Potato Marketing Scheme Presented To Government

Producer Controlled Unit Is Aim

ARCHDEACON

Rev. Canon J.T. Ibbott, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Charlottetown, has been appointed Venerable Archdeacon for P.E.I. The announcement was made in Halifax last night. (Story on page 5)

Establishment of a Potato Marketing Board with virtual control in the hands of the producers is proposed in a plan for potato regulation presented to the Provincial Government yesterday by members of the Potato Producers Association.

The proposed board would consist of 9 members, three from each county, with six of the members being growers of more than two acres of potatoes. The other three members, one from each county, would be potato dealers.

PLEBISCITE SEEN
The plan also envisages a plebiscite before it becomes operative with approval of it being given by 60 percent of those voting.

Announced purpose of the plan is "to encourage the production and marketing of high quality potatoes; to curtail the spread or development of serious potato diseases; to eliminate unethical practices and to prevent unnecessary costs in the marketing of potatoes; to investigate and develop markets for Prince Edward Island potatoes; and to improve transportation and other market facilities."

Presenting the plan on behalf of the Potato Producers Association were Colin MacPhail, Meadowbank; George Howatt, French River; Neil Bradshaw, Seartown; and Fred Aitken, Fortune Bridge.

SIX PRODUCERS

Their proposal calls for appointment by the government of the original members of the board with the six producer members to be chosen from persons nominated by the Potato Producers Association and the dealer members to be named from those nominated by the P.E.I. Potato Dealers Association.

Powers to be conferred on the board under the proposed plan would include that of requiring all persons engaged in marketing potatoes to be licensed by the board; registration of names and addresses of those producing or marketing potatoes; imposing a service charge on a per unit basis. ## Residence Discussed

The new Prince of Wales College residence will accommodate 100 girls and provide space for a cafeteria that can be used by any student attending the college. Dr. L.G. Dewar, minister of education told this paper last night.

Dr. Dewar said that a total of $300,000 is available for the building which will cost an estimated $350,000.

The money available is from the Canada Council and an accumulation of the money from federal grants to universities.

Plans will be discussed at a government meeting next week when it is hoped that a final decision can be reached.

Park Highway Contract Let

A contract for $337,280 has been awarded by the department of public works to Curran and Briggs Limited, of Summerside, P.E.I., for paving in Prince Edward Island National Park. The announcement was made today by Hon. Angus MacLean, Minister of Fisheries, and Heath Macquarrie, M.P.

The Department's advertising for public tenders. Four bids were received on the project. Specified completion date is June 30, 1960.

Work under this contract consists of placing a three-inch bituminous concrete pavement from Dalvay to Brackley Point Road, approximately eight miles on the Gulf Shore Road in Prince Edward Island National Park.

Plans and specifications were prepared by the highways division, development engineering branch, department of public works, and the project will be under the supervision of the department's supervising engineer at Charlottetown, H.A. Nasson.

assessments was one of the main planks of the Progressive Conservative platform during the recent provincial election. Under the School Act payment of salaries of teachers is provided for in part from the provincial treasury and part from district assessments. Before this system can be legally changed the act must be amended by the legislature.

School trustees have been notified of this effect by the department of education. Payment of supplements to teachers has been a custom of many years standing and has brought frequent complaints from the school districts. Many of them felt that the poorer districts were compelled to compete with wealthier areas and as a result because of inability to offer high supplements were unable to obtain better class teachers.

A financial survey of education in Prince Edward Island is in the process of being carried out and is expected to serve as a guide for the government in making legislative changes in The School Act.

Manhunt Is Launched For Two Jail-Breakers

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
Two prisoners sawed their way through the bars of Prince County Jail last evening and became the object of an intensive manhunt by Summerside police and members of the RCMP.

William Wendell Larkin of Charlottetown, and Willard Finnan of Summerside, were missing when Jailor Herbert Murphy made his 9 p.m. inspection and lock-up for the night.

Larkin was scheduled to stand trial next Tuesday on charges of breaking, entering and theft from two Kensington stores.

Finnan was serving 30 days on a drunk charge following his arrest after questioning in connection with an alleged assault Monday evening of this week against a seven-year-old Summerside girl.

Police indicated yesterday morning that Finnan would be charged in connection with the alleged assault.

During a visit to the cell block about 8 p.m. Jailor Murphy observed both Larkin and Finnan playing cards together, and when he returned at 9 p.m. to lock the prisoners in their cells for the night he noticed that their cell door was closed, the light was out, and a radio in the cell was playing, with all appearances that the men had gone to bed for the night.

CRASH TO FREEDOM
In checking closer with his flashlight, however, he found that the two cell-mates were not in their cell, and a quick check of the windows revealed that a square patch had been cut from the metal screening and that a thick iron bar had been neatly removed by sawing top and bottom. LONDON (AP)—Two Scottish doctors reported Thursday they have hypnotized warts off nine persons.

The experiment was described in the Lancet, a medical magazine, by Dr. A. H. C. Sinclair-Gieben of Aberdeen University and Dr. Derek Chalmers of the Aberdeen Royal Infirmary. Ten patients were placed under hypnosis and told the warts on one side of the body—the worst affected—would soon disappear. Nothing was said about the warts on the other side.

Coal Commission Scope Is Decided

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The federal cabinet Thursday decided on the scope of a proposed royal commission on coal but did not settle the question of commission personnel.

The royal commission is being set up primarily to recommend ways of propping up the distressed Nova Scotia coal industry, but also will inquire into problems of the hard-pressed Western industry.

Establishment of the royal commission was forecast by the federal government in July, and it was understood Thursday that the announcement of its setup is being delayed by inability to get personnel considered suitable to all parties.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has indicated it will be a one-man commission, in the interests of getting a fast job by a competent man in the light of the emergency situation in Nova Scotia. This has turned out to be a bigger order than expected.

The federal government has to satisfy not only itself on the choice, but the Nova Scotia government, labor and management. Several names are before the cabinet, it was understood, but none has been settled on finally.

The choice could be made before a federal-provincial emergency conference at Halifax Oct. 9 on the situation, which has reached a crucial stage in recent weeks with indications that Dominion Coal Company may soon be pushed out of some of the vital Quebec market through inroads by natural gas.

Meanwhile, informants said the cabinet decided Thursday that the terms of reference of the royal commission will be generally these:

1. Investigation of markets for Canadian coal.
2. Cost of production of coal.
3. How production costs and distribution costs of coal can be reduced.
4. What, in general terms, can governments do to support the coal industry.
5. A wide-ranging authority to look into any further means of helping the industry.

'CONFIDENCE...FAITH'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Thursday night urged the chartered banks to give the smaller borrowers a better break.

Speaking over the CBC's televised Nation's Business program, he urged the banks to arrange the outstanding loans so that large borrowers will receive less and small borrowers more.

He said this is a time for confidence and faith. The government was exploring all avenues to ensure a proper distribution of credit.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his speech was in reply to "criticisms" of the effects of current monetary policy. The Bank of Canada has been holding the lid on the money supply to prevent inflation, and the chartered banks have said that as a result they are forced to ration loans.

The prime minister said the government is trying to arrive at a proper solution of the current credit situation.

Huge New Lending Agency May Aid Poorer Countries

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (CP)—The World Bank, overcoming some apprehension, Thursday ordered initial foundations for what might become a huge new lending agency to help the poorer countries with long-term, easy-repayment loans.

Acknowledging that the world is short of capital, the 68-country International Bank for Reconstruction—commonly known as the World Bank—swiftly gave approval to hammering out a draft charter for setting up the $1,000,000,000 International Development Association, proposed by the United States.

Canada and some other countries said they want to have a close look at the draft charter before they actually sign up, but once the charter is approved by member countries, the association would begin operating as a World Bank affiliate. This could take place next year.

SECOND CHANCE
With this new organization, a country which is unable to get a loan from the $18,000,000,000 World Bank for certain works such as schools or hospitals, might be able to obtain the funds from the association, getting a lot of time to repay the loan.

And if the U.S. proposal is accepted, a borrower might be able to repay the loan in local currencies instead of dollars. In some cases it would mean helping the borrower's exports of goods and services, for that would be one way of keeping the recouped capital moving from one country to another.

TUBERCULOSIS CONTROL

Apathy And Complacency Said Dangerous Enemies

Public apathy and complacency were the two most dangerous enemies facing all workers in the field of tuberculosis control today, Dr. C.W.L. Jeanes, executive assistant of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association said in Charlottetown yesterday.

Guest speaker at a Charlottetown Hotel luncheon held in connection with the annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island Tuberculosis League, Dr. Jeanes was introduced by the provincial minister of health, Dr. O.H. Curtis and thanked by the League's vice-president, Dr. George Fisher.

Morton Dew, president of the Island League presided at the luncheon and the annual business meeting which followed.

AT HEAD TABLE
In addition to the president, the guest speaker, Dr. Curtis and Dr. Fisher, head table guests at the luncheon included Premier Walter R. Shaw, Acting Mayor James Haslam, Education Minister Dr. L.G. Dewar, Everett MacFarlane, treasurer of the P.E.I. League and J. Elmer Murphy, Rev. T.H.B. Somers, and Dr. F.A. MacMillan, all members of the League executive.

Dr. Jeanes agreed that a tremendous amount of work had been accomplished in TB detection and control in the past 60 years but warned that considerable more remained to be done.

He pointed out that there were still 50,000 cases of tuberculosis under treatment in Canada and that, of the 11,900 new admissions to treatment centres in 1958, 3,600 were re-admissions, some for the third time.

Though the past 10 years had seen great progress in the fields of detection and cure, TB was still a great challenge and the world's most communicable disease, Dr. Jeanes stated.

Tanker Blaze Kills Sailor

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—A crew member was burned to death and six others badly injured in a fire Thursday on the 10,499-ton Norwegian tanker Gimle.

Erik Arneud, a Norwegian mechanic, died when he was trapped in the engine room during the blaze which followed a violent explosion.

The tanker was due to leave for Las Palmas, Canary Islands, late Thursday with a cargo of oil. Cause of the blast is not known.

Expansion Of Tourism Sparked By Campers

The tourist industry in this province has reached such proportions that National Parks officials are adopting a program of continued expansion for years ahead, it was learned last night from interviews with three leading tourist authorities.

Campers, who up until five years ago were relatively few, have apparently sparked the drive. There were four thousand more of these tourists this year than in 1958 and in the past five years, the number of campers visiting the province has reached the 16,000 mark, an all time high this year.

INCREASE IS 20,000
In all, an estimated 20,000 more tourists visited P.E.I. this season than last and tourist spending is estimated to be up $1,000,000 over 1958, tourist spokesman said.

This year has been described as an excellent one for the tourist industry which is considered to be third only to agriculture and fishing in the province.

One unusual thing that happened this season was that twice as many visitors came to the province from Quebec and Ontario this year compared to 1958.

The province had a wide variety of visitors this season. They represented every province in Canada, all 50 states of the union and four foreign countries.

In an effort to keep pace with the influx of visitors and provide attractions for them, further developments were made at Lord Selkirk Park at Eldon at Strathgarny and two new campsites were opened, one at Brudenell and another at Linkletter Shore.

A new drive-in theatre was opened at Brackley and some 50 motel units were added by tourist operators L. Col. E.W. Johnson of Burlington officially opened "Woodleigh" to the general public and some 20,000 visitors called there this year to see his miniature castles that have become famous all over Canada.
