

ELLEN'S DIARY

Peonies Are Remindful Of Old-Time Gardens

We found a crimson "piney-rose" - a peony blossoming today. Remindful of old-time gardens, it was of sweet paths between rows of gooseberry bushes; and those of the black currant and red where when fruited, rich jewels were to be harvested - emeralds to make fanciful necklaces for little maids passing there, black lustrous pearls, and the green of rubies. Perhaps after all those gems of fancy were more comfortable to wear, and certainly not the worry of those of substance, nor so costly!

Peonies and cabbage roses, sweet William and sweet hay, sparrow-grass and ribbon grass, bleeding heart and boys' love, and neat little beds of pansies, those garden of once grew. The garden, dressed in a serviceable cotton frock of ankle length, and wearing a wide brimmed hat of straw, saw to this neatness; saw too almost without fail, that folks young and older carried off with them at parting, a nosegay or bouquet in lovely souvenir of their visit.

The weeds come to our garden - appear too soon in the choice growing weather of now. But 't flicker with some of the buttercups' gold in his plumage taps at an eave. Thrushes sing from the Woodlands. And the lush greens of early summer flood on the farmlands. And thus our wedding becomes lightened.

"We have only ten ewes left now to do," Mack reported, this evening on the progress of the shearing. "We should get them done tomorrow, if all goes well. And the lambs docked as well."

"Oh dear," Peter's voice was sad. "I wouldn't like to see that!"

I would have to look away. Do they cry?"

"It's all over - it's done so quickly, they haven't time to cry. Only a split second it takes for each one, you might say," Mack replied.

"Why don't they use electric shears at the shearing?" a caller of today inquired. "They do the chore in no time. Why, in a matter of a few minutes a sheep is bared!"

The main reason is that there is no line of electricity leading in to that other farm. There is no house to require it. What a quiet peaceful place that is, though we think, when we have chance to hear a rustle in the grass or a stirring in the leaves of the lovely, old trees, thoughts of former dwellers, or shades of those long gone return wistfully there.

According to a recent X-ray, Alex's arm is mending nicely, though it will be a while yet before he will regain its use. Meanwhile without any ache or pain his days are busy and full.

Every bantam chick, new-born, answered the roll call today, to the delight of their owners, the dainty but plain little fluffs that are the pullets, and the larger more colorful males, in the majority. Barn-cats are being well fed, so that they will have no inclination to include tasteful incidentals of chicken in their faring!

"Well, well, Ellen, this won't do," James says rising from the old armchair, as the old clock strikes a late hour. "I believe you would sit there till morning yet 'until the cows come home!"

"Until tomorrow," - Diary - Good-night.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE CRAWFORD June Wedding Solemnized At Park Royal United

The marriage took place on June 11th, 1966, at the Park Royal United Church, Charlottetown, of Cheryl Ann Knox, daughter of Mrs. Peter MacEachern, Charlottetown, and the late John B. Knox, and George Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Crawford, Charlottetown. Rev. J. K. Tye performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of spring flowers, and white ribbon bows, rosebud and lily-of-the-valley marked the guest nests. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by the organist, Leslie Hiscott, as the bride entered the church, during the singing of the register, the soloist, Harley Ings, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her grandfather Miner MacNeven of Victoria, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white bemberg-peau with lace bodice, long, blue-on-the-skirt front and on the cathedral length train. The four-tier-bouffant veil of tulle illusion was held with a large fabric rose with rhinestone trimmed petals. She carried a bouquet of red roses, entwined with ivy.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. William Wood as matron of honor, in blue, and Elaine Carver and Elaine MacKay as bridesmaids, in blush pink, wore identically styled A-line gowns of crystal charm with white lace bodices and trains, and wedding-ring-headresses with shoulder length veils of tulle. Their bouquets were presents of carnations in shades to match their gowns.

William Wood was best man and the ushers were Glendon Crawford, brother of the groom and Norman MacPhee. A reception for 100 guests was held in the main foyer of the Confederation Centre. Brenda MacQuarrie, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book. The mother of the bride received in a blue lace gown with matching three-quarter coat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a two-piece costume of turquoise brocade silk, with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

On a honeymoon trip to Yellowknife, via Bar Harbour, Mrs. Crawford wore a yellow suit with a hat of yellow and white flowers, white accessories and a corsage of yellow-tinted carnations.

Home Crafts, Handicrafts Prize Money Is Offered

Prize money totalling $1,655.00 is being offered by the Women's Division of the Canadian National Exhibition to handicrafts and home crafts experts across the country. More than 4,000 entries are expected to pour into the Queen Elizabeth Building as talented Canadian amateur artists, handicrafters and home makers enter the contest.

Elsa Jenkins, Manager of Women's Activities, reminds the experts that entry forms must be in the CNE offices by June 24th. "The items to be judged do not have to arrive until July 21st," she adds. "So you still have time to prepare special work for judging, if you get your entry form in now." Entry forms and catalogues listing categories are available through the Women's Division of the CNE, Exhibition Park, Toronto 2B, or phone EM 6-7551.

Categories cover all phases of Handicraft and Home Craft. There is pottery and ceramic sculpture, metal crafts, wood carving and leather work. Hand woven articles and rugs of various styles and techniques cause much interest. There are quilts, afghans, crochets, lace, tatting and netting and many kinds of knitting. Of course there are also sections for needlepoint, petit point and special sewing classes. In the Hobby classes, there are sections on oil painting, driftwood, stuffed toys and textile design. In addition there are special classes for Work of the Blind, Hospital Patients, and people from Homes for the Aged or those 65 years of age or more. One of the most popular competitions is in the new hobby field - Candle Making. Sponsored by The Candle Making Institute, this category offers a first prize of $250. Other special classes include Hat Making, and also the Tea Cozy Competition, sponsored by Saldade Foods.

Judging will be done by a panel of experts, and prize winning entries will be exhibited in the Exhibit Hall of the Queen Elizabeth Building during the C. N. E., Aug. 19th to Sept. 5th.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN Saladettes Are Tasty And Vitamin-Packed

The word "saladette" originated in this column. It means a small individual salad - any kind except sweet salads, served as an appetizer at the beginning of luncheon or dinner. Any salad green, or a mixture of greens tossed with non-sweet French dressing, may be used as the foundation, a small portion of a suitable salad mixture is placed atop the greens, a colorful topping garnish such as a bit of tomato, or slice of radish adds a nice touch.

Dependent Choice
What is a suitable salad mixture? One that supplements or balances the remaining elements of the meal. The choice may depend on utilizing the oddments (small amounts of leftovers) in the refrigerator. If the main course is deficient in protein, oddments of cold meat or fish or even scrambled egg may be combined with chicken, or with occasional cooked rice, then mixed with mayonnaise or home-made boiled oil dressing (recipe next week). Precede a full-size meat dish, as on our menu in today's column, with a fruit or vegetable saladette, that looks and tastes glamorous, furnishes valuable vitamins and minerals, provides healthful bulk to help curb unbridled appetites. This helps the budget by making the expensive meat go further. Interesting easy-to-do recipes for saladettes will be columned often this summer.

Sunbeams Club Of Clyde River Holds Closing

The members of the Clyde River 4-H Sewing Club, the Sunbeams, held their Achievement Day recently at the home of the leader, Annie Boyle, with a large attendance of mothers and friends. The president, Colleen McKinnon, presided, welcoming the guests and opening the meeting with the club's pledge and motto, Doreen Beer, the secretary, presented the yearly report, and the leader also gave an interesting resume of the year's work.

The judges, Nora Macdonald and Anne Hamilton, representing the PEI Women's Institute Branch spoke commending the girls for the excellence of their work and the high marks all made. Mr. Robert Adams, President, Clyde River WI and Mrs. Charles Hyde, principal of the school spoke briefly, as did Mrs. R. D. Matheson, the Sunbeams' first leader, expressing their congratulations and best wishes to the members, and she hopes the club would continue the work faithfully as it had in the past.

Karen MacNeill read an address and Kathy McKinnon presented the leader with a gift in warm appreciation of her continuing interest and assistance in the work of the club. In a public-speaking contest, Ann MacPhail and Sandra MacNeill were chosen to represent the club at the forthcoming 4-H rally in North River. The members displayed the various articles of the required course, which included sewing (by hand and machine) knitting, crochet, patching, darning, to the mothers and guests, and also modelled the aprons, blouses and skirts they had made, with Mrs. George M. Dixon, as commentator.

The winners were: 1st Year (1) Karen MacNeill, (2) Lorna MacPhee, (3) Kathy McKinnon. 2nd Year: (1) Colleen McKinnon, Intermediate: (1) Sandra MacNeill, 3rd Year: (1) Ann MacPhail, (2) Doreen Beer. Lorna MacPhee conveyed thanks on behalf of the members to the judges, mothers and friends for the assistance and encouragement given them throughout the course, and to the leader's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyle, for their kindly hospitality. The meeting closed with the national anthem after which refreshments were served by the members and leader and a social hour enjoyed.
