NEW LOW PRICES on all ATLAS tires

Esso dealers sell many lines of Atlas tires. There's a quality Atlas tire for every type of driving and every budget.

The prices on all Atlas tires have now been substantially reduced, with no reduction in quality.

For instance, the "first line" Atlas Plycron, the Atlas tire equivalent to those installed on new cars, used to list at $24.35 (6:50 x 13, tubeless blackwall). The new suggested retail price is $18.40. In the same way, the "third line" Atlas Mile-Pak, the Atlas economy tire, used to list at $15.95 (6:70 x 15, tubed blackwall). The new suggested retail price is $12.95.

Atlas recognizes there are other tires on the market for $9.95 or less. They are called "fourth line" tires. And they are just that. The price reflects the quality. Atlas does not sell a fourth line tire because it has not found a fourth line tire that will meet Atlas standards of quality and performance.

The next time you're in the market for tires, see your Esso dealer first. Compare his Atlas quality. Compare his Atlas price. Compare his Esso-matic credit arrangements and his new Atlas guarantee. On any basis, you'll find his deal is "right with the times"—the top deal for you.

You'll find all ATLAS products at new low prices at Esso dealers everywhere

Sept. 17 Is Date Set For Bout

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston fight will be held Sept. 17 at Yankee Stadium or Sept. 26 at the Polo Grounds. Or maybe it will be held in Texas if a $1,000,000 offer is backed up by cash in the bank. Anyhow, September is the month.

Monday was to have been the day of decision on a site and date for Patterson's defence of his world heavyweight boxing title against his No. 1 challenger. Patterson, who is to call the shot under the terms of the contract, didn't show up at a luncheon meeting of the Boxing Writers Association of New York where an announcement had been expected.

Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., the promoters, told the writers about the probable dates in the two New York ball parks.

EXTEND DEADLINE

Julius November, Patterson's attorney, spoke about the $1,000,000 offer from a Texas group" during the weekend. He said all parties agreed to extend the deadline to Thursday noon in order to let the Texans put in writing, and put the money in a bank.

Bolan said he is "very confident that the fight will be held in New York." November didn't make any predictions.

The matter of getting a licence for Liston in New York state could be a decisive factor.

Bolan said Liston will file an application today.

"If a licence is not granted to Liston, we are prepared to move quickly to some other site, some of which already have licensed Liston," he said.

The actual contracts were signed March 16 with the site and date blank. Promoter Bolan said at that time the bout should gross $6,000,000 counting the live gate and the ancillary rights (movies, closed circuit TV, etc.). Patterson gets 55 per cent of the ancillary and 45 per cent of the live gate. Liston gets 12½ per cent of each and a $200,000 guarantee.

Kyle Rote Is Retiring

NEW YORK (AP) — Kyle Rote is retiring as an active player with New York Giants and taking over a job as offensive coach with the National Football League team.

The announcement was made Monday by Radio Station WNEW, which said Rote would continue as director of sports and community relations for the station under a new five-year contract.

EARL "Diver" Riggs, Charlottetown, proudly displays the three pound, four ounce trout he landed on opening day, Sunday April 15. "Diver" copped a first in the Evening Patriot contest conducted yesterday. His trout was judged the best and cleanest fish.

Fishing Contest Attracts Array Of Splendid Trout

A Parkdale man, Borden Myers Jr., had the largest trout submitted in yesterday's Evening Patriot fishing contest.

Myers had a four pound, one ounce giant that won with comparative ease.

Spencer Llewellyn, Fitzroy Street, Charlottetown, was runner - up to Myers in the heavyiest trout division. Llewellyn's entry was an even two pounds.

BEST—CLEANEST

Earl "Diver" Riggs, Charlottetown, was the winner in the best and cleanest trout class. Earl submitted a beauty which tipped the scales at 3 pounds, 5 ounces.

Another veteran angler, W.H. Beaton, was top man in the best-platter-of-three division.

Telleman Erkelens, better known to Charlottetown residents as "Dutchy", was first in the best catch of ten. Runner-up in this group was Jerry McCallum of Dunstaffnage, who reported his strike was made at Winter River.

A large crowd gathered around The Evening Patriot office to view the opening day catches. It looked like anything but trout fishing weather as heavy snow kept falling throughout the morning.

Anglers reported the opening day "not bad at all" as far as weather was concerned. All enthusiasts dressed warmly for the occasion and there was no "heefing" about the chilly wind.

Judges for this morning contest were Ralph Jenkins, Spurgeon Jenkins and Frank Acorn.

Gottselig Tells Of Hazards Of Announcing In Chicago

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP)—Broadcaster Johnny Gottselig jumped to his feet in the final seconds of a Montreal-Chicago Stanley Cup semi-final game this year. And as the victorious Hawks went to their dressing room, Johnny sat down—on the floor.

Some kook had snatched his chair and tossed it on the ice. The Hawks had won 5-3 and their fans were going crazy.

"That's one of the occupational hazards at games here," he said in an interview Monday in the stillness of Chicago Stadium where just hours before the Black Hawks had scuttled Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 in the third game of their best-of-seven cup final. Leafs had won the first two in Toronto.

"You know," Gottselig added, "I wouldn't be surprised if some night a body came tumbling down out of Ulcer Gulch.

Ulcer Gulch is an almost-unbelievable spot of real estate in the huge stadium. It is the top balcony, home of Chicago's most rabid, and ribald, hockey characters.

"I'll swear you can go anywhere in North America and you won't find anybody like them," the one-time great Hawk player added. "We can win 10 straight and then lose one and the ulcers of the inhabitants up there pop all over the place.

"They don't care how we win. We can rattle bodies off the boards or play it nice and gentlemanly-like. All they want is a win. We've gotta take every home game or those crazy guys get mad and throw things. And when we do win, they still throw things."

And throwing things is an art that Hawk supporters have developed to a fine degree. In all the years that Gottselig has been around here — 32 to be exact — he can't remember any player being seriously hurt as the result of missile tossers.

"Name it and they've thrown it," says the 56-year-old Chicago public relations director who also broadcasts playoff home games over a Chicago radio station. His broadcasting spot is at one end of the stadium press box, a place where there are about as many gate - crashers as legitimate reporters.

"They've pitched dead fish and live rabbits on the ice. Eggs, bomb firecrackers, vegetables, tinsel paper, live hamsters, ticker tape, bottles of ink, paper cups—full—of pop and beer, shots from the seats — anything they can get their hands on."

Gottselig, the only Russian-born player to hit the National Hockey League, joined Hawks in 1928 and stayed with them as a player until the 1944-45 season.

Rudy Pilous Has Nothing But Praise For Leaf Pilot

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP)—Rudy Pilous, the bushy-browed extrovert who coaches Chicago Black Hawks and who suffers the miseries when his club drops a game, Monday had nothing but praise for Punch Imlach, his counterpart with Toronto Maple Leafs

Rudy, of course, could afford to be generous. His Hawks had thrashed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 Sunday night in the third game of their best - of - seven Stanley Cup final series. That victory put them back in the running after dropping a pair in Toronto.

Pilous was in an expansive mood as he conducted a post-mortem in the Chicago Press Club.

"Punch," he said, "has done a helluva job with that team of his He hasn't made any mistakes in this series It's not his fault that his guys can't put the puck in the net"

Pilous conducted one of the many post-mortems that have been going on here since the Hawks clobbered the Leafs by the simple method of hitting, forechecking and skating

"Look," he said, "I've never told our guys not to hit anybody. We were just adjusting to the Toronto style of game. Our guys were tired after that six-game semi-final series against Montreal. But now we're getting our legs"

The success formula was the same one used by Leafs in the opening pair of games. It was slam, check, crowd and shoot. But Pilous still is cautious. He figures tonight's fourth game is the "big one."

"We've got to take that one because if we don't we can be in big trouble when the series shifts to foreign ice in Toronto on Thursday. I don't want to go into Toronto behind three-to-one in games."

And he had lots of praise for veteran defenceman Dollard St. Laurent who manhandled the Leafs Sunday night. "I wouldn't say that it was the best game he's ever played for me because he's played some really good ones. But I'll have to advise he was hitting pretty good."

The Hawks had a free day Monday and only a few Leafs went out to Chicago stadium for a skate.

A conversation piece here was an edict by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell to the effect that the public address announcer at the stadium must stick to the facts. Campbell won't tolerate announcer Bob Foster acting like a "cheer leader" to the many fans who inhabit the stadium.

For instance, no longer will he be able to announce goalkeeper Glenn Hall as "Mister Goalie." And no longer will he anticipate the details of the game.

Campbell apparently bristled in the final seconds of Sunday's game when Foster told the big crowd that "Mister Goalie has done it again." He was referring to the shutout which, at that point, was fairly obvious.

"The public address system is part of the game, and the announcer, in effect, is a game official," Campbell said. "He must act impartially at all times. To act like a cheer leader is completely wrong. The public address system can be an obvious public menace if it isn't handled properly."

Bucs Nip Cubs 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roberto Clemente's three-run homer and the tight relief pitching of Lefty Diomedes Olivo, 42-year-old rookie, sent the unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-5 victory over the winless Chicago Cubs Monday.

The Pirates stretched their winning streak to five games and left the Cubs with six defeats, five of them to left-handed hurlers.

Three other National League games were scheduled Monday night—Los Angeles at San Francisco, St. Louis at Philadelphia and Milwaukee at Cincinnati. A scheduled Houston at New York game was postponed because of cold weather and there were no games scheduled in the American League.

Olivo, a lanky pitcher from the Dominican Republic who had an 11-7 record for Columbus of the International League last year, collected the victory with his stint from the fourth into the eighth inning. He was nicked for four hits, and one run, struck out three and walked one.

After the Cubs had taken a 4 - 1 lead, Clemente's second homer of the season was the big blow in a four-run fifth that shelled starter Glen Hobbie. Singles by Bill Virdon, Bob Skinner and Dick Groat produced one run before Clemente unloaded his three-run blast into the left field stands against the wind.

The Cubs tied it 5-5 in the sixth and the Pirates' decisive run came in the seventh. Dick Stuart walked, went to second when Clemente grounded out and took third on a passed ball. Don Hoak's hit to right drove Stuart home.

Lefty Bob Veale, 26-year-old rookie making his first major league start, lasted on 2 1-3 innings as the Cubs scored a pair of runs in the first and third.

Righthander Earl Francis took over from Veale and went two-thirds of an inning, being lifted for a pinch hitter, and Olivo took over. Elroy Face replaced him in the eighth.

Cleroux-Folley Battle Wed.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Canadian heavyweight champion Robert Cleroux looks on his Wednesday night bout against Zora Folley here as his big chance to move into title contention.

Right now the Canadian is ranked the No. 4 contender for Floyd Patterson's crown with Folley, of Chandler, Ariz., No. 3.

"This shapes up as a Cleroux tough fight," manager Al Bachman said Monday. "This is the big one. He'll really be a hero in Canada if he gets over this one."

Folley has switched his strategy in recent fights to go in punching rather than relying on his fine boxing ability. He knocked out British champion Henry Cooper and Mike Dejohn of Syracuse, N.Y., in his last two outings.

Cleroux and Bachman hope the Arizonan sticks to the new strategy.

BETTER THAN CHASING

"If a guy stands up and fights, it's better for Cleroux," Bachman explained for his French-speaking boxer. "He takes a good punch and it's better for him if a man stands in and fights rather than having to chase him. No matter which way Folley fights, Cleroux will be ready for him."

The two meet over the 10-round route at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium with promoter Bennie Ford envisioning a $25,000 gate.

SPORTS FRONT

Hawks Start Back

THINGS are picking up for Chicago Black Hawks and their supporters.

Mindful of occurences in the semi-finals with Montreal Canadiens, Chicago supporters are loudly proclaiming the same thing is underway in this final series with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Hawks dropped the first two to the Blakemen before rallying their forces and sweeping four in a row from the mighty Habs. On Tuesday and Thursday of last week they fell easy victims to Maple Leafs in the Toronto ice palace.

However Sunday night the Hawks did a real about-face. They outplayed the visiting Leafs by a wide margin and ran away with a 3-0 decision for their first triumph of the Stanley Cup finals. Hawks, outbumped in the first two games, whacked the Leafs solidly in this third contest and were richly deserving of this big decision.

TONIGHT Hawks' supporters are talking in terms of squaring the series at 2-2. One thing is sure and that is that if Hawks play the same brand of hockey they did on Sunday the teams will head back to Toronto all square.

By no stretch of the imagination could the most ardent Toronto fan claim any hard luck in this third game. Leafs didn't deserve any better fate. Indeed it was only sensational goaltending by veteran Johnny Bower that held the Hawks' total as low as it was.

The Sunday battle was a complete reversal of the form shown by the teams in Toronto. In the Queen City, Leafs outscored, outplayed and outbumped the Hawks. At Chicago on Sunday Hawks led in all three departments.

A 'Homer' Series?

SO far the series has been strictly a 'homer' one and of course Leafs and their followers will be mighty happy if it stays that way throughout.

How teams can look so great on home ice and so horrible in enemy territory is something that is really difficult to understand. But to date the pattern has been good performances before the home fans and mediocre showings while in the camp of the opposition.

TONIGHT Leafs will try to prove us wrong on this 'homer' angle. You can be sure that 'Punch' Imlach handed out anything but congratulations after the dismal showing on Sunday. Leafs will be trying desperately to deflate these Hawks who are by this time thinking along the very same lines as the Montreal series.

They're Smiling Again

YES, fellows like Kippy Morgan, Wendle Cudmore and Carman Smith are wearing broad grins today. Gone are those sad faces that were worn from Tuesday last until late Sunday night. This Chicago victory has changed everything for these gentlemen who are positive now the Hawk march is underway.

We don't think Leaf fans were too surprised at the loss but we have the suspicion they didn't expect to lose so convincingly. But these Leafs' supporters will answer back that Hawks looked just as bad in Toronto and yet were able to show great form on Sunday night.

Hawks, of course, are planning on winning this big one tonight and squaring the series. After that is done they are planning on going into Toronto and beating the Leafs before a stunned Maple Leaf crowd.

However, Leafs will have a bit to say in this line of strategy. Tonight they will be out to break the home ice pattern and go back to the friendly Gardens with a chance to close up shop on Thursday night.

One thing is sure and that is that somebody is bound to be disappointed.

Stupid Practice

CHICAGO players must be just as much annoyed with this practice of littering the ice as are their opponents.

It seems about the most foolhardy thing we ever saw and it slows up the game to no end. We have no objections to the home crowd rooting their heads off for their favorites but this childish practice is for the birds. When Horvath scored the final goal in the closing seconds—into an empty net—the same nonsense was continued.

It's difficult to figure out the mentality of some people.

Meeting Tonight

THE Queens County branch of the Prince Edward Island Fish and Game Association will hold a meeting tonight in the banquet room of the Charlottetown "Y" commencing at 8 o'clock.

Feature of this meeting will be a colored film on the house training of your pet dog as to obedience. They tell us it is a really worthwhile film and all dog owners should see it.

You can attend the meeting and be home in plenty of time for the hockey game from Chicago which gets underway at ten o'clock.

Sports Front extends deepest sympathy to Mrs. Ida Yeo, efficient clerk on the course at Charlottetown Driving Park on the death of her mother, Mrs. Aubrey White last Saturday.

Cup And Saucer Race To Be Filmed By USTA

Despite adverse weather conditions a good sized crowd turned out for Gold Cup and Saucer night at Prince of Wales College last night and were told by Frank 'Duck' Acorn that word was received Friday that the USTA would be filming this year's edition of the Gold Cup and Saucer feature.

"It's a long-time dream realized", Mr. Acorn noted in speaking of the filming of Old Home Week.

Several new features will be added to this event which has been developing surprisingly fast since its inauguration. The Cup and Saucer parade will be dressed up for the occasion with numerous floats from various centres on the Island along with 'name' bands from the mainland.

Earl Flora, public relations director for the USTA, and a top man in his field, will be in charge of the filming of this event, which will be done under lights. This will really bring our Old Home Week to the fore', said Mr. Acorn. The highlight of last night's program was the first Canadian showing of the 1961 Kentucky Futurity which was won by Duke Rodney with Stanley Dancer at the reins. Other films shown were the 1961 Hambletonian and Little Brown Jug along with the local film 'My Island Home.'

Mr. Acorn stated that an all-out effort is being made to have another showing of the 'Futurity' film later.

The Cup committee also announced last night that several more floats have been added to the rapidly growing number for this year's feature.

Casper Grabs Second Place In Winnings

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Bill Casper Jr. moved into second place in professional golfing's money - winning sweepstakes with his weekend victory in the Greensboro Open. But Arnold Palmer was still way ahead of the field.

Palmer, who won $1,600 for his fifth-place tie at Greensboro, N.C., topped the Professional Golfing Association's list of 10 leading money winners Monday with $37,008.

Casper, who picked up $5,300 for his second tournament victory, now stands at $22,068.
