

The Power of Discipline.

Frederick the Great of Prussia was at his palace at Potsdam, when some of his orders by their excessive severity caused great discontent among the Prussian troops; so the soldiers then in garrison resolved to avail themselves of that ease and facility with which Frederick could at all times be approached by them; and thus a deputation of the grenadiers of Ogilvie marched deliberately from their barracks across the great square which lies before the palace and halted at the porch. An officer in waiting—afterwards the great Field-Marshal Keith, who was killed in battle by the Austrians at Hachkichen—acquainted the King of their arrival, adding: "Shall I order them in barracks, sire, or place them under arrest?" "Do neither; they have come to see me and see me they shall: good soldiers have nothing to fear from me, and the regiment of Ogilvie is one of the finest in Prussia. I shall try on them the power of discipline." Frederick hastily put on his shabby uniform, his long jack boots that had never known blocking, his orders of knight-hood, his cocked hat, sword and sash. "Sire," urged Keith, "will there not be an inconvenience in all this?" "To whom?" "To you, sire." "How, comrade Keith—how?" "Discussion will lead to other depositions, and every order your Majesty may issue will be dissected and cavilled at in turn in every guard-room and beer-shop in Prussia." "No matter, comrade—march in the rascals; I'll trust to the power of discipline." In they came accordingly, twenty tall and swinging fellows, all after Frederick's own heart; but the appearance of the King, dressed as if for parade, awed them into total silence. "Achtung!" (attention) said he, drawing his sword, "to the right face—front! to the left face—front!" These commands the deputation, who were formed in line, obeyed in perfect silence, and wondering what was to follow a reception so unexpected; and so Frederick cried: "To the right about face, to your barracks, quick march!" Then, as he never gave the work "halt," they felt compelled to march on, and the old King and Marshal Keith laughed heartily at the baffled deputation disappeared within the barracks-yard, where their expectant comrades gathered round them, to hear the report of how Frederick had received the complaint. "We have never opened our lips," said the oldest grenadier with a very heavy crest-fallen expression. "Der Teufel! did not you see the King?" cried they. "We have just left him—" "Blockheads! and why, did not you follow your instructions? 'It was impossible.' 'Impossible'—and why so?" "Because when we saw old Father Frederick in his fighting coat and dirty boots, and heard his voice of command, our hearts failed us, and the—the power of discipline proved too great.

Extraordinary Accident.

There is something about the misfortune which occurred on Saturday last to a clergyman of Cheshire which appeals strongly to the imagination. We hardly remember an occurrence within the last 30 years which was so purely an accident, in the strictest sense of the word—so completely beyond human prevision, or prevention, or control. The Rev. W. C. Vaughan, vicar of Tallarn Green, near Malpas, in Cheshire, had driven out with his wife in a pony carriage to pay a professional visit to a sick parishioner. He went into the house in discharge of his functions, leaving his wife to take care of the pony, when a cart loaded with corn came up the road. The pony for some reason was frightened, and Mrs. Vaughan called to her husband for help. Mr. Vaughan ran out, when a laborer who had been, as usual, riding on the top of the corn in readiness to unload the sheaves, craned forward to look at the pony. He overbalanced himself, fell forward, and with his weight drove the pitchfork he had in his hand into the lungs of the clergyman, who died within 20 minutes leaving his wife nearly insane, and quite prostrate with the horror and the shock. —London Spectator.

Difference of Opinion.

The Victoria Times understands that considerable difference of opinion exists as to the character of the work on the Government section of the Canadian Pacific railway in British Columbia. Mr. Ouderdonk, it says, has put in a claim for a large sum of compensation for extras, while at the same time such grave defects exist in the slopes, embankments and curvatures of the road as to seriously interfere with its usefulness as a conveyor of traffic. The Times fears that if the contract is finally accepted by the Government in its present state, the railway company will, as in the case of the Fort William and Rat Portage section, demand an allowance for bringing the road up to the standard required in their agreement with the Government. It is thus of the utmost importance to the country that before the work is finally taken out of Mr. Ouderdonk's hands, a rigid inspection should be made, and the defects, if any are found to exist, made good.

New, and Original Departure in Coal Cooking Stoves COMBINING DURABILITY, HEAT AND ECONOMY.

This Cut represents my Patent Fire King Cooking Stove, with the oven, end and lining partially drawn out, as it appears while being cleaned, or when a new lining is being replaced.

THE above Stove I invented and patented in 1876, and at the present time HUNDREDS ARE IN USE, giving perfect satisfaction. A large number have been in constant use for eight years, and the repairs have been very trifling, in many instances none have been required. This valuable experience should be sufficient evidence of their durability, which is accounted for in the following:—It has, instead of a Lined Fire Box, two heavy Curvated Cylinders, which obviate the expense connected with all Square Cooking Stoves of being compelled to renew Linings and Grates, at least once or twice every year. The heat being radiated from the Cylinders to the floor, where most needed, overcomes a serious objection to all kinds of ordinary Coal Cooking Stoves. The Cylinders are situated directly under the cover holes, and a fire may be made in one or both, thus adapting it for use either in winter or summer, with equal satisfaction, besides effecting a great saving to fuel. I have also attached the PATENT TELESCOPE OVEN to all my Elevated Oven Wood Stoves, such as the Waterloo, Niagara, Star, &c., causing the thousands using them to exclaim:—My Stoves are worth TEN DOLLARS MORE than the same kind made by other foundries. The trade and retail purchasers will please bear in mind the fact that although a great advantage is claimed for my own Oven above all others, they cost no more, and being the sole manufacturer and patentee, no other foundry can supply. Enquire for Fawcett's Patent Telescope Oven, and if your dealer has none on hand send direct to the Sackville Stove Foundry. I am adding several new and handsome Patterns this season, which, with my former large variety of One Hundred Different Patterns and Sizes of Cooking, Parlor, Office and Hall Stoves, also Farmers Boilers, Hollowware, Ploughs, Stove Pipes, and Tinware, comprise the most complete assortment offered by any manufacturer in the Lower Provinces. Terms and prices will be found as favorable as can be obtained elsewhere.
