

THE St. John Sun says the "Prince Edward" should come on the St. John and Liverpool route.

GREECE is reported to be "threatening to send her troops across the frontier if the claimed territory is not ceded within a certain time."

SARA BERNHARDT is now on the briny deep. She should not lack edifying conversation, for she has, with other fellow-passengers, "nine Sisters of Charity and six Priests."

THERE has lately been stormy times at the Magdalens, and altogether the season there has been a poor one. It is feared that, unless relief is afforded, there will be many cases of starvation.

TROUBLE is in the camp of the Bonapartists. Prince Victor Napoleon was, at a recent meeting, recognized as heir to the throne of France; and Prince Jerome still has adherents. So it has come to blows between the rival factions. But the chances of either claimant to the throne are not worth fighting about.

CANADA has commenced shipping to England "house wood work," and the English "Timber Trades Journal" is "glad to observe that our friends in the Dominion are making earnest efforts to successfully enter into competition with their neighbors in the States for supplying this market with joinery." To be found in the same journal is the advertisement of the "Canadian Timber Company," offering for sale Canada doors and Canada mouldings said to be manufactured in Canada by Scotch workmen from specifications prepared by an English contractor.

THE Telegraph, of St. John, the Patriot, of this city, and some other Opposition organs take comfort in the thought that the Government did not send the Agricultural delegates to the Maritime Provinces. But they forget that had it not been for the Government there would be no "Agricultural delegates" in any part of Canada. Without wishing to deprive the Governor General of the credit of advising the delegates to come to this part of the country—we have no doubt that His Excellency urged Professor Sheldon to visit the Maritime Provinces—we may remind the public that Professor Sheldon stated in the excellent speech he delivered here, that before he left England he determined upon paying this island a visit.

THE following shows the number and extent of failures in the Dominion of Canada during the first nine months of 1879 and 1880 respectively: In the first three quarters of 1879 there were 1484 failures, showing liabilities of $24,424,570, as against 779 failures with liabilities of $6,880,611 for the corresponding period of 1880. For the quarter ended Sept. 30th the failures in 1879 were 417, with liabilities amounting to $6,998,617, against 130 failures and liabilities of $1,219,673 in the same period of the present year. This shows a very gratifying improvement.—St. John Telegraph.

Still the Telegraph maintains that the National Policy is ruining the country.

In the States, the bright prospects of the Democrats have suddenly paled. The Republicans have brought the tariff question sharply to the front, and it appears that they have, by so doing, scored a good point. Protection is popular in the States; and, pressed for his views on this point, General Hancock has not dared to come out squarely for free trade, or even for reciprocity of trade. On the contrary, he has admitted that the protective policy "has been largely instrumental in building up our industries and keeping Americans from the competition of the under-paid labor of Europe." Now one plank of the National platform put forward by the Democratic party is free trade; and the free traders of the Republic belong to that party. Therefore this admission damages General Hancock in their eyes while it wins no support from the Republicans who are for a continuation of the present policy. So General Hancock has made a serious blunder; and its effects will be none the less disastrous when it is known that he acted with the advice of the "Democratic National Committee" for the management of the election. In their dilemma the Democrats may, of course, plead that General Garfield, the standard bearer of the Protectionists, is an honorary member of the Cobden Club. But the pointing out of this little inconsistency is not likely to do them any good. For Garfield, like Hancock, is known to be merely the puppet of his party. Personal principle seems to count for nothing in the politics in the Union.

"BRIGHT EYES," the daughter of an Omaha Indian chief, has recently been in New York relating the wrongs and grievances of the Indian tribes of the West. At a public meeting held in Dr. Sabine's church, Madison Avenue, she read extracts from government reports, giving statistics of the Indian tribes, and then went on to criticize the school system in operation on the outskirts of civilization in the West, and showed the necessity of improving it. The Bible, she said, has done much to civilize the red man. To make schools useful to him, however, he should be given liberty. Agents she described as petty tyrants, and she related several instances to illustrate how cruelly and with what injustice they rule. She told a story of an Indian who was driving a number of horses out of a stockade in which were also kept the horses belonging to the agency. A simple-minded horse belonging to some one else followed the Indian's horses out of the enclosure. The owner of the innocent animal was standing by looking on and he ordered the Indian to return it. The latter replied that the owner ought to attend to his own affairs. Complaint was made to the agent. The Indian was arrested and locked up; but finally he behaved so bravely that they refused to arrest him. After describing the attendance of the boys and girls at the schools, and calling attention to the meagre results derived from heavy outlays for teaching Indian children, Bright Eyes drew some touching pictures of life among the savages. "I never saw a man drunk until I came east," she said.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The entertainment this evening bids fair to be a success, both as regards the audience and the quality of the performance. Every endeavour has been made by the Lindley Theatrical Co. to produce the play "Engaged" in a first-class manner, and the music of the Orchestral Club is certain to be good. Every lover of the drama and music, as well as all friendly to the Phoenix Cricket Club should attend.

MILITIA CHANGES.—We learn from the Canada Gazette of the 16th inst. that Col. J. H. Gray, C. M. G., Deputy Adjutant General, Military District No. 12, will be permitted to retire on the 1st Jan. 1881, retaining the rank of Colonel. Major R. G. Freeland, on the staff of Military District No. 12, has been promoted to Brigade Major in the district, from 1st January, 1881, with Head Quarters at Charlottetown. Major Freeland will also perform from the same date the duties heretofore discharged by the Deputy Adjutant General of Military District No. 12.

THE TURK.—In the stallion race at Kensington yesterday, Island Chief took first money, Dean Swift second, and Gay Boy third. The three horses are owned by Mr. Robert Fitzsimmons. The young stallion entered by Mr. P. S. Brown, did not get any part of the race. A despatch received last evening states that all the horses in the race worked against him, that his sulky was smashed to pieces and Mr. Brown was badly but not seriously injured. We have not received further information, but it is said neither that Mr. Brown nor his horse got that share of fair play which he gives horses from the vicinity of Kensington when they visit Upton Park. At any rate it is against all rules to allow three horses owned by one man to compete in the same race.
