The Indian Vote.

In proposing that civilized Indians who do business and own property shall have the right to vote, Sir John Macdonald acted according to the instincts of a true and liberal statesman.

law discourages the assimilation of the whites and the Indians, and the solution of the Indian problem can only be found in wiping out the distinction which exists between the races, in giving the red man all the liberties and rights enjoyed by the white man, and entailing on him all the responsibilities, which attach to those rights and privileges.

Yet, with these fine words of his spread upon the pages of Hansard, Mr. Patterson is now "acting with his Party."

Hypocrisy, thy name is Grit. We deeply regret—we feel sure that his constituents will deeply regret—to hear that Mr. L. H. Davies is one of the leading spirits in this detestable work of obstruction, and that he is displaying even more truculence and inconsistency than other Grits.

The Brown Block.

OPENING TWO NEW DRY GOODS STORES.

The Brown, Cameron and Newson Blocks, recently completed on the South Side of Queen Square, have owing to their architectural beauty, been the cause of much favorable comment.

A representative of THE EXAMINER yesterday visited the store of W. A. Weeks & Co. and was "shown through."

"I am fully persuaded that the true interests of the aborigines of the State alike, require that every effort should be made to aid the red man in lifting himself out of his condition of tutelage and dependence, and that it is clearly our wisdom and our duty, through education and every other means, to prepare him for a higher civilization by encouraging him to assume the privileges and responsibilities of full citizenship."

This was the language of the Liberal Party then. But now they are doing everything in their power to keep the Indian from the exercise of the responsibilities and rights of citizens.

In 1880—when the Indian laws were being consolidated—Mr. Casey, a leading Grit, complained that Indians were not allowed to vote under the law, and said:

"I think Indians who are equal to whites in intelligence, who are superior to many whites in wealth, and who are full grown citizens of the Dominion, should not be placed on a worse condition than the negro."

Yet, Mr. Casey is now one of the very men who are fighting to the death the clause of the new Franchise Bill which provides that certain Indians may vote at elections!

Mr. Patterson, in 1880, said:—"Then the bill does not provide for the enfranchisement of the Indians, for according to them the rights, opportunities and privileges of citizens is, I think, the only solution of the Indian question, more especially the only solution which affects the more advanced tribes, on whose behalf and with respect to whose circumstances I am more particularly acquainted."

STANLEY BROTHERS. The new firm of Stanley Brothers commenced their dry goods business on the 4th inst., under most favorable auspices. They have been fortunate in securing a neat, attractive and well fitted store for the business they intend to pursue, and if we may judge from the constant rush of customers, to and from their premises, they will, without doubt, be successful. The store is situated in the centre of the Brown Block. It is well lighted with heavy plate glass show windows in front, and smaller windows in rear, giving every advantage to customers selecting. Its shelves and counters are of neat design, well arranged, and tastefully painted, and the whole interior view of the store is pleasant and agreeable.

The opening of the above stores complete the occupation of the Brown Block. The other occupants being: G. Herbert Hazard, bookstore. Merchant's Bank of Halifax. McLean & Martin's Law Office. Mr. A. S. Urquhart, Insurance Office. McLeod Morson & McQuarrie's Law Office. Geo. Tweedy, Esq., Law Office. Mr. Geo. Gardiner, Printing Office. Mr. L. B. Miller, Commercial College. The block is highly creditable to the owner, Mr. J. G. H. Brown, and the builders.

Imperial Fire Insurance Company.

The accounts for the past year show a total premium income of £792,160 against £791,128, in 1883. The claims were £502,758, and the expenses £245,152, so that the trading profit amounted to £44,250, which added to £61,262 received as interest, makes an aggregate of £115,512. The percentage of losses was 63.47 against 61.69 per cent in 1883, and the percentage of expenses 30.95 per cent, against 28.71 per cent.

The Imperial, which is represented by Fenton T. Newbery, Esq., and is deservedly popular, is the second oldest agency on the Island.

The Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

One of the pioneer Fire companies in the United States makes a good showing for 1884, notwithstanding the disastrous losses in this continent during the year. It has increased its assets to $4,491,830, and shows a net surplus to policy holders of $2,479,402. Its stock is quoted at 260 (bid) to 270 (asked). This shows the estimation the Company is held in by capitalists. The Hartford began issuing policies in 1794, and was organized as a stock company in 1810, since which time it has steadily grown in favor, and now it enjoys an unrivalled reputation throughout the Union. It was the pioneer in the agency system of transacting fire business, and stands in the front ranks of the agency companies to-day. Fenton T. Newbery, Esq. is the agent of the Company for P. E. Island.

Supreme Court.

THURSDAY, May 7.

Executors of Walker's estate vs. Joseph McDonald—The Court was engaged yesterday hearing an argument for a nonsuit in this case. At the trial, a verdict was found for the plaintiff, with leave reserved for the defendant to move for a nonsuit. The Court this morning gave judgment, setting aside the verdict and ordering a nonsuit.—McLean for plaintiff; Hodgson, Q. C., for defendant.

Lutz vs. Dudgey—By consent the verdict in this suit was reduced.—McLean for plaintiff; Peters for defendant.

This last case closed the docket and the Court then adjourned.

Emperor Dom Pedro, of Brazil, has reigned for fifty-three years, or longer than any other living sovereign. He was but six years old when he ascended the throne, and he could hardly get up.

CORRECTION.—In "A Riddle by Retzgab" in yesterday's issue, for use read moe, and for the "d" in line 12 read "a." We regret that several typographical errors appeared in Mr. Gardiner's letter of "the battle of the stallions"—as published in THE DAILY EXAMINER. THE WEEKLY EXAMINER will contain the letter corrected.

FIREMAN Cantwell, who was so severely injured by the train in Souris on Tuesday last, and who is now in the Charlottetown Hospital, is to-day, we are pleased to learn, feeling fairly comfortable, and not suffering any great prostration considering the severe nature of his injuries. It is pleasing to learn that the poor fellow has survived, at least, the first effects of the accident, and that there are some prospects of his ultimate recovery.

COL. FREELAND'S property, at Brighton was sold as advertised, yesterday, by A. McNeill, Auctioneer. The dwelling house and premises with thirteen and one-half acres of land adjoining, was bought by Mr. Maurice Blake for the sum of $1,560. The remainder of the land—thirteen acres—were sold in one acre lots, and realized in all $2,130, making a total of $3,690 for the whole property, exclusive of live stock, farm implements, &c., all of which sold at fair prices.

DROWNED.—On Sunday last a young man named Coffin, who has been living with Mr. Daniel Foster, of South Lake, East Point, attempted to cross the lake on a raft and was accidentally drowned. His body has not been recovered, though the lake has been dragged in search of it. His hat was found floating on the water near an oar that was sticking in the mud. It is thought that while in the act of pushing his raft the oar had stuck fast in the mud, and not letting go of it quick enough, had taken him overboard.
