Casey At Bat

THE NEW York Mets of the National baseball league have re-hired Casey Stengel to manage the cellar dwelling Mets for the 1965 season. The New York Yankees retired Stangel in 1960, with Casey fighting the move until the bitter end. Money was no consideration in Stengel's fight to remain in big league baseball, when the Yanks wanted to retire him, because Stengel is a millionaire. Performance was certainly not a consideration in the minds of the Yank's management because under Casey's leadership the Yankees rolled down ten pennants and captured seven world championships in twelve years. The whole thing was that the Yanks just felt Casey was too old to stand up to the job.

Casey promptly took a job as manager of the Mets of the National League and attempted to rebuild the lowly Mets. Casey has not yet been able to get the Mets off the floor, but he has captured the interest of the New York baseball fans. The Mets had a better attendence record last year than the high flying Yankees and part of this is probably due to the fact that the fans prefer to watch the antics of the most fascinating baseball manager of our day rather then the perennial champions of the American League.

We feel that the Mets management have made a wise decision in maintaining Stengel's services. This man lives for nothing but baseball and he will not rest until he has moulded the Mets into a pennant contending club. If anyone can perform this feat we feel there is nobody more capable then Mr. Stengel.

We think that one of the main reasons that the Yankees were able to dominate the American league for ten of twelve years was the effect produced by the heart and fight which old Casey displayed on so many occasions. Stengel will be back at the helm of the Mets next year and we feel that this is where the old professor of baseball belongs.

Tid Bits From Here And There

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Cassius Clay has bought a gun. Police records show Clay purchased a .22-calibre pistol Sept. 19 at a pawn shop. All gun sellers must report transactions to police. Clay's trainor, Angelo Dundee, said, "I didn't know Cassius had a gun. Anyway why shouldn't he? Maybe he needs it when he goes out on roadwork at 5 a.m."

Fred Tootell, 62, winner of the 1924 gold medal in hammer throw, died Tuesday. Tootell made the 1924 U.S. Olympic team despite an ankle injury suffered 10 days before the tryouts and, at the games in Paris, he won the hammer throw with a toss of 174 feet, 10¼ inches.

The Cape Breton junior hockey league has reorganized. The league has been inactive for eight years. Entered in the league are: Sydney, Glace Bay, North Sydney and Xavier Junior College in Sydney. Ed Swyers of North Sydney was elected president, succeeding George Lavatie of Sydney. Also elected to the league executive were: John Mulvihill of Sydney, vice-president; Don MacIsaac of Sydney, treasurer; and Russ Doyle of Sydney, secretary.

The A.E. MacLennan Pontiacs and Curran and Briggs will duel tonight for the Summerside town league baseball championship. The teams are tied at two games apiece in the best of five series for the town league championship, and the final tilt shapes up as a real thriller. Game time is 8 p.m. at Queen Elizabeth Park.

Summerside's Enman Drug softball team will travel to Glace Bay, N.S. this weekend for the opening game of their best of three Maritime senior 'B' finals. Enman Drug with Ulric Gallant at the helm have a four game winning streak on the line. The Drugmen knocked off Charlottetown's Main Brace Mariners in straight games with scores of 8-0 in both games and then went on to defeat Moncton 19-11 and 6-5 to capture the N.B.-P.E.I. championship. The Drugmen have been waiting for the outcome of a protest that they were told the Moncton club had launched but Jack Grey, president of the Maritime softball association, informed Ulric Gallant that no formal protest had been launched. Game time is set for 4.00 p.m. on Saturday and the second game (and third if necessary) will be played in Summerside next Saturday.

Minor League Has Meeting

The initial meeting of the Charlottetown Minor Hockey Association was held at the Canadian Legion last night when a small but enthusiastic group met to formulate plans for the forthcoming 1964-65 minor hockey season.

Presided over by president Ivan Doherty, reports were heard from members of the executive and division chairmen that pointed up the overall success of the past year's minor hockey season.

Presenting the final financial statement to the meeting, secretary Don Hutchinson pointed out that the association was able to show a credit balance of $275.2b as of September 30, 1964, which was most heartily endorsed unanimously by the meeting.

A number of constructive changes and recommendations were also presented to the meeting, these to be passed over to the incoming executive for action.

A three-man nominating committee will be appointed by the present executive to bring in a new proposed slate of officers to be presented to the next general meeting for election, which will be held on Thursday, October 8th at the Canadian Legion Home. All persons interested in the promotion of Minor Hockey in this city are urged to attend this meeting.

PREPARING FOR SATURDAY

Giles Offers Solution

CINCINNATI (AP) —Warren Giles, president of the National League, said today he probably will hold a telephone conference today to set up the machinery for a possible playoff in the pennant race.

If there is a two-team tie, representatives of the teams will draw straws to see which gets the choice of opening the best-of-three series at home.

The teams will move to the other city for second and, if necessary, third game.

In the event of a three-way tie, there would be a complicated round-robin series that would continue until two teams had lost two games. This would require a minimum of four games and a maximum of five.

In the dim possibility of a four-way tie, there would be two separate best-of-three series with the winners meeting in another best-of-three set.

In the event of a playoff, the start of the world series, now scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 8, would be delayed.

Someone Please Explain

Will someone who knows more about football than we do tell us why the B.C. Lions conceded a safety touch in their game with Hamilton when the man with the ball seemed only slightly behind the goal line? At the time it was past our bedtime, and we may have got things mixed up, but it looked like a foolish thing to do. The score was 16-4 and two more points perhaps didn't seem important, but the Ti-Cats with a field goal and a major score tied the ball game.

Who Is Your Favorite?

Who is your favorite all-time, all-games sports hero? Babe Ruth? Ty Cobb? Gordie Howe? Mickey Mantle? Y.A. Tittle? Joe Louis? or who? If you haven't got any, how about adopting a fellow whose name we can't spell off-hand but who they call Pele for short. (An acute on that final E) Pele was given $27,000 for signing a contract, $50,000 to buy a house, and was presented with a Volkswagen. He is a millionaire, and plays before a many as 129,000. When his team wins, and all the other players are emptying the mug of champagne, he sips water. The game? Why soccer, of course, the world's most popular sport. And to think we could lie down beside the game and go to sleep. If it ever makes regular television, we're going to have to get our kicks out of the commercials. We'll admit, however, that there's a lot of foot magic in the higher bracket games, and perhaps with a better knowledge of the rules and tricks of the game, we might learn to like it.

We know we're going to be rooting for the Cincinnati Reds, or the St. Louis Cardinals, or the Philadelphia Phils, but we're not sure which one yet. The Cards seem to be in the driver's seat right now with the Mets to trample on while Cincinnati and Philadelphia may be cutting each others throats. But you never can tell. The Mets every now and again take on the role of giant-killer, and ol' Case who has a flair for the dramatic may decide to make he curtain speech a good one.

Just Around The Corner

Hockey is just around the corner. Soon on Saturday nights we'll be watching the NHL stars in action, and for your information the Toronto Maple Leafs are due to be clobbered quite a bit this season. Youth must be served and now that they've made a few rules to help eliminate the "clutch and grab" type of hockey, who are those old men going to lean upon this winter?

Veteran Entry Is Destroyed

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Olympic team lost one of its top horses Wednesday when Markham, a veteran performer on the three-day team, was destroyed on an airplane en route to Tokyo.

The 11-year-old brown gelding was loaded board a chartered plane along with 10 other horses at Newark Airport. He became unmanageable about an hour after the noon takeoff.

With the plane at 12,000 feet Markham went berserk and attempted to break out of his stall.

Team veterinarian Joseph O'Dea of Avon, N.Y., was forced to destroy the horse by an injection when the animal threatened the safety of the aircraft.

Two Double Dash Winners At Summerside Race Track

There were two double dash winners on the eight dash harness racing program at the Summerside raceway last night. Davy Watchim with Basil Whalen holding the ribbons captured the first and fifth dashes and Winnie J. Clegg with Cecil Stewart up on the bike led the way to the wire in the second and sixth events.

Single dash winners on the card included: Wawaness, Happy Gallon C, Billy G. Command, and Orchestra Leader.

The largest pay on the card was on the first daily double event which was staged on the first and second dashes. The winning combination was Davy Watchim by Watchim, dam Kay Cash owned by John Doyle, Tignish and Winnie J. Clegg by Abner T. Clegg, dam Rilla Bars owned and driven by Cecil Stewart, Mt. Pleasant. A double ticket on the winning twosome was worth $85.40.

The fastest time on the card was paced by Orchestra Leader as the Jenkins reined horse led the way to the wire in the final dash on the card. Jenkins teamed the horse to the wire for the mile in 2:12:2.

The Quinella feature was held on the third heat and a winning ticket returned $18.00. The exactor paid $32.40 for the winning combination in the fifth dash. The second daily double event was held on dash seven and eight. The winning ticket paid $37.20.

Kinsella Describes His Hockey Program

By GENE DOW

A hockey program for youth which promotes good will and citizenship, rather than competition and the aim to win at all costs with power-packed teams, was described in Charlottetown by the founder of Silver Stick International Hockey.

J. J. Kinsella, of Ottawa, founder and first commissioner of Silver Stick International, said the organization's purpose is to promote international good will through the vehicle of hockey.

"The boy comes first and not hockey. Children should be in it for fun. Our trouble lies with the adults today. They have become too enthused. However, it's the children that are playing, and no pressure should be exerted."

Mr. Kinsella said Silver Stick International was founded in 1956-57. It now is extensively organized in Canada and the United States, and involves tournament play only, not regular league play.

Team members must be under 12 and under 14 on 31st of July, and be on Peewee or Bantam league teams during regular season play.

"The boys are ambassadors at the boyhood level," a keynote of the program, said Mr. Kinsella.

Silver Stick International now has three divisions: the Atlantic Coast division, with teams in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Quebec City and Montreal; the Ottawa Valley and Northern New York State division, and the Western division with teams in southwestern Ontario, and Michigan.

PROMOTE SPORTSMANSHIP

Mr. Kinsella said the rules of Silver Stick International are designed to promote sportsmanship. They are modified National Hockey League rules requiring: no bodying between the two blue lines, no boarding, fighting not permitted, with an offender barred from the game and an automatic five minute penalty.

The founder of Silver Stick International said that by 1972 the United States expects to have 2,500 multi-purpose arenas for ice shows and hockey.

This prospect, said Mr. Kinsella, combined with proper instruction, meant American boys in future could become just as proficient in hockey as they are in baseball and football.

Also helping promote hockey in the United States was the visual factor of television, he pointed out.

Mr. Kinsella said Silver Stick International was not affiliated with any hockey organizations.

He attended the meeting of the Charlottetown Minor Hockey Association at the Royal Canadian Legion, Wednesday night in Charlottetown. He is employed with the federal post office department in Ottawa.

Practice Called

A practice has been called for the Charlottetown Intermediate Abbies baseball club for Memorial Field tonight at 6.00 p.m. The Abbies are preparing for the second game of their best of three series with Antigonish Bulldogs and a full turnout is requested for this practice session.

Cardinals Down Philadelphia 8-5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals maintained their hold on the National League lead Wednesday night, extending their winning streak to eight games with an 8-5 victory over Philadelphia that virtually eliminated the Phillies from the pennant race.

The victory assured the Cardinals of no worse than a tie for the lead after the night's action. The Cincinnati Reds, who started the day tied with the Cardinals for first place, were still playing Pittsburgh.

Curt Simmons got the key victory against his former Philadelphia teammates, extending the Phillies losing streak to 10 games and leaving them in a position to do no better than tie for the pennant. The Phillies have only two games remaining.

Simmons pitched no-hit ball for 6 2-3 innings but finally weakened at the end and needed relief help from Ron Taylor and Gordon Richardson in the ninth.

The victory brought Simmons record to 18-9 and gave him 18 victories in 18 decisions against the Phillies since they released him in 1960.

Simmons pitched perfect ball through the first 5 1-3 innings while the Cardinals were building an 8-0 lead against Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning. Key Boyer's error on Alex.

Then, with two out in the seventh, Richie Allen singled for the first hit, a sharp blow up the middle.

CURT SIMMONS

The Phillies scored once more in the eighth, then pecked away in the ninth when Dick Groat fumbled.

Wes Covington popped up, but pinch hitter Clay Dalrymple rapped a single off the pavilion screen for two runs, and Richardson became the new Cardinal pitcher Richardson ended it, getting pinch hitter Frank Thomas on a fly to right fielder Bobby Wine hit into a force play.

Ken Boyer, Dick Groat and Curt Flood each collected three hits in the St. Louis attack. The Cardinals put it away early, getting eight runs on 11 hits and three Philadelphia errors before the Phillies had even collected a hit.

Brown, Unitas Leading The Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Brown and Johnny Unitas, a couple of old familiar faces, are atop the standings in the individual statistics released Wednesday by the National Football League.

Brown, Cleveland Brown fullback who ran for 104 yards against Philadelphia Sunday, has moved into first place in the ground - gaining race, displacing another Brown, Bill, of Minnesota Viking. The Vikings' Brown was handicapped by injuries last week and dropped to fourth place, gaining only 20 yards.

Don Perkins of Dallas Cowboys charged into second position with a season total of 241 yards and Jim Taylor of Green Bay Packers was third with 227 yards.
