another pacer bought by a New Brunswick party is Glendale Cisco, a three-year-old by that good Ontario sire, Admiral Grattan. He will be in the stable of Hayes Ashley, St. Stephen, N. B.

Joe O'Brien has been going great guns in California and the latest issue of the Harness Horse shows that in 85 starts he was 15 times first, seven times second and nine times third, to top the list of drivers. Next to him is Harry Burright who in 82 starts was 14 times first, 16 times second and seven times third. In money won Harry Burright is in front with $21,217 while Joe O'Brien winning $19,741.25. Joe's new move in taking over the stable of Sol Camp means that he will be giving up the horses owned by A.L. Derby of Wichita, Kansas, and there are some wonderful trotters and pacers among them. The three-year-old Great Colby, has won five straight races and last Saturday lowered his record to 2.04—the fastest mile ever trotted by a three-year-old in the spring of any year. He will also lose the three-year-old pacer Mailman, that he gave a record of 2.05 recently, and many other prospects.

The following is taken from Postscripts, written by the Los Angeles sports writer, Paul Zimmerman: "No one man or woman has been able to build up a racing stable in California in modern days which has been able to hold its own with such establishments as Harriman's Arden Homestead Farm, Castleton Farm, Hanover Shoe Farms, Hayes Fair Acres, Good Time Stable, etc., but now there are signs that a new giant in racing is on the way. This was shown by the signing the other day of Joe O'Brien, one of the greatest trainers and reinsmen to come out of Canada, by Sol Camp of Shafter, Cal. It is not too far-fetched to assume that O'Brien and Camp can swing the balance of power back to the West before many years. Sol Camp is one of the fabulous men of the West, and his interest in standard-breds is little short of a passion.

"Camp moved into the sunbaked San Joaquin Valley with 20 bucks in his jeans. He parlayed potatoes to cotton to cattle and now is reputed to be worth in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. In the course of accumulating this fortune through hard work and careful planning he became interested in harness racing, and when the Western Harness Racing Association opened its first meeting at Santa Anita he dipped into the potato barrel and bought horses on a serious scale. He topped the yearling sales in 1947, '48, and '49, going as high as $42,000 for one unbroken youngster, White Hanover, which because of some trouble could not even be trained.

"In the long run his purchases have paid off. He owns Prince Jay, greatest harness horse to come into the possession of a Californian in modern times. The Prince has established the least than the world's records. Also in the Camp stable are such fine standardbreds as Mighty Sun, Scotch Victor, Dazzleway and Red Streak. Camp, although he built up the calibre of his string, never had a top trainer and driver at his command. He's been trying for over a year to get O'Brien. It must be assumed that Sol paid heavily on the line to get his man because O'Brien has been one of the leading drivers at Western harness meetings since the beginning. There seems to be little doubt but what Camp, now that he has Little Joe on the lines, may well become the dominant figure in the harness picture. He's quite apt to follow up this move by wading into the eastern markets again and surround O'Brien with the best balanced stable in the United States. P.S.: Sol Camp never has been one to do things by halves."

The Week at S.D.U.

The results of the elections for officers of the A.A.A. were very close indeed. Peter Dunphy won the position of president over Fred Driscoll by one vote. Jerome Quinn had six votes more than James Johnston in the running for the position of secretary, and Stanley Deighan was elected vice-president, having a noticeable lead over Simeon Farmer. To Wallie Reid, Jack Weir and Fred Driscoll, those who have been the president, secretary, and vice-president, respectively for the past year, and all the managers of the various sports who also comprise the executive of the A.A.A., we offer our congratulations for their efficient work during the year. Besides rendering their services for the cause of sports on the campus, we know that these students have benefited educationally from their administrative work.

The S. D. U. gymnasium was the scene of much activity a week ago today. This year a basketball tournament was planned by the Physical Fitness Department for the minor leagues on the island and the majority of the games were played here in the gym. Four championships were decided at the tournament. Prince Street School had a very successful day as they carried over the Championship in both the boys' and girls' interscholastic divisions. Prince of Wales won the Girls' Championship defeating Prince Street. But the championship which interests us most here is the Juvenile Championship. Competing for this trophy were the juvenile teams from St. Dunstan's and P. W. C. The Saints won both games in the total point series to win the round by a 77-54 score. The members of this team, some of whom some day will be the stars of our first team, deserve credit for their performance as does their capable coach, Jack Reardon. The winning team consisted of Frank Slowey, Tommy Kane, Bob Moon, Charles Roche, William Farmery, Joe Murphy, "Bud" Lawlor and Russell McInnis.

The most important events in the past week, as far as athletics were concerned at least, were the finals in the Island Basketball Championship. Ever since the schedule for the Saints was finished in first place, have kept on practicing to be ready to meet the winner of the semi-finals, either the R. C. A. F. or the Y. M. C. A. It happened that the former emerged the victors and the dates for the finals were arranged for Monday and Wednesday of last week. Then the team learned that the captain, Pete Dunphy would not be able to be in the line-up in the initial game at least. The boys knew they would miss the agile performer on the court but they were still confident of the outcome. Then Monday rolled around and in the afternoon, Jack Reardon, the league's highest scorer, went to the hospital suffering from what appeared to be appendicitis. This was really a hard break for the Saints and as the remaining members of the team plus Frank Slowey, a member of the Juvenile team, got into the cars for the trip to Summerside, they realized the important vacancies in their ranks, but they were determined to play the game and to do their best. But another break was yet to come. In the first few minutes of play, Clarence MacDonald, steady and dependable guard of the Saints, sprained his ankle and was therefore unable to play the rest of the game. Just how the rest of the team played in such a way so as to be leading the powerful Airforce quintet by five points at the end of the first half, and then to hold back the latter's drive to only a twelve point lead at the end of the game is something which every student at St. Dunstan's would like to have witnessed. Truly, they must have done their best.

Then the stage was set at the S. D. U. gym for the final act of basketball for another year on the island. The Saints had not given up hope of capturing the crown, but how much were their hopes revived when they learned that the two top stars, Pete Dunphy and Jack Reardon, would be able to play in the final game! With his ankle well strapped, Clarence MacDonald would also be with them. When the team paraded out on the court Wednesday night, it was the same old team which had made such a great bid for the N. B.-P.E.I. Intercollegiate Championship. The Airmen started the scoring but had only reached the five-point mark when the Saints overtook them and steadily increased their lead from then on. It was necessary for the Saints to win by thirteen points in order to gain the Championship. At the end of the first half, they were leading by nine points and then in the second half, they increased their lead to twenty three points at the end of the game. Dunphy and Reardon played a wonderful game, the former having a total of nineteen points and the latter, fifteen. This was one Championship the Saints were sure of. Next year it is expected that all the members of the team except two will be returning, and with some capable replacements, we may anticipate a strong team. The two players who are graduating are David Kennedy and Fred Goye. Both boys received their Athletics D's for their participation in this sport and St. Dunstan's is grateful for the honor they brought her in sports.

On Monday evening, Mr. Albert Batten, National Director of First Aid, visited our campus and completed the examination of the First Aid class which has been instructed by John Mullally. Afterwards, Mr. Batten awarded the certificates of the Standard First Aid exams to the successful students. Before we enumerate these students, we should like to give special mention to the instructor, John Mullally, for his efforts in this important phase of education. Those who received certificates were: Floyd McLaughlin, Lawrence Jovin, Joseph McQuaid, William Cormier, Bernard Walsh, Alton Craig, John Trainor, Gerard McCarty, Leo Fisher, Andre Villeneuve, Robert Lesrosiers, George Mullally, Louis McCloskey, Billy MacDonald, John Doherty, William Quinn, Tommy Grant, Earl Handrahan, and Jerome Quinn.

Until next week we may leave you with this thought: No occupation implants so speedy and so effective a love of peace as a country life.—Plutarch. From S. D. U. to all of you, health and happiness!

and song sparrows, still living, stuffed down their hungry gullets. Years ago while on the farm I once shot a crow headed nestward with two tiny young robins in its beak. One was still living when I picked it up. A farmer's wife once said to me: "You should be ashamed of yourself, shooting crows when they have young in the nest." I didn't argue with her. I asked this question: "Your cat brings to your house one or two robins or song birds every day... Isn't that right?" There was a hesitant "yes." "Did you ever stop to think what happens to the helpless young of those birds?" She had no answer for that one. She turned without a word and walked into the house with a thoughtful expression on her face.

Adjudicator Critical Of Regina Players

SAINT JOHN, N. B. May 2 (CP) — The third act of a production by the Regina Little Theatre Society received the most favorable criticism from Adjudicator Michel St-Denis in the Dominion Drama Festival Wednesday night.

He found the first and second acts of "Tomorrow The World," by James Gow and Arnaud d'Usseau, "ponderous and heavy going."

Wednesday afternoon the Adjudicator had more favorable criticism for the Halifax Theatre Arts Guild presentation of Philip Barry's "Second Threshold."

The matinee performance was the third play of the festival, all three having been produced by companies in the Atlantic Provinces.

The adjudicator said he was glad to congratulate the Halifax players for their ability to be "so professional and so smart."

He wished that in future they would bring "the same qualities to something richer from a human point of view."

Mr. St-Denis said he didn't like the type of play—a study of a man who lost his enthusiasm for living and planned suicide in some apparently accidental manner.

break our hearts if we knew the number of eggs that never get a chance to hatch. Hungarian partridge do not begin laying until well on in May when grass and other foliage is well advanced and thus escape much of the nest losses suffered by earlier nesting species. Now is the time to whittle down on the number of cats around a farm, there are more than are needed on most, and to look to it that the hunting dog is not allowed to roam at large. This spring I heard of a farmer complaining that his hunting dog had learned to eat eggs from robbing pheasant nests and now has commenced to rob the hen nests. It's a case now of who gets the eggs first, the farmer's wife or the dog. This is a case of chickens coming home to roost and I can't say that I feel too sorry for this particular farmer hunter.
