KING OF ITALY ASSASSINATED

A Bullet Pierces His Heart

THE MURDERER WAS ARRESTED

Was Saved With Difficulty From the Fury of the Populace.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

MINZA, Italy, July 30.—King Humbert has been assassinated. He was shot here last evening by a man named Angelo Bressi de Grato and died in a few minutes.

The king had been attending a distribution of prizes in connection with a gymnastic competition.

He had just entered his carriage with his aide-de-camp amid the cheers of the crowd, when he was struck by three revolver shots fired in quick succession. One pierced the heart of His Majesty, who fell back and expired in a few minutes.

The assassin was immediately arrested, and was with some difficulty saved from the fury of the populace. He gave his name as Angelo Bressi, describing himself as of Prato, in Tuscany.

Rome, July 30.—The news of the terrible event did not arrive here until after midnight.

Signor Sarraco, the Premier, immediately summoned a meeting of the cabinet, and the ministers will start at the earliest possible moment for Monza.

New Customs Regulation

OTTAWA, July 28.—An important step has been taken by the customs authorities in connection with the collection of returns of exports by means of compulsory export entries at ports of exit. Collectors at all ports of exit, which are near a corresponding port of entry in the United States, have been instructed to check the Canadian export entries with the report inward to United States customs. By this means it is hoped to secure full returns of exports not reported outwards at the Canadian port of exit.

The Salmon Fishery.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 27.—The strength of the precautionary measures taken by the military authorities in the protection of the salmon fishermen willing to work on the terms offered by the cannery has resulted in the first day's fishing on the Fraser passing off without any breach of the peace or any further complaints of effective intimidation. Fifteen hundred boats, which started out yesterday with Japanese fishermen, came straggling in during the night from midnight onward. The catches were small, averaging twenty salmon to each boat. This morning another set of Japs started off from Stevenson for the fishing grounds. The men who went to work were all protected. The military force, which now numbers 300, was drawn up around the wharves, and police tugs accompanied the Japanese to the fishing grounds. Soldiers and special police officers are stationed at the canneries.

5000 Boers Surrender

Kruger Awaiting the Last Fight.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

CAPE TOWN, July 30.—General Pringloo, with five thousand men has surrendered unconditionally to the British.

LONDON, July 30.—Operations in South Africa have arrived at a standstill. Pretoria telegrams announce that Roberts has returned there with his staff, apparently finding it useless to spend his energies against a constantly retreating foe. General Botha with several thousands of Boers like General Christian "Dewet," has thus far deluded Lord Roberts' grasp.

General Delarey is besieging Baden-Powell at Rustenburg, in the Western Transvaal. The relief force sent to Baden-Powell's assistance under Colonel Hyckman, proved too weak to be effective and was obliged to fall back on Pretoria.

The operations of the British have been hampered by bad weather, thunder storms and deluges of rain, accompanied by intense cold. Lieut. Maclaren and three Highlanders have died of exposure, as well as many horses and cattle.

A despatch to the Telegraph from Lorenzo Marques says that President Kruger is now at Watervalender. He adds that a big fight is expected, and that if the Boers are beaten President Kruger will trek through Swaziland to Delago Bay and take a steamer for Europe.

CHANCERY COURT.

Before the Master of the Rolls.

Commissioners of Sewers at Piesquid vs. A B Warbarton and others. This case was argued today before the Master of the Rolls. The principal questions were (1) whether sufficient notice of calling meetings of marsh holders was given; (2) whether the valuation and assessment were regularly and properly made. The Master of the Rolls dismissed the bill and reserved the question of costs.

A Peters, Q C, C Smallwood, for complainants; Haszard, Q C, McLean, Q C, for defendants.

The facility with which Britain placed an army of upwards of 200,000 men in the field in South Africa surprised her enemies and delighted her friends. But that display of British resources is not the most suggestive of the evidence that the authorities have given in recent years of the defenses of the empire. The splendid work of the Egyptian troops in the Sudan and the recent success of the expedition for the relief of Kumassi have led the New York Commercial-Advertiser to moralize as follows:

"At first, the secret of British colonial success is the ability to inspire native races, trained and led by British officers, with the dogged resolution and cool courage which we call Anglo-Saxon. Sergeant What's-his-name, who 'made a mummy fight,' shares the glory of British expansion with Clive and Sir George Grey and Cecil Rhodes. The defence and then the relief of Kumassi were deeds as heroic, in circumstances as terrifying, as anything in the grim and bloody record of the little colonial wars, and all of them were done by black men. The garrison was reduced to the last extremity after Sir Frederick Hodgson cut his way out, and the march of the relief expedition was one of extraordinary labor and peril. Except for a few officers, both garrison and relief expedition were composed of pure natives of Africa as the Ashanti whose bodies their valor piled all around the fort, poisoning the air and testifying to the difference which training and leadership make in a 'nigger.' The Germans are beginning their colonial experiment in the same way, by enlisting and training Africans and Asiatics. It is the most useful 'tip' the mother country can give us in the Philippines."

Slight Hope For the Safety of Ministers.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

A SLENDER THREAD.

LONDON, July 30.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that he is still firmly convinced that the Ministers are safe. But with the exception of an alleged message from the Japanese Legation in Peking dated July 19, brought by a runner, saying that the Legation was still defending itself; nothing has yet been published giving anything in nature of proof.

On the other hand the daily increasing reports of the massacre of missionaries and foreigners leave only the most slender thread upon which to have a hope.

SLAUGHTER OF CHRISTIANS

Tokyo, July 30.—It is reported from Shanghai that "the Boxers" attacked the missionaries and native Christians at Pao Ting Fu, July 8, and that the foreign physician and 2,000 converts were massacred.

The Chinese General, Li Ho Keh, is now marching on Peking. He has ordered his troops to exterminate all Christians. Already one French priest and from 2,000 to 3,000 natives have been slaughtered.
