False Statements
AWAY WITH THEM!
It is Only the Lever of Truth that Moves the Great World.
Statements Made in Favor of Paine's Celery Compound Always Ring With Honesty.

A Marvellous Cure in Virden, Manitoba.
A Minister of the Gospel Can Endorse the Testimony.

False statements, like counterfeit coin, for a time will pass current and undetected. The false statements made in connection with a host of common medicines have duped and disappointed thousands of our suffering people in the past, and at the present time there are many who are being deceived from day to day. These worthless and deceptive medicines, with all their false assertions about curing disease, are now being posted on the black list in all well-regulated communities, and are carefully avoided and abhorred by the wise and prudent.

It is only the powerful lever of truth that can move intelligent communities and peoples. This mighty lever is Paine's Celery Compound, an agent that has never had an equal in the history of medicine for the curing of the sick and diseased.

Every statement made in favor of Paine's Celery Compound, rings out with honesty and truth. The letters of testimony come from our own Canadian people, whose docturers may interview or write to for particulars.

Paine's Celery Compound has thousands of records of victories over rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, dyspepsia, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, kidney and liver troubles, general weakness and lost vitality.

The marvellous cure of Mr. James Leverington, of Virden, Man., by Paine's Celery Compound, after the failure of other agents and other agencies, should be sufficient proof for all fair-minded men and women who are honestly seeking for health, strength and new life.

Mr. Leverington writes as follows about his success with the world's best medicine: "I think it my duty, without solicitation from any one, to write in the interests of other sufferers, and give you a testimonial in favor of your (to me) almost miraculous remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. I have been more than a year in suffering from the agonizing pains of sciatica, and after trying all that medical skill could devise, and using many remedies, patent and otherwise, I concluded to try the Hot Springs of Banff, under the able superintendence of Dr. Brett. I took the treatment thoroughly and carefully for six weeks, and came home at the end of that time racked with pain and weighing 43 pounds less. At this juncture when hope had almost fled, I heard of Paine's Celery Compound. It seemed suited to my case, and I sent to my druggist for a fair trial. He recommended it, and I took a bottle. I soon began to feel better and after taking three more bottles I was cured man and threw away my crutches."

"I keep a bottle on hand in case of any return of the complaint. I am now 58 years old, and I feel as spry and healthy as ever did in my life. I was born in Norfolk, England, and came to Canada when only 3 years old. I was brought up in the township of Cornwall, Ontario, and came to Manitoba eight years ago. I have always been a farmer, and am as able to do hard work now as ever I was."

"With a heart full of gratitude for the benefits derived from the use of your medicine, and with deep sympathy for all who may suffer, I gladly and freely indite this letter."

"Rev. Mr. Talbot, Methodist Minister of Elkhorn, can confirm my statements, and will do so for me if you like."

Mr. Higginbotham, the successful and extremely popular druggist of Virden, vouches for Mr. Leverington's statements, as follows: "I have known Mr. Leverington for two years or more, and can confirm what he says in regard to his cure by Paine's Celery Compound. Ever since his cure he has been sending his praises, and he is a perfect enthusiast on the subject of Paine's Celery Compound. I believe him to be thoroughly reliable."

SOUTH SEA LEGENDS ON FIRE.
A Whale and an Air Dragon. Each Believed to Have Originated in Flams.
The South Sea Islanders tell a curious story of the origin of fire. If they are to be believed, says the St. Louis Republic, they came in possession of that useful element in the following manner: A great whale was once washed ashore upon one of their islands during the prevalence of a terrible hurricane. The monster became entangled in a grove of tall trees (a species of evergreen whose branches easily ignite), and while gnashing his teeth in his impotent rage, struck off a spark which lighted the grove and consumed both trees and whale. Fires which are said to have been perpetuated since the day of the "great whale fire" may yet be seen burning in many parts of the island.

Another fire legend, believed in by the inhabitants of the islands to the north of the ones in which the "great whale fire" is preserved, is to the effect that a great air dragon (probably lightning) breathed upon a tall tree and set its branches on fire. From the coals left from this fire they learned of its great value, and have ever since used the element for domestic purposes and in their religious ceremonies. They also have a tradition that the time will come when the dragon will return for the first time, and no man will be able to withstand him and save the sacred spark except he be a person born with pink eyes, fair skin and white hair. For this reason the birth of an albino is always hailed as a good omen, and his or her person guarded with jealous care, so as to preserve life to its utmost limit. Marston mentions seeing a "fire god" or "fire guard" (albino) while on his visit to the islands, who was believed to be at least 150 years old, and who had always been provided for by the tribe.

Reflexions, who made South Sea Island myths and legend a study for years, is of the opinion that the return of the dragon for his fire is symbolic of death and the flight of the spirit.

Science and Soap Bubbles.
Why is it that the colors of a soap bubble change as the film gradually adheres in thickness? Another cause of color is here involved—that of interference. If a stone be thrown into a smooth pond a circular wave is produced, gradually widening toward the edge of the pond; if a second wave be thrown into the pond a second wave will be produced, which will influence the first.

If the stones are dropped in simultaneously at the same spot the waves will just be doubled in height; and if the second stone be thrown in exactly half a wave length behind the first the motion of the wave will be destroyed.

Similarly with light; when light impinges on the soap bubble part of it, it is reflected from the exterior surface, and part enters the film and is reflected from the interior surface.

This latter portion traverses the water medium between the two surfaces twice, and is therefore kept behind the first reflected ray. The two sets of waves interfere with each other, and produce a color behind the first of a lighter light. Other waves, again, may destroy each other and extinguish the light.

Some of the constituent colors of the impinging white light—formed by its passage through the film—interfere so as to destroy each other, while others remain unaffected. As the film diminishes in thickness, the colors must necessarily vary.

In this way is accounted for the marvellous variety of beauty and colors in the bubble, instead of a white light. Other waves, again, may destroy each other and extinguish the light.

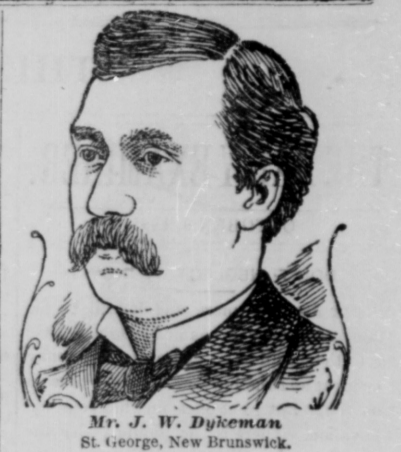

Chess players with a turn of mind the history of their strategic movement will be interested to learn that all the hypotheses as to the origin of the game have suddenly been "mated" by a recent extraordinary discovery in Egypt. It was generally assumed that the game was first invented in Persia, and that it was introduced from India to Persia in the sixth century, and from there by the Arabs, and that in consequence of the Crusaders it spread from east to west.

It is true that the Chinese—who invented many things in time long ago, but which had afterwards to be reinvented in Europe—assert that they can trace chess in their own country to about 200 years before our era. Now there can certainly be no doubt that the character of the figures at present used, and in some of the words connected with the game—such as "shack" (shaw) and "matt," or "mate"—an Indian, Persian and Arabic influence is traceable.

But here comes news of the latest excavations on the pyramidal fields of Sakkara, which have brought to light a wall painting on which a high official is represented as playing chess with a partner at the time of the government of King Teti, who reigned, and will do so for me if you like."

Mr. Higginbotham, the successful and extremely popular druggist of Virden, vouches for Mr. Leverington's statements, as follows: "I have known Mr. Leverington for two years or more, and can confirm what he says in regard to his cure by Paine's Celery Compound. After the Grip
No Strength, No Ambition
Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. S.:
"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other ailments caused by poison and poor blood. I always keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house and use it when I need a tonic. We also keep Hood's Pills on hand and think highly of them. J. W. DYER, St. George, New Brunswick.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Sold by all druggists.
