"Daily freight service will continue in the Prince County area for a while, but the Taylor, Superintendent of the Island section of the Canadian National Railways said last night.

Freight service will leave six days a week from Thursday at 8:30 a.m. except Sunday and Monday at 10:30 except Sunday. Mr. Taylor said he will not comment last night as to how long the service would continue but he said traffic conditions as long as rail traffic conditions warranted it. This service will begin on April 6.

Previously to this the last train was expected to be Saturday morning going west and returning Monday and then no more passenger trains in the morning, only the tri-weekly freight.

To accommodate passengers travelling to the western end of the province, the west-bound freight will have a passenger car attached on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and also bound on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The federal treasury needed more money, and he hoped the committee would also emphasize this need of the central government whose responsibilities had greatly increased since Confederation.

Mr. Pearson said that since the province's major contribution in part by the constitution, the study conceivably could lead to substantial amendments.

DISCUSSES INSURANCE Turning to the question of provincial "contracting out" of shared programs, Mr. Pearson said that the federal hospital insurance — largest of these programs — probably is the one which is forcing upon the shift in spending and taxing powers is most immediate.

While no other province except Quebec had indicated plans for such a change, he said they are very interested in seeing the formula.

A Montevideo newspaper reported Gionlet stopped at his ranch estate on the Uruguayan border. It did not give details.

There was renewed discussion with no decision on possible reciprocal arrangements for federal and provincial taxes to be levied on each other's government departments and agencies.

Other topics: The 1967 world's fair at Montreal, where all provinces intend to have exhibits; provincial claims to jurisdiction over offshore mineral rights; and requests by some provinces for a new government insurance program.

Mr. Pearson remarked this involved adding, rather than subtracting, out of the hospital program. It would be discussed at the meeting in May of federal and provincial health and welfare ministers.

Confederation's Importance Stressed By Dr. MacKinnon

The history of Confederation since 1864 was the topic of the address given last night by Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of Prince of Wales College at the annual banquet of the P.E.I. Teachers Federation held at the Charlottetown Hotel.

In his remarks, Dr. MacKinnon stressed the value of Confederation to Canadians and the importance of the 1964 celebration here in P.E.I. and particularly in Charlottetown.

Dr. MacKinnon said they have built "better than they knew."

It is the duty of all citizens, Dr. MacKinnon told the group to take part in supporting the two centennials to the fullest just as persons from all parts of Canada took part in the festivities which created Canada.

Other local guests were: Lieutenant Governor W. J. and Mrs. MacDonald, Deputy Mayor and Mrs. Walter Tom, Rev. G. MacDonald and Stuart Williams, director of curriculum for the Department of Education.

SHOOTING LESS LIKELY If they can expand their energies in other ways than shooting, it's all the good," he said.

The battalion headquarters in Nicosia reported double the usual number of Greeks on sand-bagged positions in houses and behind cement garden walls in the Nicosia suburb of Trakou.

Canadian officers said this was a follow-up to a military parade in the capital Wednesday when the Greeks displayed their arms for the benefit of the Turks. The battalion therefore was on special alert.

But the picture in Nicosia was peaceful and idyllic. A British patrol stopped for a swim in the inner harbor where pleasure boats drifted at anchor under a hot sun. After a swim, one soldier stride around wearing only trunks but still carrying his rifle.

There was no swimming for Tremblay and his men, however. First they had to repair a telephone line on the Kyrenia-Nicosia road, then they erected barbed wire to block a goat track leading down from Tremblay's mountain command post to Kyrenia, then there was a second visit to Tremblay and another at the scene of the new strike nearby.
