ANOTHER lot of ladies diamond and other set rings received at G. H. Taylor's.

NEW NOVELS.—The counters of the Diamond Bookstore are laden down with the choicest literature.

MRS. JAMES MAYBRICK.—The last Frank Leslie's Illustrated contains a portrait of this unfortunate woman.

TAKE good care of your beard and keep it clear of grey hairs so as to retain your young looks by using Buckingham's Dye for the whiskers.

THE DIVIDEND.—The New Glasgow steel and forge works pay an 8 per cent. dividend this year on both preferred and common stock.

SCOTT ACT REPEAL.—Fredericton, where the Scott Act has been in agitation for ten years, has forwarded a petition asking for a vote for its repeal.

THE STALLION RACE.—The many hundreds of people who rushed to Boston to witness the great stallion race, are in hard luck. A dispatch states that the race has been postponed until Monday.

"It goes right to the spot," said the old gentleman, who found great benefit in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He was right. Derangement of the stomach, liver, and kidneys are more speedily remedied by this medicine than by any other. It reaches the trouble directly.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.—The P. E. I. hospital has received $35 from the Presbyterian Church, North Bedouque; $8 from Christian Church, New Glasgow; $10 from Rev. G. Harrison, Tryon; $5 from L. O. L. No. 1425; $5.44 Alexandria Baptist Church; $5.29 from Ugg Baptist Church; 2 mats from Jas. Paton & Co.; 7 yards carpet from Beer Bros.; old linen from Mrs. Donald McNeill and from Mrs. Whitman.

SWINDLED BY A CLERK.—A Halifax merchant named Thomas Connors, went away for a holiday trip and left his business in charge of a man named H. A. Robertson. Robertson is alleged to have forged Connors' name to receipts and collected a large sum of money and upon Connors' return obtained his wages and immediately departed for Boston. Connors has telegraphed the chief of the Boston police a description of Robertson, and asked for his arrest on the charge of forgery.

DEAF AND DUMB INSTITUTION.—Mr. Geo. E. Powers, is in the city soliciting contributions for the Fredericton Deaf and Dumb Institution. We understand that a large building is being erected this year in order to accommodate the increased number of pupils and when completed there will be accommodation for about sixty. Pupils from the Island in destitute circumstances are admitted free. Mr. Powers hopes that the citizens will contribute liberally to help along the good work.

THE OAT CROP.—The indications are that the maritime province oat crop will be light this year. In Quebec, which has not been seriously effected by the drought, the crop is reported good. J. J. Bostwick, who quite recently paid a visit to portions of that province, reports the crops generally good this year. Oats in the west appear to be very plentiful. In Chicago on Monday they were quoted at 19 1/2 to 19 3/4, as against 24 1/2 same day last year.

NONSENSE.—The Rev. Hugh O. Pentecost is exceedingly liberal in theory, at least, with the burglar than burglarize. In a sermon at Newark, on Sunday, Sept. 1, he said: "If I knew a burglar was in my house at night, I would go to him as I would to a friend whom I desired to help. If he then desired to take my goods I would make no protest, nor would I cause his arrest. I would follow him to the door and invite him to call again." The reverend gentlemen has perhaps a right to pursue this course in his own house, though we venture the opinion that he would make no such declaration unless he felt sure that his house offers no attractions to burglars. He has no right, however, to preach such demoralizing "rot" to the public, including possible burglars.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Methodist Church, at 11 a. m., Rev. Prof. Clark Braden, and at 7 p. m., Rev. John Read. John McGain will (D. V.) preach on Lord's Day, 22nd inst., at 7 o'clock, p. m., in Meeting House, Upper Great George St. All cordially invited.

A CLIFF TUMBLES DOWN,

Crushing all in its Way.

Great Damage To Property.

MANY PERSONS KILLED.

Relieving the Sufferers.

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.

About half-past seven o'clock last evening the whole city was thrown into intense excitement by a report that a great cliff slide had occurred on Champlain Street. Thousands of people flocked to the scene to find that the report was authentic. Several thousand tons of solid rock had crushed down with terrific force from almost under the King's Bastion on the Citadel and a little distance west of the end of Dufferin Terrace, and completely demolished several stone and brick dwelling houses on Champlain Street, some three hundred feet below.

B Battery, the police force and fire brigade corps were early on the scene and rendered valuable assistance. The night was intensely dark and a strong gale was blowing, yet notwithstanding these difficulties everyone worked heroically.

Up to midnight 13 bodies and 16 wounded had been taken out, and it is believed that 175 bodies still remain buried. The bodies are so mangled as to affect the strongest men. Some of the wounded had broken arms and legs, others were badly crushed and mutilated in all shapes. Under some of the houses crushed cries for help could be heard, but no immediate aid could be given.

Although soldiers and citizens worked like trojans little progress was made in recovering the bodies, owing to the stupendous mass of rocks and debris encumbering the ruins. More rocks were continually tumbling down, and the people of the locality were fleeing with dread, lest the whole boulder forming the highest point of Quebec would give way. Accidents were occurring every moment to the rescuers. The crashing of timbers and falling of huge rocks put the lives and limbs of the volunteers in continual danger.

The mass of rocks detached from the cliff's side left a vacant space of extraordinary dimensions. It has worked immediately under Dufferin terrace, undermining the support of the great promenade, so that it is now unsafe.

The northeast bastion of the citadel is perpendicular with the cliff sides. Huge rock masses still menacing the locality, standing as they are on the flank of the mountain. It will take several days to haul out the bodies from under the huge mass of debris.

The damage will, it is said, exceed $1,000,000. The houses in the locality were built of stone and brick, and inhabited by ship laborers, etc.

Communication with Diamond Harbor was cut off by this landslide, which covers the road in a solid mass for some 300 feet in length, and from 15 to 25 feet wide.

The telegraph, telephone and electric light wires are all down.

The accident is accounted for by the fact that the recent two fearful days of heavy rain, succeeding a month of dry weather, filled the crevices in the parched and thirsty soil, and thus loosened its hold.

The scenes witnessed around the place of the disaster were in every sense of the word heartrending. Here a mother sought her child, and a desolate man dug in the debris in hopes of finding his wife. Shrieks and cries filled the air.

No pen could describe the terrible scenes.

The World's Fair.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. The committee on the site and buildings of the World's Fair this afternoon decided that the location should be between 97th and 127th Streets, 4th Avenue and North River, to include the Riverside Park and Morningside Park, and property contiguous thereto. The probable cost of the buildings to be erected is $6,200,000.
