THE LAND ACT.

Of all the schemes adopted by the Government to raise money, the recent Act entitled "The Act respecting the Commissioner of Public Lands" may fairly be placed and classed as the most outrageous of them all. The title to the Act is very simple and misleading. To read the title one would not imagine that it was in reality a law to enable the Government to upset a large number of titles to property in almost every township on the Island. Yet such is the fact.

It is well-known that in this Island, twenty years of free and uninterrupted possession vests in the person in possession a good title against all the world to the piece of land occupied. Upon the strength of this knowledge, men have bought and sold many and many a farm upon the belief that the occupant had the right to sell owing to his title by possession. The Act just passed by the advice of Mr. Peters will enable him, through the medium of the Court of Chancery of this Island, to compel the present occupants of these farms, to pay the amount claimed, justly or not, by the the Commissioner of Public Lands, or in default the occupant will be turned out on the road side. When the Government acquired these lands many years ago, Commissioners were appointed to value the lands on the different townships, and on their valuations, the amount for which the occupant could buy out from the Government was fixed. This, no doubt, was done. Now, let us just see what Mr. Peters says in his confiscation act. The first section enacts :

1. It is hereby declared that the amount of purchase money calculated by the Commissioners appointed under the various Acts relating to the lands purchased by the Commissioner of Public Lands shall be a lien and purchase upon the land itself having preference over all other liens and charges upon such land.

This is very plain and means that the amount charged in the Land Office books against a piece of land shall be a first mortgage on that piece of land. The next section is as follows :

2. The said lien may be enforced in the following manner : The Commissioner of Public Lands may file in the Court of Chancery of this Province either in the Vice-Chancellor's Court or in the Master of the Rolls Court, a bill against any lands so situated as mentioned in the recitals of this act. Such bill may be filed against any number of different farms and shall shortly state the description of the land, the amount claimed against each portion of land set forth in the bill, the names of the occupiers or tenants so far as known to the Commissioner of Public Lands, and shall pray to have the charge enforced against each piece of land separately.

This is also very plain and makes the Court of Chancery a medium for enforcing whatever amount appears in the Land Office books against the land. The court has nothing to do with enquiring what amount if any is due or owing. This is settled by the production of the Land Office ledger. If that amount started at £10 forty years ago, our readers can easily make up what it would amount to now by charging five per cent. interest every year.

The 6th and 7th sections of this infamous act we also give in full :

6. The judgment so given shall be enforced by sale of the land, such sale to be made under execution issued out of the said court. Such execution to be in such form as the judge shall direct, and which said execution shall be directed to the sheriff of the county in which the land is situate. The proceedings under the said execution shall in all respects be the same as those now adopted in cases of sales by sheriff, and in executions against land in the Supreme Court. A sale under the said execution may be confirmed in the same manner as a sheriff's sale under a judgment in the Supreme Court.

7. It is declared that the amount due the Commissioner of Public Lands for the purchase of any land held by him as aforesaid may be recovered, notwithstanding that proceedings have not been taken for the recovery of the sum for twenty years after the right to recover the sum accrued; and further that the statute regarding the limitation of actions shall not be considered as ever having applied to such claims. But nothing herein contained shall in any way affect the titles obtained by possession before the lands in question became vested in the Commissioner of Public Lands.

So that unless a person has had an actual title by possession, that is twenty years of free, undisputed (and in some cases forty years) possession of land before the Government bought it from the proprietors, the land is now liable to be confiscated and sold to satisfy the original purchase money and accumulated interest. An idea of how far reaching this is may be gathered from the fact that some lands were bought from the proprietors in the years between 1850 and 1860. To escape the act a possession title would have to have been acquired twenty years before these dates, and unless so acquired these lands can now be proceeded against under the present act. Whose lands will be affected and whose interests will be affected after a lapse of nearly forty years, time alone will tell.

Hitherto, before a person could be deprived of his land, land which he and his forefathers had held in undisputed possession for many many years, he would be entitled to a trial before a judge and jury. Mr. Peters has by his last law taken this birthright away from the people, and instead has enacted that the Court of Chancery shall simply enforce payment of an amount claimed by the Commissioner of Public Lands. No power is given to that court to enquire into the correctness of the amount or the validity of the claim. The Court "shall give judgment declaring the amount of purchase money due." These are the words of the statute, and the Court of Chancery must obey them, no matter how long the occupier may have been in possession, no matter who shall suffer or how hard the case may be. It is very difficult to find language sufficiently strong to condemn this last act of the local autocrat. What will be his next move? He has already deprived hundreds of free and independent men of their franchise because they happened to hold office under the Federal Government; he has now clothed himself with the power to deprive people of their land. He has gerrymandered King's County, and has succeeded in having his brother elected in one of the gerrymandered districts. He has taxed everything that can be taxed—both the living and the dead; and still he has the finances of the Province in a most lamentable condition. The dogs of the country barely escaped taxation. The advisability of taxing the old bachelors came up late in the session and stands over till next session. What the one-man Legislature will do next no person can tell. It was a sad day for the Island when the people elected him to power, and they are almost too late in finding it out.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The Week : With regard to either of the two main questions which are now agitating the minds of the people of Canada these bye-elections leave us not a whit the wiser.

—On the 31st March the amount owing the Merchants Bank of P. E. Island by the Provincial Government was $41,325, and the amount owing the Merchants Bank of Halifax by Provincial Governments was $72,341.

—The Agriculturist reports the appointment of Mr. John Gaffney to be High Sheriff of Prince County, and approves it. Mr. Gaffney may be "all right," but the Act under which he has been appointed is all wrong. The same remark may be made respecting the appointment of Mr. Malcolm McDonald, who has been appointed High Sheriff of King's County. Mr. Fred Horne has been re-appointed High Sheriff of Queen's County. He is the only survivor.

—Boston Standard : The Grand Old Man, William Ewart Gladstone, declared many years ago that there would be no permanent peace in Europe until the unspeakable Turk was driven out bag and baggage. He has again declared his hatred of the Moslem. Expressing his sympathy for the persecuted Armenians in London on Monday, he declared that the danger of the situation was that useful action might cease, owing to the Turks' promise of reform, which were not worth the breath spent in their utterance. The Sultan should not have a penny's worth of credit for promises which were not actually performed. Mr. Gladstone voices the sentiment of the civtlized world.

Halifax Herald : The esteemed Chronicle was flip, so to speak, in denying that local works had by any possibility anything to do with the result of the Antigonish election, but it has not yet undertaken to deal with the bridges about to be built at St. Joseph's and Pomquette, and the remarkable change in the vote in these places in favor of the grit candidate still fresh from the Local Government council board. The notable changes in these two places gave Mr. McIsaac all, and more than all, his majority. Unless the Chronicle offers some better explanation of these changes than is offered by these local works, the public will certainly conclude that Mr. McIsaac's way to the Dominion Commons was bridged, as it were, at the expense of this Province.

THE NICARAGUAN DIFFICULTY.

The origin of the little difficulty existing between Great Britain and Nicaragua was this : In the late war between Nicaragua and Honduras, the reservation was occupied by Nicaraguan troops. The inhabitants, who had long enjoyed a measure of self-government, which was regulated under the treaty of Managua, concluded between Great Britain and Nicaragua in 1860, resented the presence of the Nicaraguan forces, and finally offered some kind of armed resistance to their proceedings. This was easily suppressed by the Nicaraguans, who expelled 'Prince' Clarence, the Mosquito chief, in the summer of 1894 and took over the administration of the country. The Nicaraguan minister made up his mind that the opposition offered to the troops had not been the spontaneous act of the people of the reservation. He persuaded himself that it was the work of foreigners, and amongst those foreigners he fancied was Mr. Hatch, the British vice-consul. What evidence Senor Madriz may have had in support of this theory is unknown. Either he had none, or it was not of a sort to justify his action. That was of the most peremptory kind. He sent for Mr. Hatch early one morning and placed him under arrest without, it would seem, any tiresome formalities. Another Englishman was arrested at the same time on similar grounds, and other British subjects were arbitrarily expelled from the country and suffered injuries to property. It is for these wrongs that Great Britain now demands reparation from Nicaragua. Mr. Hatch appears to have been treated with great indignity, and efforts seem to have been made to prevent him from communicating with the commander of the British cruiser then at Bluefields. The Nicaraguan Government sought refuge, it is believed, in the pretext that they had not officially acknowledged Mr. Hatch as vice-consul, or granted him his exequator. This excuse has not availed them. By the terms of the ultimatum England demands an indemnity of £15,000 for the outrage committed on the vice-consul, and the appointment of a commission to adjudicate upon the injuries received by other British subjects at Bluefields. Nicaragua has not yet signified her compliance with these moderate and reasonable terms, and Great Britain has informed her and the United States as well, that unless she pays the indemnity forthwith, the Nicaragua custom houses will be seized and the revenue collected until the sum claimed is made good. It is stated that the Government at Washington have conveyed to Nicaragua that they they acquiesce in the course proposed by Great Britain, and the American West India squadron has sailed to Hayti to visit the Nicaraguan ports.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

AN ORANGEMAN'S PROTEST.

DEAR SIR,—Permit me through the columns of your paper to publicly denounce a most outrageous act, as published in the Orange Sentinel a short time ago—an act which must outrage the feelings of every conservative Orangeman in the Dominion. At the late Grand Orange meeting, held at Montague, a vote of censure was passed on our Most Worshipful brother, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, K C M G, Premier of the Dominion of Canada, and Past Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, in regard to the Maintoba school question. Why this vote of censure was passed at that time we are at a loss to know, as our honored brother could not do anything towards a square and fair settlement of the question without the aid of the people themselves. But this is not the worst. Those brother Orangeman of ours are bound by oath not to take offence and to give none. An Orangeman must deal fairly and squarely with his Roman Catholic friends, and above all support and maintain his brother Orangemen in every righteous act. But what do the grits in our Grand Lodge do? They try to poison the minds of the members of the country lodges of Prince Edward Island, thinking they would be none the wiser. The Boy Joe was there, and he will be Wise, Sir, by the time this thing is settled. And I see that Bro. J. H. Bell's and Bro. Elijah Purdies names figure in this gruesome vote of censure. The only conclusion I can come to is that it is as good a grit combine as is mixed up in any order in the present day, and I sincerely hope our members of the Orange order in P. E. Island will keep their eyes open to this treacherous Act,—a stab in the dark at one of the most highly respected brothers in the Dominion of Canada.

Hoping, Mr. Editor, I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, only to let those gentlemen know they have not got the thing the way they intended it to go, and as I know it will be resented when the proper times comes, I am, etc.,

A BROTHER IN DISGUST.

DISTINGUISHED FOR SKILL AND BRAVERY.

The merit of Lieut. Roberts, R. N.,—A native of Charlottetown—Recognized.

The following incident appeared in a late English newspaper, the hero being a son of the late D. J. Roberts, Esquire, of this city :

"Upon the last return voyage from Bombay to England of the P & O Troopship "Victoria" as they neared Gibralter, a party of officers was seen to leave the fort and with the prolonged bugle-call of distinction approach the ship to do honor to a brave Canadian. He had risked his life by every effort against wind and waves in trying to save a poor fellow of the West Yorkshire Regiment, who was lost overboard on the Victoria's outward voyage to Bombay. With deepest gratitude for the brave efforts put forth in that sad catastrophe by the hero of the hour and with highest praise for the seaman-like skill which he had then displayed, they presented him with a very handsome silver cigarette case, bearing the following inscription :

"To Lieutenant E. Roberts, R. N. R., S S "Victoria" off Cape St. Vincent, 12th January, 1895." "Nec Aspera Terrent."

At the time of this accident Mr. Etienne Roberts, hearing the cry 'man overboard sprang into a boat and sang out for volunteers. Eight brave fellows followed. The poor soldier had evidently sunk at once, owing to his heavy clothing; but they rowed for an hour in search of him, with death staring them in the face, from the rocks on either hand and the heavy sea raging.

The captain and officers could give no orders, owing to the tempestuous weather. The instructions were all given by Mr. Roberts, who by dint of great skill managed to keep the boat off the rocks. All this time the recall signal was flying on the Victoria. At last a tow line was thrown them, and after two miles of towing, at imminent danger of being swamped in the trough of the sea, they reached the ship in safety, after battling with the dangers which proved so great a test of their dauntless courage. The Captain said what was re-echoed by all holding command on board the troopship, that he had never seen a boat so well managed, nor in a more seamanlike manner. The Colonel of the West Yorkshire Regiment gave the crew five pounds."

STEAMERS' MOVEMENTS.—The Northumberland left Point du Chene about half-past four this morning and arrived at Summerside at half-past seven, bringing the mails, a large freight and about twenty-five passengers. She left on return to Point du Chene shortly after ten o'clock, and is expected at Summerside at the usual time this evening.

The St Lawrence left here for Pictou at nine o'clock this morning.

The Stanley is moving as usual to-day.

BRONZE CHIEF, No. 8988.—This famous sire of trotters arrived here last night by the Stanley. He will make the season of 1895, standing in Barrister's old stand on Kent Street, in the rear of Flannigan's forge. He is in charge of Mr. C. A. Mitchell, who will be as pleased as usual to show him to the public and intending breeders. His advt. will appear later on.

—On the 9th day of July, 1891, there was submitted to the Legislature a return over the signature of Arthur Newbery, Assistant Provincial Treasurer, setting forth that the amount then due the banks was $53,442.21. At that very time Mr. Peters was engaged in passing the bill to authorize his $185,000 loan. THE EXAMINER's statement, in this regard, was exactly true. The Patriot ought not to be so ready to charge THE EXAMINER with falsehood and misrepresentation.

The most valuable modern painting is Meissonier's "1814," which was sold to a Frenchman a few years ago for a sum equal to $170,000.

Poem Arrived at Goff Brothers' Too Late for Competition.

Old fogie poets, let them sing of Cinderella's shoe,
We sing a fashion prettier still, and something that is new:
The Blucherette, the Button Kid, the Patent Oxford Tie,
And Slippers of the latest style without a single fly;
Such as now line the shelves of Goff's most fashionable Store,
And not the kind some others sell, "the shoes our fathers wore."
Ye people who live up to date, to you we sing this song,
But not to those, existing still, who live in ages gone;
Buy this year's boots for this year's wear, what everybody wants
Is better boots—Goff Brothers' boots—the boots par excellence.
