Bees in School
Studying bees in class is a sweet science project in Toronto's Runnymede Public School. Kenneth Rose brought animation to his biology classes when he installed a beehive on the window sill. Now youngsters learn valuable lessons from the bees' highly-organized society, and enjoy the honey as well.

Fight For Justice
He willed them nothing but his ruined lungs. This is the dramatic story of Bea Zucco who spent 10 years struggling to prove to authorities that her husband had died of a dread occupational disease. How she won the long fight for justice is compassionately told in our magazine section this weekend.

Is There
Another
Hockey Team?
Might very well be the question asked by Frank Selke. Sports Editor Andy O'Brien assesses the Montreal Canadiens' "windfall" from the N.H.L. draft, and the prospects for the Habs for the upcoming season.

Battle of Britain
He was the eyes of "the few," this adopted Canadian industrialist whose invention meant the difference between victory and defeat in the Battle of Britain. 18 years later, as we recall this grim siege, Staff Writer Russell Spurr retells, for Weekend readers, the story of how the battle was won by the R.A.F. — and radar.

ing off the series is versatile cillo.

for
Smart
Separates Mixing and matching will be the key to smart shopping this fall. The new jumpers, skirts and tops will be gay and giddy in color and design. And texture of fabric is coming to the fore this season. Weekend's Doyle Klyn describes these suave separates which are seen enhancing the superb scenery of the Seignior Club at Montebello, Quebec.

Baking Shortcuts
No longer is the better homemaker regarded as one who uses flour instead of cake or biscuit mixes. Adopting these wonderful inventions to provide shortcuts for your own favorites is the secret says Weekend Food Editor Helen Gougeon. The modern cook will welcome these mouth-watering, time-saving recipes like Pumpkin Spice Cake and Savory Onion Bread.

Aquatic Gold
Having trouble keeping goldfish pets? George Aston probably knows the reason why. Weekend Magazine visits his Ontario hatchery where he raises as many as 5,000,000 at one time. For timid would-be owners, this article should be a re-assurance.
