used to it now and don't mind it. Should I loose my hair and become bald, or should you give me a fighting cut all over, there would be no way of steering me; I should become unmanageable, and sooner or later a total wreck. No, sir, don't you disturb the family rudder.'

POWNAI NURSERY!

Trees, Seeds and Plants.

PERSONS who cultivate the soil soon find out that it pays them to get the best Seeds, Trees and Plants. Now, many who sell and some who buy know nothing about the conditions upon which they grow. Some seed are nearly useless after the first year; others, again, whose vitality is strong, are good, if properly kept, for many years. As we have been in the Nursery Seed and Market Garden business we think we know something about the nature of Seeds, and would not knowingly sell to another what we would not use in our own Garden. Our increasingly large yearly sales seem to point to the fact that our Seeds, &c., are giving satisfaction. Our mailing accommodations are so good that we can send 4 lbs. or less of seeds in one parcel to any Post Office for one cent per four oz., thus bringing our Seeds to your own Post Office, Trees, Shrubs and Plants as usual. Our card is on all packages of seeds sold by us; this may prevent imposition. Our stock is for sale in the MARKET HOUSE, Charlottetown, and at POWNAI. Send for Price List. JAMES J. GAY.

FOR ELEVEN YEARS,
