MR. AND MRS. J. A. BRADLEY

Couple Pledge Vows At St. Dunstan's Basilica

St. Dunstan's Basilica, Charlottetown, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on August 9th, when Helen Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McKenna, Charlottetown, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony with James Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bradley of Charlottetown.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Monsignor Patrick McMahon. Master John Chinery, a cousin of the bride, served the nuptial mass. Mrs. Joseph Dougan was organist for the occassion and Mr. James Flanagan rendered appropriate hymns during the ceremony.

The altar was beautifully decorated with sweet peas, and gladioli. The guest pews were marked with bows of white ribbon.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. She was charming in a floor length gown of white embroidered over taffeta with a scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and rhinestones. Her chapel length veil of French illusion fell from a matching lace coronet trimmed with sequins and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Miss Shirley McKenna attended her sister as maid of honour. She wore a gown of coral nylon, with matching headdress and mitts and carried a nosegay of baby mums.

Miss Patricial Bradley, sister of the groom was bridesmaid and was gowned in mint green with matching headdress and mitts. She carried a nosegay of baby mums.

Miss Diane McKenna, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of yellow net with matching headdress and mitts, and carried a basket of yellow and white mums.

Mr. Francis Bradley, brother of the groom was groomsman. Mr. Wilfred McKenna, brother of the bride and Mr. John Bradley, brother of the groom were ushers.

Mrs. McKenna chose for her daughter's wedding,a dress of navy blue lace with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow and white mums. Mrs. Bradley wore a rose lace dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Queen Hotel for approximately sixty guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mr. Robert Bradley was toast master and called upon Rev. Walter Reid to propose the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mr. Francis Bradley proposed the toast to the bride's attendants.

Congratulatory telegrams were read by the toast master and complimentary remarks were made by many of the guests.

Following the reception the guests moved to the small dining room. where a social hour was held from where they departed to the bride's home.

For travelling, the bride wore an emerald green sheath dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow and white mums.

Following a motor tip through the United States and Toronto, Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley will take up residence in Fredericton, New Brunswick. Mr. Bradley is stationed with the Canadian Army at Camp Gagetown, N.B.

The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Webber, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McKenna of Toronto, Ontario. Mrs. Gertrude Stanley, Moncton, N.B. Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel White, St. John, N.B.—Photo by Craswell Studio.

ELLEN'S DIARY

"Which Shall We Have? Not "What Can We Get?

We hear the stirrings of wind in the leaves outside the open door, the precious rustles and sighs of a delectable summer night: my sterious whispers in the branches, elfin chuckles of laughter. And this time of year we always fancy sighings for those loved items of the year now, no more: the loveliness of early fields, the lost petals of those blossomings, the sweetest birdsong, the bright clear fragrance of the fresh of the year, the pond-creatures' pipings-all gone now, swallowed up in the past.

If you listen closely" someone declares "each kind of tree is a musical instrument: the apple a cello, the old oak a bass viol, the cypress a harp, the wlow a flute, the young pine a muted violin.

Put your ear close to the whispering branch and you may catch what it is saying: the brittle twitter of dry oak leaves in winter, the faint breathing of the junipers, the whirring of hickory twigs, the thrumming of slender birch clumps, the mild murmur of the sugar maple, and behind them all, the thunder of whole bare trees in a headlong tide of air.

A pretty symphony we hear now as the little night-wind moves in the leaves of the lawn-trees.

Gracious we remember this season is which turns toward Autumn-fruited and ripening. Gardens give of their largess in a colorful display, indeed so many vegetables now that a puzzled "Which shall we have?" replaces the cooks' former concern of, "What can we get?" of an earlier barer season.

Now come the first potatoes. Ours in a new departure this year, not grown at Alderlea, but brought in from a far field at Rob's. And preparing them for dinner today, we wondered if perhaps we should never again be privileged to lift a top on a row at this farm to find that miracle of new-grown beneath.

"They're a mite dampish yet, Ellen, aren't they?" James commented opening a first one at dinner.

The lumbering at Alderlea progressed still another step today when the farmers hauled the logs to a mill to be sawed into pieces for the intended work of repair in the piggery...What shining bits and pieces will be about then we reflect happily for ingenious lads with saw and hammer and nails to work with!

But these days there is no time for such young pastimes. School work, graced by new books and intriguing projects of class claim the attention. And how smartly the hours go and so full every minute.

"Tomorrow, Ellen?" for the moment James in the old armchair looks up from the newspaper to reply to our question. "Why I'm not quite sure. If this fine weather keeps, I guess perhaps..."but his voice trails away as he goes back to his reading again.

U til tomorrow — — — Diary Good-night

friend of the bride, sang very beautifully "The Voice That Breathed O're Eden". and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the Register.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Royston F. Mugford, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She looked beautiful in a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle, Victoria style with bouffant skirt, long sleeves which came to a point below the wrists. Her fingertip veil matched ner gown which was scattered with iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Ruby Ford, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and looked lovely in a ballerina length gown of yellow organdie with picture hat, and nosegay of mixed flowers.

The two bridesmaids, Liana Smith and Jean Birt, cousins of the bride, wore identical gowns of pink and green and carried nosegays of mixed flowers.

Little Miss Trudy Doucette, who acted as flower girl, looked sweet and dainty in pale blue nylon flacked in pink and carried a basket of Sweet Peas, and halo of white roses.

The groom was ably supported by Russell Ford, brother of the bride. and the ushers were Athol Auld and Milton Doucette, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother looked lovely in a pale blue silk linen dress with matching duster with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother was very charming in Ivory corded silk with orange ice accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of summer flowers and guest pews were marked with red roses.

After the ceremony a reception for approximately 300 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Guy Rodd to which the groom capably responded.

For travelling the bride wore a dress of ice blue crystallette with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

The gifts were numerous useful and beautiful. The happy young couple will reside in Toronto, where the groom is employed with A.V. Roe Aircraft, Malton, Ont.

MR. & MRS. CLARENCE G. ROSS

Wed At Trinity Church Will Reside At Albany

A summer wedding of wide interst was solemnized in Trinity United Church, Charlottetown on Saturday, July 5th, at 12.30 p.m. when Mary Eleanor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Carson, Bonshaw, became the bride of Clarence Gerald, elder son of Mrs. Harry Ross and the late Mr. Ross of Albany.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J.H. Bishop, assisted by Rev. Frank A. MacLean. The music was under the direction of Mr. Royston Mugford, A.R.C.O.

Mr. Sterling Inman was soloist and sang "Because" before the bridal party entered the church and "The Wedding Prayer" during the singing of the register. The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of summer flowers and the guest pews with white satin bows and lily of the valley.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz length gown of silk organza over net and taffeta and featured a bateau neckline, fitted bodice, gathred ruffled skirt with lace insert, a large taffeta bow at the back and short sleeves with matching mitts.

Her pill-box headdress with rhinestone trim was held in place by a tulle illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Florence MacDougall, matron of honor, and Miss June Spence, bridesmaid, wore identical ballerina dresses of silk organza over net and taffeta, in coral pink. The dresses had a sherred waist with inserted lace appliques of white trimmed with sequins, V-nick-line and large matching bow on back with mitts to match. Their head-dresses of the same with streamers down the back. They carried nosegays of white and pink carnations

Miss Judy Barlow, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a dress of sky blue orlon over taffeta. Her headdress was in white and she carried a basket of pink and white roses.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Donald Barlow. The ushers were Richard Carson, cousin of the bride and Mr. Gordon Ross, cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carson chose a dress of rosewood lace over taffeta with large navy lace hat and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a navy silk sheath dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Charlottetown Hotel for approximately one hundred guests.

The bride's table was decorated with flowers and candelabra and centered with a three-tier wedding cake, which was topped by a traditional bridal setting.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. J.H. Bishop and was fittingly responded to by the groom. During the reception soft piano music was played by Mrs. J.H. Bishop.

Mrs. Allison Mutch, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. A congratulatory telegram was read by the groomsman from relatives in Toronto.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti and best wishes on a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and the New England States.

For travelling the bride chose a mint-green two-piece dress with white Breton sailor hat and accessories to match. Her corsage was white carnations.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered a miscellaneous showers by friends in Charlottetown, at the Community Hall in Bonshaw and the Royal Bank of Canada, where she was an employee for the past six years.

The popular young couple will reside i Albany where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

OUR TIME

I haven't got time, we thoughtlessly say,
Well this is procrastionation,
We each have all the time there is
And not for any "duration."

And time is relative you know
It sometimes flies so fast,
And then again it seems a day
Before an hour has passed.

There is no special tax on time
Its priceless free and true
We waste it yet it bears no grudge,
But flows on ever new.

We have no bank to hoard up time,
Time's ever on the wing
Time's shared alike by all mankind,
The rich, the poor, the King.

This wondrous precious thing called time
Is ours just for today,
So let us wisely use each hour,
Just once we pass this way.

Take time to sit and dream a bit
It helps to feed the soul,
For souls may starve if time's all spent
Just keeping bodies whole.

Take time for children's happy smiles
And then take time to pray,
The meanest task will seem worthwhile,
If prayer starts off the day.

Take time to visit those dear friends,
Whose souls are running low,
They may be waiting for your smile
To bless them e're they go.

And when at last our times all spent
And we have gone away,
May some soul know we took time out
To cheer him on his way.

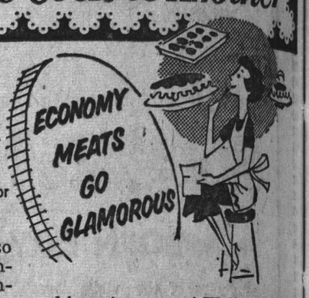
From One Cook to Another
by Mary Blake
Carnation Home Service Director



• Meats contribute so much to meals, in enjoyment and nourishment. Yet meat can be our biggest expense! Well — I have a number of ideas to give interest to economy meats. One has to do with ground beef. To give it extra goodness, prepare ground beef with Carnation Evaporated Milk. Because of Carnation's double-richness and special blending qualities, ground beef stays juicy, never crumbles, right through cooking. Carnation gives results that you cannot get with any other form of milk.

NEW WAY TO COOK GROUND BEEF

⅔ cup (small can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
1 egg
1½ lbs. ground beef
½ cup fine cracker crumbs
1½ tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. dry mustard
¼ cup finely-chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper (optional)
Combine all ingredients, mixing well.

CREOLE MEAT LOAF: Turn the Carnation-beef mixture into greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 x 2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour. Let loaf stand in pan 10 minutes. Heat 1 can condensed tomato soup with 2 tablespoons ketchup, dash of horseradish. Turn loaf out on platter; cover with the hot tomato sauce. Makes 6 servings.

BANQUET-BURGERS: Shape meat mixture as six large flat patties. Broil patties 10 minutes on one side. Turn "Burgers" and top each with a slice of tomato and slice of onion. Broil 10 minutes longer. Serve at once between toasted split hamburger buns. Makes 6 servings.

The thrifty wiener can take on countless appealing aspects. One of my favorite supper recipes is "Hawaiian Wienies". The recipe starts with my 3-Minute Cheese Sauce, the quickest cheese sauce ever—smoothest, too. The secret of its success is Carnation's double-rich and special blending qualities. But remember to use Carnation. No other form of milk will do.

HAWAIIN WIENIES
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)
1 large can undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon steak sauce
½ to 1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups (8 ounces) grated process-type cheese
4 cups cooked noodles
¼ cup slivered almonds (optional)
1 cup well-drained canned pineapple tidbits
2 cups (about 6) sliced wieners
2 tablespoons grated onion

Simmer Carnation, salt, steak sauce and mustard in saucepan over low heat to just below boiling (2 to 3 minutes). Add cheese and stir until thickened and smooth (about 1 minute longer). Pour over remaining ingredients in buttered 2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

RICHER COFFEE FLAVOR, PLUS ECONOMY — that's what you get when you "cream" your coffee with Carnation — the evaporated milk that tastes most like fresh cream. Carnation costs only half as much as light cream. "Cream" your coffee with Carnation — the milk that whips!

• And it's so easy to make, when you use fast rising dry Best Yeast! If you bake at home, please your family by baking this treat tomorrow!

CHEESEBREAD

Scald 3 c. milk, ¼ c. granulated sugar, 1½ tbs. salt and 4 tbs. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Meantime, measure into a large bowl ½ c. lukewarm water; crumble and add 1 cake Best Yeast—or stir in 1 tsp. granulated sugar and sprinkle with 1 envelope Best dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well.

Stir in cooled milk mixture. Stir in 4 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour; beat with a rotary beater until the batter is smooth. Cover and set in a warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Work in 2 c. lightly-packed finely-shredded old cheese and 5 c. (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and grease top of dough. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough; turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 4 equal portions. Cover lightly with a cloth and let rest for 15 mins. Divide each portion of dough into 3 parts; knead and shape into smooth balls. Place 3 balls in each of 4 greased loaf pans (4½" x 8½"). Grease tops and sprinkle each loaf with ¼ c. shredded cheese. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°, 45-50 mins.
