

Island Herd Places High

The Ayrshire herd of W.A. Moise and Son, Kennington RR, often producers of Canadian class leaders, qualified for eighth place in Canada for production among herds with six to 15 cattle on record of performance testing (ROP) for the period March 1, 1964, to February 28, 1965.

The estate of G.L. Boswall was also limited though the Frenchford herd finished low in the list. The average production was 8,939 pounds milk, 362 pounds butterfat for BCAs of 114 milk, 112 butterfat.

The production for the Moise herd was an average of 10,754 pounds milk, 443 pounds butterfat. This is a breed class average — a comparison with Ayrshire herds across Canada — of 140 percent in both milk and butterfat.

A MacRae and sons, Sherwood, had an average production per cow of 8,884 pounds milk, 393 pounds butterfat for BCAs of 115 in milk, 124 in butterfat. They are in the division for herds with 16 to 25 cows on ROP.

The Experimental Farm herd here had an average of 9,957 pounds milk, 435 pounds butterfat for BCAs of 123 and 130 in the division for herds having 26 to 40 cows on ROP.

The herd of Col. F.I. Andrew, Charlottetown, had average production of 8,706 pounds milk, 373 pounds butterfat for BCAs of 111 milk, 115 fat in the same division.

Exhibition By Tony Tascona Opens Sept. 8 At Art Gallery

A one-man show by Tony Tascona opens Wednesday, Sept. 8, at the Confederation Centre art gallery.

Two N.B. Residents Fined In S'ide Fisheries Cases

SUMMERSIDE — Frances Landry of St. Thomas, N.B., was fined $200 and costs or three months on a charge of resisting and willfully obstructing Fisheries Officer W.I. Rix by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald in Prince County Court here yesterday.

The accused was also given a fine of $10 and costs or 10 days on a charge of possession of five undersized lobsters.

Another New Brunswick resident, Eric Alfred Cormier, of Cormierville, was fined $100 and costs or two months on a charge of throwing over the side part of his vessel's cargo at West Point when signalled "cometo" by a government boat.

The accused reportedly emptied two pails and a crate of lobsters over the side before fisheries officers got on board. Magistrate MacDonald said that he was very much against the idea of new-Brunswick fishermen coming to this province and taking small lobsters as Island fishermen find it difficult enough at times to make a living. The magistrate ordered the 42-foot fishing boat owned by the accused to be confiscated to the Crown.

The case of John Joseph Morrison of Summerside charged with illegally selling liquor, was adjourned to Sept. 23 for decision. Testifying for the Crown were Cst. Edward Siechly and Cst. Miles E. Foster, both of Charlottetown RCMP, and Cst. Eric Bishop and Cpl. H.V. Cameron, both of the Summerside detachment. John Morrison gave evidence in his own defense. Allison Gillis acted for the accused and George McMahon represented the Crown.

Two Vehicles Are Damaged In Collision

MONTAGUE — an accident on Main Street yesterday morning about 10 o'clock resulted in considerable damage to a car driven by Arthur O'Connor and a truck driven by Irving Stewart.

The accident occurred on the hill in front of Stewart and Beck when the car was attempting to move onto the travel position of the street. The truck was traveling in the same direction from the bridge. Both drivers were alone at the time and neither were injured.

Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $200.00.

nada and the United States. His works have been purchased by the National Gallery of Canada; the Art Gallery of Toronto; London Ontario Museum and Library; the Winnipeg Art Gallery; the University of Manitoba Architects Building; I. D. International, London, England; Canadian Industries Limited, Montreal; and other galleries and business firms. His works are to be found also in numerous private collections.

Commenting on the exhibition Confederation Art Gallery Director, Moncrieff Williamson, declared "When I visited Mr. Tascona's studio in Winnipeg earlier this year I felt that we could not do better than open our 65-66 season with a one-man show by this stimulating artist. Early in the New Year we will follow this up with a group showing of works by three of the young Winnipeg artists, Frank Mikuska, Bruce Head, and Edith Warkow. With artists like Tascona, Canada can hold her place on the International scene."

THREE OTHERS CHARGED — The three other Summerside taxi drivers charged with a similar offense also had their cases adjourned to that date. The three are: Allison C. Mills, Louise Joseph Gallant, and Donald Joseph Gallant.

Two accused were charged with impaired driving. They were: John Eric Mack of RCAF Station Summerside and Edmund Joseph Perry. Both pleaded not guilty. The former, who is represented by Alex Campbell, had his case adjourned to Oct. 5 and the latter, represented by Bernard St. Clair McCabe had his adjourned to Sept. 21.

Two accused were fined for driving without due care and attention. John MacCaulay, W.D. son of Trvon was fined $20 and costs or 10 days and Lea Bolder of Read's Corner was fined $10 and costs or five days.

A Wellington resident, John Alfred Ernest Arsenault, was charged with break and entry with intent to commit an indictable offense. His case was adjourned to Sept. 9 to enable him to obtain counsel.

Glen Seymour Biggar of Summerside was fined $10 and costs on a charge of allowing a person who was not the holder of a driver's license to drive.

A Baltic resident, James William Crawford, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while his licence was suspended. His case was adjourned to Sept. 14. He was represented by Melville Campbell.

Three accused were each fined $20 and costs or 30 days on charges of illegal possession of liquor.

One accused was given a similar fine on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place.

A warning was given to an accused who was charged with driving when on the highway when one of the tires on his vehicle was flat. The accused in question drove almost two miles with a flat tire, causing a gouche measuring approximately in the highway.

Travel In Canada Is Claimed Contribution To Solidarity

TORONTO (Special) — Domestic travel by Canadians can contribute much to Canadian solidarity, representatives of the transportation and communication industries were told here.

Pierre Delagrave, vice president, passenger sales and services, Canadian National Railways, and immediate past president of the Canadian Tourist Association, addressing the Canadian National Exhibition director's luncheon, said "Canadians owe it to themselves and the world to get to know each other."

When they do, he said, "they will not voluntarily aggravate problems which can be solved by a combination of good will, common sense and necessity."

But to a knowledge of things Canadian must be added feeling — emotion — and "travel is the best, perhaps the only way to get this feeling in its best and purest form."

Mr. Delagrave said Canadians should get into a habit of viewing their problems in a broad perspective.

"For instance, some Canadians today are being faced with the problem of having to learn the French or the English language in order to get along in their jobs or businesses, or their professional or political life. This can be a hardship. But would it not help to reflect that these are the two most useful languages in the world? The opportunity of acquiring a mastery of one and at least a good understanding of the other is something for which we are entitled to emotions."

Mr. Delagrave suggested that the French-Canadian is forcing other Canadians into constructive self-examination and into hard, mature thinking about what kind of people they want to be and what role they want to play in North America and the world.

"And it seems to me that the hard thinking of mature Canadians of any racial or religious background, honestly interested in the survival of Canada as one country, is to want to be Canadian and nothing else."

"As a result," he said, "it appears logical that Canada should continue to shape her political and cultural institutions so as to assist the French-Canadian. For by helping the French-Canadian preserve his identity we strengthen the basis of Canadian independence."

Details Of New Stamps Given

Hon. Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General, yesterday released details of two new commemorative postage stamps which will be issued by the post office (department) Sept. 8.

One stamp marks the centennial of the selection of Ottawa as Canada's capital. It portrays the first Parliament Buildings which were completed in October, 1857. The 14,000,000 copies of this large stamp, designed by renowned artist Gerald Trotter of Ottawa, are printed in brown.

The other stamp honors the September meeting in Canada's capital of 75 member nations of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, a world-wide organization that promotes personal contacts between parliamentarians of all nations and encourages the development of democratic institutions.
