

Improvement Seen Women's Fashions

YORK (AP)—Women lock like women this fall will whistle at the new fashions.

It was the consensus of 200 fashion editors viewing opening fall showings of the new group of the New York Institute. Signs of relief and enthusiastic applause greeted first collections, shown by designers Jane E. Erbe, Donald James, Yves Saint-Laurent and Art Knorr.

The new clothes have waistlines in the middle, wider shoulder and a choice of full and slim skirts. Anybody should be happy with such a choice, it is agreed.

The Derby showed a collection of beautiful, wearable clothes with a touch of elegance. A notable collection is notable for luxurious fabrics and feminine styles.

MOODS

Field Brooks, a young American designer showing his first collection for the House of Town, as successor to the late McCordell, presented fashions in two moods—full-skirted and swirled, or military precise. Both were effective.

Dior's New York collection, designed by Saint-Laurent, was dramatic in the late-day evening fashions, which included wicker, French and exciting.

Swirled, draped cocktail dress indicated a period of social brilliance. Notable a flame taffeta dance dress, a Spanish flair, called Chacha, with tiered puffed ruffles at the hemline and a bit of the forming the bodice. In the mood was a black tissue late-day dress with tre-

LITTLE SANDS

Kathryn MacNeill, has arrived at her home in Little Sands, Boston, Mass. Miss MacNeill plans to spend the summer there. She has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Alex Stewart and Stewart and family in Charlottetown.
