

The Question of the Day.

The Patriot's hope and endeavor is, evidently, to injure the Local Government because the Princess Louise was, from some cause, while in Charlottetown, cribbed, cabined and confined on board the Druid.

Now, this, we suppose, would have involved communications over the signature of the Provincial Secretary; and would not the Lieutenant-Governor justly feel indignant if the distinguished visitors were taken out of his hands?

THE SHOOTING OF BOUTILLIER.—Captain J. A. Clark, the man who shot Boutillier, the wretch who outraged the little girl at Caribou, N. B., related the particulars of the shooting before the coroner's jury.

THE STORM OF TUESDAY last appears to have been very severe along the north coast of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

COLONEL PRICE LEWES, Inspector of Artillery for the Maritime Provinces, arrived in this city on Tuesday last.

THE Hon. McKenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, is now visiting the city. He is at the "Rankin."

A Metrical Welcome to H. R. H. Princess Louise.

BY C. F. YATES.

In the days we now call olden, from across old ocean came To our little sea-girt Island, bearing an illustrious name,

One,—the first-born of Victoria; he, the heir to Britain's throne; Welcomes flew to greet the stranger; all hearts beat in unison.

Borne thro' cove, and over meadows, [on the breast of summer's breeze, Now a fonder, heartier welcome greets the coming of Louise.

Hear the reason, mighty Briton,—in each proud Canadian's heart Queen and Empress reigns thy Princess;—England's Queen in counterpart.

Cheer! ye Isles-men,—let the echoes, bounding o'er the white-capped seas, Ring throughout the tri-une Kingdom:—we have learned to love Louise.

Welcome, welcome Royal lady; welcome daughter of our Queen; See how Sol that word has penciled o'er our Isle with golden sheen.

We, a dot on ocean's bosom, greet thee fondly here to-day; Homage, fealty, devotion, prostrate at thy feet we lay.

Prouder cities deck with splendor stately mansions, busier marts, We are "parva sub ingenti,"—but we give thee loving hearts.

Yet, we fain would tell thee, Princess, that each Isles-man holds one other Fonder greeting in abeyance, for our primal love,—thy Mother.

Hearts throughout the wide Dominion of "this Canada of ours," Triumph in her glorious triumphs,—sorrow in her sorrowing hours.

Scarcely have the unbraided tear-drops from our eyes dissolved in mist, Sorrow-born, when Death kissed Alice, as her dying babe she kissed.

But to-day those hearts send gladly, on the pinions of the breeze, Welcomes for another daughter,—for her living child, Louise.

Alas, methinks that gentle zephyr, stealing softly o'er our Isle, Tints each leaf and petaled flower with the semblance of a smile.

Did that zephyr yester-evening, as it crept across the seas, Touch thy cheek, and take, while lingering round thy lips, that smile, Louise?

If it be so, all we ask thee:—when thy sojourn here is done, When again in pensive quiet,—thou, from far off Albion

Will but let one kind thought wander, let one smile go soaring far Through the gathering gloom of evening, to the bosom of some star;

Then, that raptur'd planet sailing o'er a wide celestial plain We may watch, and see the radiance of thy world-known smile again.

Cheer! ye Isles-men,—let the echoes, bounding o'er the white-capped seas, Tell Victoria how we thank her, for the best of gifts,—Louise.

YESTERDAY an interesting event occurred at the residence of one of our most prominent citizens, the official notice of which will be found by reference to the proper column. The happy couple left in the evening train on a bridal tour to Niagara Falls, New York, and several other places.

ADVISED from Murray Harbor report that on Tuesday evening the body of James McKay (Donald's son) drifted ashore at Little Sands.

THE Rev. H. Lyman, of Montreal, is at the "Rankin."
