

MaPhail Voted Island's Dairy Queen

Verna MacPhail, Meadowbank, was chosen P.E.I. dairy princess Saturday at the Junior Farmers' Field Day held at the Experimental Farm.

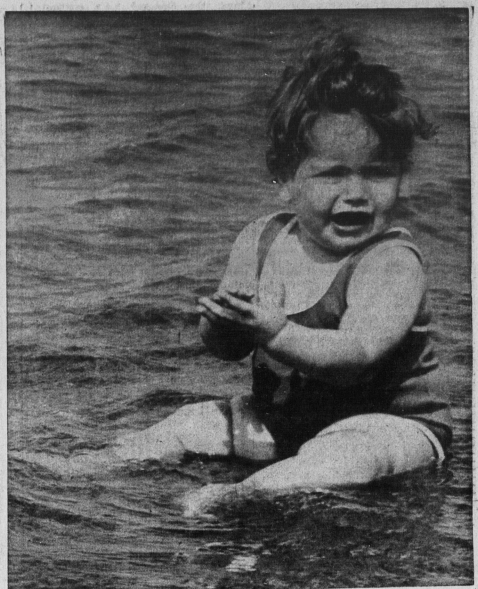

Miss MacPhail will enter the national competition at the CNE in Toronto. Rowena Garrett, East Bay, placed second in the competition and a 10 runner-up were Linda Jackson, Mermaid, and D. Phyllis Duppy, Cherry Valley.

Judges, Miss Irene Mountain, home economist, Reid Sanderson, provincial marketing director, and J. James Williams, herdman at the Experimental Farm, based their decision on such factors as personality, attractiveness, poise, and milking skills.

Miss MacPhail was crowned by last year's princess, James Jones of Pownal.

As part of their field day, the Junior Farmers also staged a cattle judging contest in the afternoon, and Reid Sangster spoke to the group in the evening session. Mr. Sangster spoke on the rich heritage of Island youth, and the need for young people to think and act with vigor and independence.

Jack Proutie was in charge of the evening's entertainment.

HEY! IT'S SALT WATER!
"Hey, how am I going to take a bath with all you people around. It's getting now a girl can't have any privacy these days," says 16-month old Katherine Tweel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tweel, Admiral Street, as she experiences her first time at the beach. For Katherine it was a lot different from her usual splash in the tub at home. For one thing "the bath tub is so big and I've still got my clothes on." Despite all the people, estimated to be upwards of 2,600 who flocked to Stanhope beach, Katherine can be sure she was hardly noticed, except of course, by the Guardian cameraman.

Flash Fire Guts City Restaurant

A flash fire yesterday morning destroyed Duchie's Snack Bar, Fitzroy Street, Charlottetown.

The fire broke out about 10:30 and in a matter of minutes flames engulfed much of the wooden structure. Firemen had the blaze under control in a short time but the inside of the building was gutted.

Fire officials said the fire broke out in the kitchen, probably around a fryer. Several staff members and customers were in the building when the blaze broke out but all escaped without injury.

The building is owned by W.J. Stewart, 236 Fitzroy Street. William Griffin operated the restaurant but thought control of the business only a short time ago.

Shoe Company Founder Here Austin L. Wright, Dies In N.S.

The founder of the Wright Shoe Company in Charlottetown, Austin Lawrence Wright, died Saturday in the Bridgewater Memorial Hospital in Nova Scotia. He was 90 years of age.

Mr. Wright came to Charlottetown in 1891, when he purchased the business of Alley and Company, which became known as the Wright Shoe Company. He managed this until his retirement in 1957, when he moved to Mahone Bay, N.S., where he was living at the time of his death.

Up until 1915, he managed a shoe store in Ontario, where he followed following attaining his education in Dartmouth, N.S. He later managed the Amherst Boot and Shoe Company in Amherst, N.S.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, Dartmouth, N.S., he was a steward and member of Trinity United Church. He was also a past president of the Amherst Board of Trade, a member of the P.E.I. Art Society and the Little Theatre Guild.

In addition to his wife, the former Ruth Gray of Providence, Rhode Island, Mr. Wright is survived by two sons, Rev. Harold K. Wright, Ancestor, Ont., Arthur L. Wright, manager of the Wright Shoe Company in Charlottetown; one brother, Everett in Halifax; and two sisters, Eva Mrs. Lewis Holland, in Canning, N.S.; and Gertrude, Mrs. A. C. Pettipas, Dartmouth.

The funeral will be held from the Trinity United Church in Charlottetown at 2 p.m. Interment will be the Sherwood Cemetery.

Drysdale Wins 19th Nun Sweeps Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Don Drysdale scored his 19th victory and Frank Howard drove in five runs today as the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco 6-1 before 12,000 fans.

Howard drove in a dozen runs in the series. He helped build a six-run cushion for the Dodgers with a single in the first and later hit two more singles and a homer.

The Giants, who came here only a game back of the Dodgers, left with a single in the first and a homer in the second, trailing by four games.

Drysdale — whose nine-game winning streak is the longest by any National League pitcher this season — gave up six hits, struck out five and didn't walk a man.

Beaten only four times this year, Drysdale lost his bid for his first shutout of the season when Willie Mays hit his 32nd homer in the seventh. His record was the 32nd.

WENT WILD
Howard, one of the hottest hitters in baseball the last month, drove in the first two Dodger runs with a single and picked up another hit with a single in the second. He hit his 20th homer with the bases empty in the seventh and singled in another run in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Frank Robinson led Cincinnati Reds to a sweep over Milwaukee, 8-6 and 2-1; St. Louis trimmed New York Mets twice, 6-5 and 5-1; Houston Colt .45s pulled out of a slump in a split with Chicago Cubs, the Cubs taking the second game 2-1 after Dodgers' 1-0 win; and Philadelphia Phillies' trounced Pittsburgh's faltering Pirates 6-0.

Frank Robinson was the man of the hour for Cincinnati, leading the Reds to their 6-5, 2-1 victory.

Robinson hit two two-run homers in the contest, the opener, and scored the winning run in the ninth and crossed the plate on Marty Kouss's single to right.

The defeat was charged to Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., who took over in the seventh.

The first game was a seasaw affair which was finally

National Park Area Jammed

Beach area in the National Park was at a premium yesterday as practically everyone took advantage of the fine warm day to go swimming or to just lie in the sun.

Eric Kipping, superintendent of the National Park, said it was the largest crowd he has ever seen in the area and that at Stanhope alone, he counted some 2,500 people.

The picnic areas were also "jam packed" and people were standing in line waiting for tables.

Later in the evening a life guard demonstration was held at Stanhope and it was visited by upwards of 2,000 spectators.

Three Special Services Held To Mark Anniversary of U.C.

The 10th anniversary of the New Dominion Church was celebrated July 15 with three large religious services, undertaken by Rev. D. L. Walls, minister of the charge.

The first service, which was prepared and read by Mr. Allison MacMillan and the guests were read by Premier W. R. Shaw.

The morning service was conducted by Mr. Walls. Solos were sung by Mrs. Blake Wood, a daughter of the church, and Rev. John Hamilton, Ont., a former minister, brought greetings. The message was delivered by Rev. John Ball and a duet was rendered by Mrs. Strling MacLeod.

The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. D. L. Walls, minister of the charge. The choir of Cornwall United Church under the direction of Mrs. Greer, Rev. Dr. A. S. Weir, Orwell, was the guest speaker at the evening service. Lloyd Martin sang a solo and the Brooklyn Trio sang two numbers accompanied by Mrs. William MacLeod.

At the close of the evening service the guests, choir and members of the church were entertained at the home of Premier Shaw. Refreshments were served by the United Church women.

Churches Seen Moving Closer

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholicism and Protestantism are changing and moving toward each other, according to an American member of the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity.

At what point the twain will meet, he does not know, said Rev. Thomas F. Strassky, this weekend during a visit here. "It will be a long time, but no matter how it takes place, he said, it will be a long, slow process."

The Milwaukee-born priest, now stationed in Rome to aid in the preparations for the second Vatican council, starting next fall, said reunification is a long, slow process, but steps can be taken toward it.

He said the Roman Catholic church has changed its approach to non-Catholics, abandoning its past "attitude of only movement or change that is needed" is by other Christians.

ACCEPT CRITICISM
Another Catholic change, he said, is a readiness to accept criticism from non-Catholic Christians.

Behind the change, he noted this rationale: Since Catholics regard the church as divine, when new materials, Romanism was to concentrate on oil, petrochemical industry, Czechoslovakia was to build up petroleum industry, automobiles and transport. Hungary was to develop light industry.

Huge industrial projects — a big steel complex — like the one near Budapest — suddenly became idle or the plans were scrapped. Investment capital was poured into investments in "poor" countries like Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, and Rumania.

But, say the sources, isn't working. The system still isn't working.

Do Children Grow Up Too Soon?

Should we force our children to be adults so quickly? Don't they have a right to childhood? In August Reader's Digest, "Babies in Arms" tells what happens when mothers, PTA or nonusers push, prod, and urge children into the social arena too soon. It's always manning of 12-year-old girls and 13-year-old boys (I always remember a "wholesome contact"). Who is to blame? (I always remember "The Digest today... 35 articles of lasting interest.")

Alcohol Study Course Held

Sister Mary Henry, CSM, executive director of the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau, and E. R. Francis, supervisor of the alcoholic treatment facility at the hospital, recently attended a month-long summer school of alcohol studies in Rutgers University, New Jersey.

The 240 participants from all parts of the United States, Canada, and from various vocations, learned about alcohol problems from a faculty of specialists from such fields as medicine and the social sciences, psychology and education.

Daily class sessions explored all aspects of the alcohol problem, from the clinical approach to moral theology and the law.

Mickey Mantle Pulls Up Limp

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle pulled up limping again Sunday after running to first in the eighth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with Chicago White Sox. But New York Yankees manager Ralph Houk said Mantle did not appear to be seriously hurt and may be able to start in the All-Star game in Chicago today.

"Mantle is definitely going to Chicago," Houk said. "It depends on the feeling, but right now there is a good chance he will play in the All-Star game."

Houk said he had started a muscle, "but it is nothing like the last time."

Mantle was hospitalized and missed more than a month earlier this season when he tore a thick muscle running to first base.
