HAPPENINGS

A very pleasant visitor in our midst is Miss Sarina MacKenzie, a native of Punjab, North India. Miss MacKenzie has been attending Herwick camp in Nova Scotia. There, she and Mrs. Keith S. Rogers met and Mrs. Rogers kindly invited Miss MacKenzie to visit her on the island. Miss MacKenzie, whose parents died when she was too young to remember them, was adopted by Dr. Mina MacKenzie. In fact Dr. MacKenzie must hold a pleasantly unique record. She has adopted no less than forty-four children. Two have made their homes in Canada and Miss MacKenzie is the third to come here, but she is returning to India.

Miss Sarina MacKenzie is a registered nurse of the Mission Hospital in North India. She has come to Canada to specialize in children's diseases and will be at the Children's Hospital in Montreal.

Among visitors vacationing on the island are the Misses Betty Ann Sinnott, Helen Tuttle and Miss Oakley, both Art Instructors. Pa. Miss Sinnott is a former islander, while Miss Tuttle and Miss Oakley, both art instructors, are here for the first time.

Miss Joyce Green of Albany, P.E.I., returned home Tuesday night, after visiting a month with her relatives in Edmonton and Western Canada.

Miss Green was one of the Island passengers aboard the C.N.R. "Overlander Special." Miss Green resumes her teaching in Miscouche late in August.

Captain MacKenzie of the M.V. Abegweit, accompanied by his daughter, Judith Anne, were visitors to Charlottetown on Saturday.

Sub Lt. Randolph Buchanan, junior intern at Shearwater Hospital, visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Buchanan, Eldon.

Mr. Stanley Ubsell and son Graeme, Fredericton, N.B., also Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hicken, Alliston, visited Mr. and Mrs. Warren Buchanan, Eldon.

There are one hundred and fifty varieties, even more. South America and California are endeavoring to cultivate the mango. There is a similarity between the mango and the peach. The mango has a hard seed inside, is larger than a peach and the pulp is very juicy. But the flavor is distinctive.

The fruit comes in various colors red, green and yellow. It is very perishable and cannot be imported as bananas, oranges, etc. to ripen in another country. If picked green, it would be very sour. Mangoes will only ripen on the tree. Indian people are very fond of the mango. Canning experiments are now taken place in India in order to conserve the pulp and juice of the mango fruit.

Mr. Nehru on his numerous trips by plane always carries mangoes. So from the Prime Minister to all other citizens the mango is a popular food.

Miss MacKenzie, with the background of the great old land of India, was a fascinating conversationist. Her fluency in English and her pretty Italian a's were pleasant to the ear. Miss MacKenzie is leaving Monday for Pictou.

MR. AND MRS. A. S. DOWNE

Wed In Charlottetown Will Reside In Calgary

A pretty summer wedding was solemnized July 27, 1957, in Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, P.E.I. when Audrey Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Audrey Cutcliffe, Fredericton, P.E.I., became the bride of Augustus Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Downe, Charlottetown, P.E.I. Rev. Donald MacLennan performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. A. Frank MacLean.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a ballerina style gown of white dotted Swiss with a portrait neckline. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a pearl head-dress. Her bridal bouquet consisted of a white arched and streamers of stephanotis.

The bride was attended by M. William Dunsford as matron of honor. Mrs. Douglas Dennis as bridesmaid and Miss Lynda Dunford, flower girl. The senior attendants wore gowns of white nylon eyelet over blue and pink taffeta with matching cummerbund waist bands which formed large bows at the back. They wore matching picture hats, mittens and shoes. The little flower girl wore white nylon dotted Swiss over gold colored taffeta with similar cummerbund waist effect, matching bonnet and mittens. They carried bouquets of feathered carnations in blue, pink and gold to complement each gown.

The groomsmen were Mr. Lloyd Cameron, the ushers were Mr. Kenneth Downe, brother of the groom and Mr. Jack Cutcliffe, brother of the bride.

The brides' mother wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The groom's mother wore a teal blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Oakwood. The bride's table was arranged with the traditional three-tiered wedding cake and bridal cup as centerpiece, flanked by pink and white snapdragons. Mrs. Eric Soole was in charge of the guest book and friends of the bride served. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Ingham Palmer, to which the groom responded.

For travelling the bride chose a draped sheath in dusty rose crepe with picture hat and shoes to match. Mr. and Mrs. Downe will return to Calgary and make their home there.

Among the out of town guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Soole, Linda and Jill, Calgary, Alta., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cutcliffe, Pictou, Ontario; Mr. Kenneth Downe, Kingston, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Daval, Concord, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Meltor, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clawson, Montreal, Que.; Dr. and Mrs. Harold Mellish, Wayne and Carol, Petticoat, N.B.; Mr. and Mrs. Ingham Palmer, Moncton, N.B.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dennis, Moncton, N.B.; Mr. Lloyd Cameron, Fredericton, N.B.; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Road, Halifax, N.S.; Rev. and Mrs. Donald MacLennan, La Jave, N.S.; Mrs. Melbourne MacDonald, Trenton, N.S. —Photo by Craswell.

KEEP IN TRIM

Swim During Summer For Improved Curves

In the summer season, thighs appear to be the most vexing figure problem. There is no dodging the fact that certain tendencies are passed along on the limbs of the family tree. Body frame is inherited and along with this an affinity for fat in specific spots, the thighs being one of the susceptible places. However, neither overweight nor flabby muscles are inherited. Excess pounds can come only from excess food, and flabbiness results from lack of exercise.

How you go about changing the thigh measurement depends upon your weight. Overweight will exaggerate any tendency toward large hips and thighs, and reducing will help to improve the proportion. However, if you are not above your best weight, dieting will not help.

One girl wrote, "I weighed 130 pounds, and now weigh 110 and have lost little or none in my thighs. Being a secretary, I get very little exercise." The young lady did not give height. To figure your normal weight, start with 100, 105, or 110 pounds for 5 feet of height, depending on whether you have a slight, medium or stocky frame. Then add 5 pounds for each inch of height by which your height exceeds 5 feet. Height is computed without shoes, weight without clothing. The last sentence in the letter told the story. Exercise is the solution. Restoring tone to the muscles that flank the inner and outer thighline will reshape the thighs. Here are two effective exercises.

Position: Lying on floor on left side, right hand braced on floor for balance. Right foot may be braced on low stool. Movement: Raise under leg (left) up to meet the right leg and hold. This exercise acts on the muscles that flank the inner thighline. Repeat three times, change sides and repeat. If no footstool is handy, merely raise one leg about 10 inches and then bring the under leg up to meet it.

From the same lying-on-side position, raise top leg and, leading with heel, make wide circles from the hip joint, circling ten counts in one direction and then ten in the opposite. Be sure to pull toes toward instep and lead with your heel.

If the front portion of the thighs are flabby, you probably are not using these muscles properly when you sit down, rise from a sitting position, and in walking up steps. In all these movements, make sure the thigh muscles take the action.

If you have a chance to swim this summer, hang on to the side of the pool or a boat and swing alternate legs directly sideways against the resistance of the water, here again leading with the heel.

TOURS SCOUT CAMP SUTTON PARK, England (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan rolled up his trouser cuffs to avoid ankle-deep mud Saturday when he made a quick tour of the world Boy Scout jamboree here. One 17-year-old Alberta scout, Joe Stern, managed to get his autograph.

MR. AND MRS. S. R. HACKETT

Wedding Reception Held In Beautiful Gardens

On Saturday July 20th at 4 p.m. Barbara Isabel Hamm, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamm of Mt. Herbert, was united in marriage with Samuel Robert, eldest son of Mrs. Nina and the late Ernest William Hackett of Halifax, N.S. Rev. T. R. Goudge of Pownal, performed the double ring ceremony on the spacious lawn at the home of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length white nylon net over taffeta gown, which has inserts of Swiss organdy lace and sequins on the skirt, and a Swiss organdy lace jacket. Her illusion tulle finger-tip veil was held in place by a head-dress of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with streamers of white satin and red rose buds. Pearl earrings, gift of the groom, were the bride's only adornment.

Mrs. F. Dewar Hamm as matron of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of yellow embroidered tulle over taffeta with large satin bows. The bridesmaids Miss Anna Thompson, R.N. Liverpool, N.S., and Miss Austina Kennedy, Mt. Edward Road, wore ballerina length gowns of tulle over taffeta in shades of pink and blue. All three attendants wore large white hats, and carried nosegays of colored carnations to match their gowns.

Cheryl Hamm, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She looked very winsome in a dress of green Swiss organdy with crinoline effect skirt. She wore a head-dress to match the gaily decorated basket from which she dropped peony petals in the path of the bride. Master Wayne Hamm, nephew of the bride, performed the duties of ring-bearer.

The best man was Mr. Carmen Fadder of Halifax, and the ushers were F. Dewar Hamm, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bruce Brown, brother-in-law of the groom.

Miss Elizabeth Brookins, soloist, sang very effectively. Because before the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied by Mr. Paul Cudmore, Charlottetown, cousin of the bride. The Guest Book was in charge of Mrs. Errol Lund. The bride's mother wore a street length dress of wedgwood blue with pink lace and sequin trim, pink accessories and corsage of pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a street length dress of beige nylon, with white accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the delightful gardens and dining room at the home of the bride. Rev. Mr. Goudge proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom fittingly responded. Mrs. C. J. Wood, grandmother of the bride, poured.

For travelling the bride chose a navy sheath dress, with white jacket, navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. After a honeymoon spent at Lake George, N.B. and a return visit to Mt. Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Hackett will return by car to their future home in Halifax, N.S.

Out of town guests included: Mrs. Nina Hackett, Halifax, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brown, Halifax, N.S.; Miss Jean Hackett, Mr. Fred Hackett, Mr. David Hackett, Mr. Edward Hackett, Mr. William Hackett, Miss Dell Osborne, Miss Charlotte Harvie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Pleman Haggett, all of Halifax, Mr. and Mrs. F. Dewar Hamm, Cheryl and Wayne of Fredericton, N.B.; Mr. and Mrs. Fenton E. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood, Moncton, N.B.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Switzer and Sandra, Moncton, N.B.; Miss Brenda MacDougall; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hamm, Hamilton, Ont.; Miss Charlotte Rafuse, Liverpool, N.S.

The bride is a member of the Staff of Grace Hospital, and the groom is employed with the Canadian National Express.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered two miscellaneous showers by her friends in Halifax. A community shower by her friends of Mt. Herbert, Bunbury, Mermaid and Bethel was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Errol Lund, Mt. Herbert, and a miscellaneous shower by her old school pals of West Kent School at the home of Miss Austina Kennedy, Mt. Edward Road, Halifax.

On their return to Halifax, Mrs. Nina Hackett, assisted by her daughter Mrs. Bruce Brown, held a reception for the newly weds at their residence on Tobin Street.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Nell Mare May Really Celebrate The Fair Week

Over our world of field and woodland to the east, where in its season we in the neighborhood can always see and recognize it, the lights of the Fair will past this dusk cast a rosy reflection against the night-sky. And despite the fact that some of us may have a notion that we have grown blasé from over-entertainment, with the benefit of near and far trips, and the countless entertaining pastimes of the present until as we say we have "seen everything" nevertheless shall we not yield to the lure of that flame against the blue, and come follow the crowd to the Fair.

Or were we there this afternoon And have the sound and confusion — and the underlying order of it, still fresh in mind What matter? We may come with renewed interest again and again. Needing no excuse in our age, not even the this one we sometimes express that "the children or — and James wanted us to come!"

How did we come this afternoon? Not as in the young years we are sure-on foot joining the full and steadily flowing stream of humans on "Exhibition street" with the opulent rolling by in their carriages and taxi-cabs. Though with feet light and heart full of nice anticipation we harbored no envy, for with these assets were we not much richer than they.

And later when mature cares rested more and less heavily on the folks of this farm, how entrancing it was to come to the grounds early, to catch the heart-beat behind it. By horse and wagon with James and the children we came then to be "passed" at a far gate, be as a (chance) exhibitor or attendant and waved us in modestly with smiles, we to learn something of those angles which tend to the agricultural side of the Fair.

Carnegie Hall, Concert Mecca Will Be Torn Down

NEW YORK (CP)—The fast changing Manhattan scene is losing one of its best known cultural centres.

Carnegie Hall, concert mecca for world artists for more than 60 years, is to be torn down in 1959 — to make way for a 44 storey red and gold streamlined skyscraper.

The six-storey, old fashioned building on the corner of Seventh Avenue and 57th Street has been the testing ground for musical artists for most of its life.

The Hall was built in 1891 by the Music-Hall Company, headed by philanthropist Andrew Carnegie, as a new home for a by philanthropist Andrew Carnegie, as a new home for the New York Oratorio Society.

Throughout the years, almost every great soloist has appeared there. Among Canadian artists are soprano Lois Marshall of Toronto, who sang in a concert of contemporary Canadian music in 1953; Andre Mathieu of Montreal who at the age of 12 played one of his own compositions there in 1942; conductor Reginald Stewart of Toronto who led the orchestra in May, 1940, to become the first Canadian conductor to perform there; and cellist Shirley Trepel of Winnipeg.

Louis J. Glickman, who announced plans for the change Wednesday, bought the Hall and its land in July, 1956. The sale raised a local storm of protest and a "save Carnegie Hall" fund was started. It failed.

SYRIANS VISITED RUSSIA GENEVA (Reuters)—Khaled el Azem, Syrian defence minister, and Gen. Tewfik Nizam el Din, chief of the Syrian general staff, arrived here Saturday in a Czechoslovak plane from Prague on their way back to Damascus after a visit to Russia. The defence minister evaded questions from correspondents about whether he had arranged to buy arms from the Soviet Union or Czechoslovakia.
