

The Liberal-Conservative Candidate: Dr. Jenkins.

Liberal-Conservative committee rooms: Connolly's building, Queen Street, Store lately occupied by W. & A. Brown & Co. Open all hours.

THE DAILY EXAMINER. AUGUST 6, 1884.

The Campaign.

THE public meetings held up to this date have been, on the whole, decidedly favorable to the Liberal-Conservative cause. That our speakers have the best of the argument goes without saying. The fact is admitted. No better case was ever submitted for the verdict of the people than that presented by Dr. Jenkins, the Hon. D. Ferguson, and the other gentlemen who have taken the stump in behalf of the Government. But this is not all. A strong Liberal-Conservative feeling has been evoked and expressed. Evidence of this fact is shown in the conduct of Mr. Welsh. He is no longer a Grit. He is no longer an Independent. The Grits are nowhere. Liberal-Conservative feeling is so strong that the presence of Mr. Davies, instead of being a help to him, is a hindrance. We are told that Mr. Welsh said, a day or two ago, that he could do better in the Belfast District without Davies. Whatever may be said about the statement, there is no doubt about the fact. Mr. Welsh can do better without Mr. Davies or any other uncompromising Grit; and Mr. Davies is accordingly not backing the Independent candidate in the Belfast district. The people have learned to appreciate fire-eating Oppositionists at their true value. Their stale denunciations fall flat upon unbelieving ears. Their voices charm no longer.

Another cause may, perhaps, have moved Mr. Davies to withdraw from the canvass. He doesn't like to encounter "that man Ferguson." In fact, Mr. Ferguson is regarded by Mr. Davies in much the same way, as Sir Charles Tupper used to be regarded by Mr. Blake. Mr. Ferguson is a terror to Mr. Davies. As an elector expressed it yesterday, "he floors him every time!" One marked characteristic of the meetings is creditable to all concerned. It is their good order. Any breach of the etiquette of such important gatherings is at once frowned upon; and the speakers, one and all, seem to be impressed with the idea that to strike a foul blow is to make a blunder.

A few years ago Captain Welsh's only ambition was to be buried in Lot 49; but now he is so eager to obtain a seat in Ottawa that he is sailing South by North in the hope of obtaining it. It is not likely that his hope will be gratified; for he is on the wrong course.

Mr. Welsh, it is reported, states that he can "do better without Davies." We endorse that statement. No doubt it is true.

CALGARY PROHIBITION.—A correspondent from Calgary gives a graphic picture of life under the liquor permit system. Up to lately supposed offenders were arrested without warrants, and when brought before a magistrate were, in nearly every case, fined to the utmost extent the law would permit. In gambling cases $100 was the fine no matter as to the nature of the evidence. In whisky cases $200 was the fine for having it in possession, $2000 additional if it were disposed of. If any one partook of a drink he was fined $200, as he could not drink without having whisky in his possession. One man was fined $200 because he drew a load of goods for hire in which whisky was found. A J. P. in one case fined a man $200 after having smelt his breath because he had whisky in his possession.—Ottawa Free Press.

A despatch from Tehacapi, Cal., says that a mysterious malady has suddenly manifested itself among the workmen on a new bridge at Needles, Cal. The victims are seized with dizziness, and then fall in a fit. Two died in intense agony within two hours. Fourteen others were taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. A general panic resulted. One of the sick, when questioned on his recovery as to how he felt, replied that he remembered nothing. The disease is attributed to bad water and intense heat. No later deaths are reported.

The collections of the British Museum increase so fast that it has been found necessary to remove whole departments. Thus the entire natural history collection has been transferred to the South Kensington Museum, and soon the prints, drawings and newspapers will be placed in a new building. Last year 30,000 volumes were added to the library. The number of visitors was 100,000 less than in 1882, but the number of students is on the increase.

THE ELDON MEETING.

A LARGE ASSEMBLAGE OF ELECTORS—WELSH LEFT TO GO IT ALONE—THE LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVES WILL ALL VOTE FOR DR. JENKINS.

The meeting held at Eldon last evening was large and very orderly. Charles McLeod, Esq., of Mount Buchanan, occupied the chair. Mr. Welsh was the first speaker. He touched, in his own way, on the questions of the day, and pledged himself to study the interests of the people, and if elected to vote independently in Parliament, as the interests of the people may demand. While in the House of Assembly he had never given a vote which did not please his constituents on both sides; and he thought he would make the same record in the Dominion Parliament.

Dr. Jenkins followed with a capital speech. He thanked the electors heartily for the large support they had given him in former years, and said that if all parts of the County had done as well for him as Eldon did at the last general election, he would have been elected by a large majority. He called attention to the anomalous position of Mr. Welsh, who posed as an "independent candidate," while he was the nominee of the ultra-Grit Party of the Province; and pointed out, that if he were elected, Mr. Welsh could not expect, so long as he occupied such an extraordinary position, to do anything towards the redress to our grievances or the promotion of our interests. The present government have, he said, shown much more friendship for his Province than their opponents have. They are building the railway to Cape Traverse, in spite of the protest of Mr. McKenzie; and this railway, with other facilities which will follow, will effect a very great change for the better in our system of communication with the mainland. The Doctor spoke very strongly in favor of manhood suffrage, and discussed in a clear and pointed way the great questions involved in the issue of the contest—making a decidedly favorable impression upon the meeting.

Mr. Welsh made a short reply, and the Hon. DONALD FERGUSON followed with a slashing speech, in which he showed how foolish it would be to send to Ottawa at the present time an Independent Oppositionist. How singular Mr. Welsh would appear as an Independent in the House of Commons in the presence of two distinct parties with two distinct policies. Steering South by North was not the usual course adopted by old sea captains, and he was very much surprised that Mr. Welsh should have taken that course in the hope that he would win the votes of intelligent men. No doubt he would discover, ere long, that he has made a mistake. Mr. Ferguson discussed the question of Reciprocity, and showed that the present policy is doing more towards the attainment of that desirable end than the policy of jug-handled Free Trade ever did or ever could.

He ended with a reference to the treacherous attempt of the McKenzie Administration to disfranchise our young men, and a glowing eulogy of the policy which is opening up the Great Lone Land to settlement and civilization. John F. McLeod, Esq., then took the floor in favor of Mr. Welsh, touching on the points which seemed most likely to strengthen his very weak case. Dr. McNeill then came forward and spoke ably on the questions of the day. He compared the old tariff and the new; and reminded the electors that two sessions ago the present Government made reductions in taxation to the extent of $2,300,000, that tea, coffee, and other articles upon which heavy duties were formerly paid are now admitted duty free; and that the prices of all the necessities of life which are imported are now cheaper than ever they were. He compared the debt of Canada with that of Australia, showing that the burden per head is very much less in Canada, and that it was levied on for the purpose of opening up the country and developing its resources, a large proportion of it having been entered into by the various Provinces before they went into the Confederation and having been assumed by the Dominion Government. He referred to the statement of a Charlottetown paper (the Presbyterian) that Mr. Farquharson, at the Grit meeting, had said,—"The great difficulty will be to induce people to go to the polls. If money will get the people to the polls, by all means raise money and use money. It will be money well spent." While he execrated this statement of Mr. Farquharson, he showed that the "Party of Purity" is still true to its instincts, and he felt sure that the electors of Belfast would express their disapproval of it in the proper way.

Angus McLean, Esq., in a brief speech, but with telling effect, called attention to the anomalous position of "the Independent-Grit" candidate.

James Nicholson, Esq., M. L. C., referred briefly to the erratic conduct of Mr. Welsh, while in the House of Assembly; and said that he would probably act in the same way if he went to Ottawa. He felt sure that the electors would not be imposed upon by the independence dodge, but that they would stand by their Party, shoulder to shoulder, in defence of the Government of Sir John McDonald—that they would rally to the polls to vote for the Liberal-Conservative candidate.

Mr. Welsh, Dr. Jenkins, and others made a few good-humored remarks, a vote of thanks was tendered the chairman, and with three cheers for the Queen, three cheers for the Liberal-Conservatives, and three for the Independents (the Grits being nowhere) the meeting dispersed.

"ATTEND to your paper, says the Winnipeg Commercial. "One of the worst characteristics of a poor business man is a carelessness about attending promptly to a paper falling due, which is simply the worst development of want of punctuality. As a country grows older this practice generally ceases or at least becomes much less frequent in occurrence, and in this respect there is much reason to hope for improvement in Manitoba and the Northwest."

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the corn trade, says: "The change in the weather has brought brilliant summer days, which have been literally tropical in their heat. The harvest is in incomparably better condition than a week ago. The work of the harvest is rapidly proceeding. In the foreign trade, nothing is doing. The coast trade is getting weaker. There were no sales of English wheat during the week."

A heavy failure is announced in the New York tea trade.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Political Farce.

SIR.—It is rather amusing to witness the farce that is being enacted by Messrs. Welsh and Davies. Mr. Welsh pretends that the nomination was forced upon him, and that he has no sympathy with the Grits or their policy—especially as regards this province—and yet Mr. Davies is straining every nerve to secure for him the vote of the party! Mr. Welsh says he despises the quondam Grit leaders, and Mr. Davies lauds him to the skies. Perhaps he wishes to avenge the humiliation that Mr. Welsh helped to bring upon him in 1878, by inducing him to run an election when he has not the smallest chance of success. It is well known that certain defeat awaited Mr. Welsh in Belfast after his resignation, and in fact, previous to it, did he have the hardihood to appear again before his neglected constituents and solicit their support. He has always made his political principles subservient to self interest, and cannot expect sympathy when he reaps the reward of his vacillating and unstable policy.

It would now be in order for him to explain to the electors of the Fanning Estate, of Lot 50, why he took so little interest in their welfare in regard to the land question, as he never raised his voice in their behalf, or exerted himself to aid them in any way. Perhaps he can tell why some farms were valued at an outrageously high figure and others below value; and why the Attorney-General of that time endeavored, while in power, to make them pay back rent, and afterwards proclaimed that it could not be recovered. There are many more questions which Mr. Welsh might be asked to answer, but as he passes as a second Parnell, let him deal with the land question first.

The feeling throughout the third district is that he and Mr. Davies are making an exhibition of their ignorance of public questions and the will of the people. The electors did not want an election—they wished to see Dr. Jenkins get the seat, and now that he is opposed, they will teach Messrs. Davies, Welsh & Co. that they cannot lead or drive the men of Queen's.

I am yours, ELECTOR.

Lot 35, Aug. 4, 1884.

Elevating the Standard.

SIR.—Grit purity is already putting in an appearance in the present campaign. Two of Mr. Welsh's minions, one a machine agent from Stanhope and the other a crank from Mill Cove, were patrolling Lot 35 with a supply of fire water on the 4th inst., and seeking the votes of a few misguided men. If this is to be the order of proceedings, and if the rowdianism which prevailed in years gone by is to be again revived, Mr. Welsh will add disgrace to the defeat that surely awaits him. Let him run the election like a man and a gentleman, or not at all.

Yours truly, INDEPENDENT.
