TOO DEEP A BOW

HEADLEY, England (AP) — Prince Charles took a deep bow to the audience at a school concert here Friday night—and his school cap fell off. The nine-year-old heir to the throne, who had been taking part in carol singing with some of his classmates at Cheam school, looked most embarrassed.

C. C. F. Takes Stock After 25 Years Of Political Life

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Co - operative Commonwealth Federation, marking 25 years of existence, looked to its future at four Ontario banquets Saturday night celebrating the anniversary.

Stanley Knowles, member for Winnipeg North Centre, told a Toronto banquet the next 25 years belong to the CCF in Canada and Social Democrats the world over.

Harold Winch, member for Vancouver East, said in Timmins that the CCF is "destiny's darling."

Hazen Argue, member for Assiniboine, said in Port Arthur that now is the time for the party to see where it is going, where it should go and what can best be done to help the nation.

Party leader M. J. Coldwell gave a more definite indication of the future when he told a Windsor meeting some of the legislation the CCF hoped to press during the next six months.

Mr. Coldwell, member for Rosetown-Biggar, said the chief aim would be a British-style national health plan with free medical attention for everyone.

WEIGHT ON WEALTHY

He told 200 party members and officials from Essex County that money to pay for the plan should be raised by a graduated tax. "The more you have, the more you pay," he said.

He said the CCF had won gains for Canadians by forcing governments to adopt such measures as old age pensions, the right to organize, housing legislations, unlowances and central banking.

He paid tribute to the late J.S. Woodsworth, founder of the CCF, as "a great Canadian dreamer like Sir John A. MacDonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurer." Mr. Lucille Woodsworth, 84, widow of the founder, attended.

Mr. Winch, addressing the Timmins CCF club, said history shows socialism is the answer to the world's economic and political problems.

Mr. Argue, CCF whip, cited Douglas Fisher's victory in Port Atrhur in the June 10 federal election over C. D. Howe, trade minister in the Liberal government, as the most siginificant victory of the election.

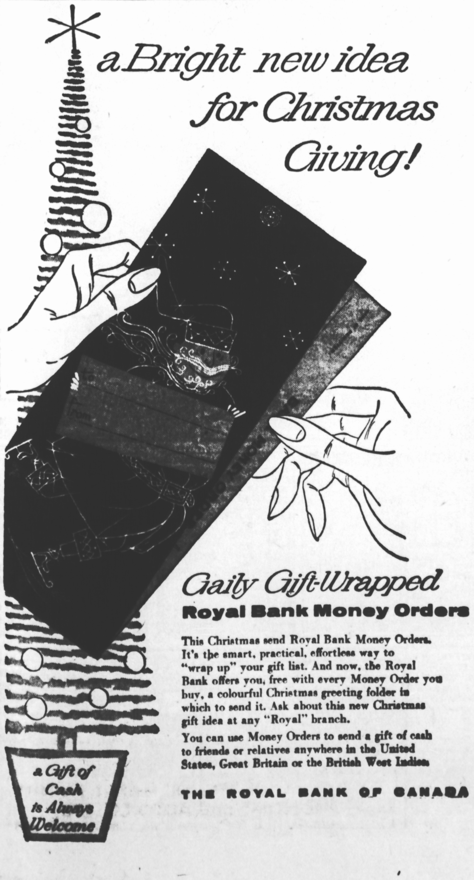
SLAPS BUDGET METHOD

Mr. Knowles said Finance Minister Fleming broke tradition when he presented the budget in committee where it cannot be properly debated and there is no opportunity for a motion of no confidence.

Mr. Argue said Defence Minister Pearkes' program wastes money on obsolete weapons. He said a greater contribution to peace would be made by taking $500,000,000 from the defence budget for foreign aid.

WET BUT PRETTY

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Employees in a waste paper processing plant Friday dug $2,550 in large bills out of a soggy mass of paper being chewed up by a shredding machine. Work was stopped at the plant after Clarence Stewart, 28, spotted a $100 bill. Police said the money may have been mixed with waste paper from a bank or other business firm.

TARIFF HEARINGS


OTTAWA (CP) — The tariff board will hold public hearings starting Feb. 10 on all existing tariff classifications covering wastes and rags. The hearings are another phase of the study of the entire textiles tariff structure ordered by Finance Minister Fleming earlier this year.
