Wins Gamble With 'Copters

VANCOUVER (CP) — Carlyle Clare Agar 10 years ago gambled his security — as an operator of a chick hatchery — to launch a company that now ranks large among flying industries. It's the Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., world's largest commercial operator of helicopters.

It started with a light plane giving joy-rides at $2 each. Today it owns 14 Bell helicopters and six Sikorsky S55s, altogether worth more than $1,500,000.

Latest of the company's ventures is a two-room school for helicopter pilots. One "room" is at nearby Ladner. The other is on mountain peaks at Pentiction, 160 miles east of Vancouver.

Students like FO. Carl Bond of Edmonton, one of 24 RCAF pilots, are learning the tricks of helicopter flight. The RCAF-Okanagan training contract is official recognition of one of flying's real success stories.

Mr. Agar says he gambled his security when he left the chick hatchery. He's vice-president of the company's helicopter flying operations.

Topographical surveys, petroleum exploration, mercy flights, pipeline patrols and the search by air for uranium are a few of the tasks tackled.

Queen's Member
national average.

Mr. MacLean analyzed the causes of lack of employment in the Maritimes as follows:

Lack of suitable markets for products of the Maritime Provinces.

Lack of cheap power.

Low ratio of defence contracts awarded to concerns in the Maritimes.

High freight costs.

A BRIGHTER SIDE

At the same time, the Queen's member said there is a brighter side to the picture. Due to the new techniques evolved for the quick-freezing of products of farm and sea, and the advance in food packaging, processing and marketing, farmers of the coastal provinces are in a somewhat stronger position than before these innovations.

As far as P.E.I. is concerned, Mr. MacLean said, some relief is being afforded by Federal Works including the new Federal Building at Charlottetown. At the same time, the Maritimes are not progressing economically at the same rate as is the rest of Canada.

Some betterment might be obtained, he said, if a more economical method could be found for producing electric power from coal, of which the Maritimes have a surplus.

"We in the Maritimes," he concluded, "can, with our great resources, work out our own salvation, but we must have an economic environment so that we can share fully in the fruits of our own endeavor."

Proposes Gov't Build Natural Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal construction of a natural gas pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada was proposed Wednesday by CCF Commons member.

Fred S. Zaplitny, Dauphin, said the government should take over the project from Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. and build it as a public utility at once to help alleviate unemployment.

He said the government apparently is resigned to the company's decision that it will not proceed with the $350,000,000 project this year because of collapse of negotiations with the government for federal financial backing.

"Certainly here is a clear case where the federal government could proceed on its own and build the pipeline as a public utility, if not the whole distance to eastern Canada then certainly as far as Winnipeg this year."

Mr. Zaplitny spoke on the seventh day of a debate on unemployment which has continued intermittently since March 1.

Indications are the debate will continue next week. It was adjourned at the close of the half-day Wednesday sitting with no vote in sight on Progressive Conservative and CCF want-of-confidence motions on the issue.

Today the Commons will debate foreign policy and on Friday probably will resume study of government legislation.

West Bidding Today For Grey Cup Contest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Western Canada's drive to wrest the Grey Cup football game from the east moves into high gear today when the country's top football teams try to win the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union.

Final decision on the venue of the 1955 fall classic is expected to be made at the CRU executive meeting Friday and general meeting Saturday.

Western officials, spurred by Edmonton Eskimos' thrilling 25-20 victory over Montreal Alouettes last fall, Wednesday drafted final details of their bid to bring the Grey Cup game to Vancouver's spacious Empire Stadium this fall.

"We are recommending that the Grey Cup final alternate between east and west each year with Vancouver as the 1955 site," said R. H. Gillies, secretary of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The final, the largest single-game sport attraction in Canada, has been a fixture at Toronto since 1941 with the exception of 1944 when the game was played in Hamilton.

Eisenhower On Yalta Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, commenting on publication of the Yalta papers, said today there is nothing to be gained by going back 10 years to try to show whether someone may have been wrong.

Eisenhower was asked whether he believed publication of the Yalta documents by the state department last week might "cramp the spirits of the party" at the future big-power conferences.

He replied he hoped that would not occur. He added he feels nothing is gained by going back in what he called the light of after events, and showing that someone may have been wrong or right.

The Yalta conference of President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill in 1945 has long been the target of Republican criticism in Congress.

Attlee Steps In

some of those supporting the Attlee amendment vote only to convince the party's 6,400,000 paid-up members that Bevan will get a fair trial, right-wingers said.

NO VOTE ON EXPULSION

The motion for expulsion never got to the voting stage because of Attlee's amendment.

Voting for the amendment, besides Attlee, were the six Bevan followers on the executive and it is believed a minority of Labor union delegates including James Stafford of the Railroad Workers.

His powerful union demanded Tuesday that Bevan be kept in the party.

Sources said the sub-committee will ask Bevan to sign "a document giving very specific undertakings on his future conduct." If he re-uses, they said, there is no choice but expulsion.

CALM DELIBERATION

Wednesday's meeting was relatively free of fireworks. A delegate said the discussion represented a "close and earnest" analysis of Bevan's position.

Bevan has been at odds with the right-wing leadership since he quit the Attlee cabinet in April, 1951, in a dispute over defence expenditure. The Attlee-Bevan feud came to a head in a hydrogen-bomb debate in the House of Commons three weeks ago.

Last Wednesday the parliamentary Labor party — composed of the 293 Labor MPs — voted to oust Bevan for defying the leaders. This led to the meeting of the party's governing body.

If Bevan is expelled next Wednesday he can still appeal to the annual party conference in October.

Capacity House At Kinsmen Show

Another capacity house saw the Kinsmen presentation of the Centennial Varieties "55" at Prince of Wales College last night which met with a repetition of the acclaim accorded the premier appearance in Tuesday night.

The production was staged by Ivan Doherty and Amble Weatherbie with Ken MacKenzie as Chorus Director and script and continuity by Loman McAulay.

The presentation was under the distinguished patronage of His Honour Lieut Governor T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse, The Hon. Premier A. W. Matheson and Mrs. Matheson, His Worship Mayor J. D. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart.

The show will be on for a third time tonight.

Drifts of up to 10 feet were reported in Quebec province. Hydro emergency repair crews were out mending circuits broken by branches.

SLEET AND SNOW
A mixture of rain, sleet and snow showered over the Maritimes as the storm moved northward to the Atlantic late Wednesday. Cooler air was expected to move up from the south, bringing clear skies to most of the east today.

Bitter Arctic air held the Prairies in a late wintery grip Wednesday and is expected to stay today. Wind-packed snow blocked roads in Saskatchewan and part of Manitoba. Moose Jaw had 13 inches of snow.

Temperatures as low as 26 below zero were reported in northern Alberta.

Mystery of Three Bodies Cleared Up

NANAIMO, B. C. (CP) — The mystery of the three skeletons of young children found on a lonely Vales Island beach was cleared up Tuesday.

They were from an ancient Indian burial ground near here and probably had been there 150 years, reported A. L. Kendall of Boat Harbor, five miles south of here.

Mr. Kendall for three years has been making a study of the old Indian burial ground. There are perhaps 1,000 bodies in the burial site.

The children's bodies, one intact in a mummified condition and the skulls and bones of the two others, were found by two boys trapping on the island.

Youth's Prompt Action Averts Possible Tragedy

The prompt action of Regis McQuaid, 13 year old school boy from West Kent School was responsible for saving the life of a young five year old child who was playing on an ice cake near the roadway at Victoria Park.

During the Curlers' Parade on Tuesday a large number of children had assembled near Government House to view the Highland band. One of the youngsters, as yet unidentified, wandered away from the group and began sailing an ice cake. When the cake began to drift away from the shore the lad became alarmed and jumped into the water which at the time was about five feet deep.

Young McQuaid, on seeing the plight of the little lad, jumped quickly into the frigid water and with great risk to his own safety was able to bring the boy within reach of Gordon Peterson who assisted him to land. Police report that McQuaid's unhesitating decision was the means of averting a possible tragedy since the water was well over the young child's head and he no doubt would have perished without immediate assistance.

Regis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McQuaid, Elm Avenue.
