

Local Audience Delighted With Final Concert Of Series

Brilliant harmony plus equally exceptional solo performances delighted the capacity house that attended last night the third and final concert sponsored by the Charlottetown Community concert Association during the current season.

Billed as "The Chanticleers" the guest artists comprised four outstanding American artists: tenors, William Diard and Richard Wright, baritone Raymond Keast, and bass James Martindale.

In addition to solos by the individual singers, the two-hour program at Prince of Wales College auditorium included a number of classical selections, several traditional Negro spirituals, four musical comedy numbers popular on Broadway and a Gilbert and Sullivan fantasy, all of which were sung in four parts. Although every number was well received, the audience appeared to enjoy the several slightly more than the rest: These included each of the solos, the spirituals, and the all male ensemble's interpretation of "Pinafore." Gilbert and Sullivan's immortal satire on the Royal Navy.

PINAFORE — In "Pinafore" four main characters were portrayed: The Captain played by Mr. Wright; The Admiral, by Mr. Keast; The Cabin Boy, by Mr. Diard, and the villain, "Dick Deadeye", by Mr. Martindale.

Prior to the intermission a group of solos were sung by Messrs. Martindale and Wright. Mr. Martindale sang "La Venetia" an aria from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart; and "Blow Ye Winds", a sea chantey arranged by James Dougherty.

Mr. Wright sang "Cavatina", an aria from Act II of "Faust"; by Gounod, and "Sure on this Shining Night", by the contemporary American composer, Samuel Barber.

The other two artists, Mr. Diard and Mr. Keast sang their solo numbers immediately following the intermission.

Mr. Diard sang "Turandot" an aria from "Nessun Dorma" by Puccini, and the ever-popular "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" as arranged by Quilter.

Baritone Raymond Keast chose as his solo selections "The Drinking Song" from "Hamlet" by Thomas, and "I Love Life" by Mana Zucca.

OTHER SELECTIONS — Other classical selections sung by the four-man group included: "Invocation di Orfeo" by Jacopo Peri; "Che Fiero Costume" by Giovanni Legrenzi; "O Could I But Return" and "Serenade" both by Brahms; and "Devotion" by Strauss.

The group artistry of "The Chanticleers" was fully revealed in their presentation of a group of four Negro spirituals. All arranged for quartette by Donald Smith these were: "Balm of Gilead," "Great Getting Up Morning," "Take My Mother Home" and "Witness."

The program concluded with four Broadway hits: "On The Street Where You Live" from Frederick Loewe's "My Fair Lady"; "Blow High, Blow Low"; from "Carousel" by Richard Rodgers; "All The Things You Are" from "Very Warm For May" by Jerome Kern; and "Love is Sweeping the Country" from "Of Thee I Sing" by George Gershwin.

ENCORES — As encores the guest quartette sang "The Erl King" by Schubert, a southern mountain song, "The Johnson Boys", and a very special arrangement of "Good Night, Ladies" which included a few lines sung by their skilled accompanist, Mr. Jerald Stone.

Last year "The Chanticleers" sang to 138 audiences across the continent. This season the demand for their performance is even greater, and they are now in the midst of a 34-week trans-continental tour.

Atlantic Grants May End Need In 4 Years, Is Hope

OTTAWA (CP) — A newly-elected Progressive Conservative Commons member Tuesday suggested special federal grants to the Atlantic provinces may eliminate the need for such aid in four years.

W. L. M. Creaghan, Westmorland, referred to the Atlantic province adjustment grants of $25,000,000 a year for the next four years. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland each will receive $7,500,000 a year and Prince Edward Island $2,500,000.

Mr. Creaghan, speaking in the throne speech debate, said he hopes that at the end of the four years it won't be necessary for Atlantic province MPs to make further requests for such federal assistance and that incomes in his province of New Brunswick would be at or above the national average.

He also urged construction of the Chignecto Canal to link the Gulf of St. Lawrence with the Bay of Fundy, and the causeway between New Brunswick and P.E.I.

The Chignecto Canal, he said, would cut nearly 500 miles from the route between the St. Lawrence River and South American ports. Its cost would be less than the amount by which the St. Lawrence Seaway already had exceeded its budget.

Mr. Creaghan, criticizing CNR layoffs at Moncton, proposed construction of a new railway station and possibly a CNR railway hotel in the city, and also use of railway shops there to make freight cars and other equipment.
