The Seal Fishery.

The Newfoundland correspondent of the Halifax Herald writes:—

Since my last letter, the all-absorbing topic of conversation has been the seal fishery. Most of the steamers have returned or been reported. If oil or skins were at an average price, the returns would be good. But as in all other articles of commerce, there is great depression in the trade. I have been informed that one large firm, doing business here, has not sold the oil made last spring. However, they have sent out again, hoping that some call will no doubt be made for seal oil.

The interest of the first arrival centred on the steamship Proteus, Capt. R. Pike, which arrived Friday, March 28th. It was not merely her arrival, but the report of other vessels that made the first sealer so welcome. The following vessels have arrived up to the present, with their cargoes of seals:—

S. S. Proteus, 12,000 hood-seals.
" Lion, 6,000 hoods, and 1,200 young hoods.
" Aurora, 26,000 young harps and 1,600 hoods.
" Greenland, 24,000 young harps.
" Artic, 10,000 " "
" Merlin, 15,000 " "
" Commodore, 20,000 " "
" Neptune, 19,000 young harps and hoods.
" Hector, 11,000 young harps and hoods.
" Esquimaux.
Brig Isabella Ridley, 5,500 young harps.
S. S. Norwhal, 10,000 " "
" Bear, 8,000 " "

Prince Edward Island and Ontario.

(From the Toronto Mail.)

During the tariff debate the Opposition speakers have been loud in their declaration that the people of the Island are bitterly hostile to the new policy, and were not slow to prophesy that this would be proved at the first opportunity, meaning, of course, the Local elections. The object of this particular move in the game was strictly personal, and all the rhetoric wasted on the subject had for its target, Mr. Pope, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The Local contest is over, and, much to the chagrin of the Opposition, the Conservatives have gained so overwhelming a triumph that their adversaries, at the last advice, are not likely to number more than half a dozen at most, or one-fifth of the House. Mr. Pope, as a sufficient reply to the assaults made upon him as a mis-representative of his Province, announced, in the course of his address, the result of the contest so far as had been ascertained. Mr. McKenzie at once rose up, boiling over with the anger of disappointment, and "felt bound to say"—though he was in fact bound by the rules of order to say nothing—that this was "the first time he had ever heard such an announcement in this Parliament." Surely this was riding the high horse with a vengeance. The Minister's words, which gave rise to so unseemly an ebullition of rage, were simply these, and they were excusable, if excuse were necessary, on account of the virulent attacks made upon him: "He was happy to say that the Local Conservative Government who supported the National Policy, had been returned by 25 to 5." That surely was taking a mild revenge for the savage assaults made upon him during the session. In fact, it would puzzle even the ex-Premier to explain why it is wrong in point of etiquette—upon which, by the way, he is a great authority now—for a Minister to refer to the state of public opinion in his Province, especially when he has been challenged on the point, although a private member may do the same thing without rebuke. We venture to say that neither "good taste" nor anything else would restrain Mr. MacKenzie from triumphing, in loud and exultant tones, over a reversal of the September verdict in Ontario. It was unfortunate at all events, that he should so far have lost his temper as to refuse to take his seat when called to order by Mr. Bowell, after snuffing the floor in the middle of the Minister's speech. The interruption was in every respect, lamentable, and merely served to show the poignant feeling of disappointment caused by the result of these Local elections. Parliament will not be sitting in June; if it were, the ex-Premier would have another opportunity of displaying his constitutional infirmity.

Something was said by the hon. gentleman about the impropriety of dragging "the petty local politics" of Prince Edward Island upon the floor of the House of Commons. In Ontario, when Premier, he was not above hunting in couples with the little Premier of Toronto. Had he been still on the Speaker's right, Mr. Mowatt would have made him the trump card of the Bantam game. "The petty local politics" of Ontario, so long as the present Administration controls them, are quite as insignificant as those of the Island; yet Mr. MacKenzie will once more soil his fingers with him, as he did before accident gave him a loftier position. The issue here will turn distinctly upon Dominion questions, if the Local Government can have its own way. It was to court an irrelevant verdict on the National Policy that they prolonged the existence of the Legislature beyond its term; it is for this that they have, unfortunately for themselves, determined that the elections shall take place in June.

Reciprocity.

OUR consins over the border are fast recovering their sense of justice under the operation of the new Tariff. The one-sided plan of getting all and giving none, does not work. And so we find the San Francisco "Post" saying:—

"The Dominion of Canada and the German Empire are legislating against American manufactures and products. We cannot afford to complain. What is good for American industries cannot be bad for Canadian and German; but it occurs to us that if all the world were to follow our example, and adopt a strictly protective tariff, our exports would sensibly diminish except in the products of the field and orchard. Our workshops and factories would be left to supply the home market only. Is it not time to challenge universal reciprocity by a strictly revenue tariff?"

Miscellaneous News.

Navigation is open at Toronto.
It is proposed to establish a sugar refinery in Toronto.
A great deal of suffering has existed in Labrador during the past winter.
There are sixty vessels in the Welland Canal awaiting the opening of navigation.
It is said that the English sparrows in immense numbers are migrating westward.
The City of Glasgow Bank liquidators have declared a call for £2,250 on each £100 share.

Sir Francis Hincks denies the rumor that he is going to England in the interest of the Lieutenant Governor of Quebec.

A father was on the bench as judge, and his son at the bar as prisoner, at a Cleveland court.

Further developments leave little doubt that the Ottawa missing man, Thomas Vincent, has committed suicide.

Five ambitious dogs chased wolves in Sauk County, Wisconsin. The dogs bones were found on the following day.

Among Boston's April fools were eighteen insurance men, who went to the Parker House, arrayed in evening dress, to eat an imaginary dinner.

There are at present some two hundred and sixty-eight medical students in Toronto attending the examinations going on at the Toronto University.

Mrs. Madden, aged 80 years, of Hamilton, was burned to death on the evening of the 9th inst., by her clothes taking fire from a lamp explosion.

The Pulman Palace Car Company has 24 sleeping and hotel cars in England. Altogether in Europe and America, it has 800 cars, of an average value of $14,000 each, or a total of $11,200,000. The first Pullman car was built 20 years ago, and was run on the Chicago and Alton Railway.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says there are now nearly 12,000 bushels in their elevators, and expresses a hope that the navigation of the Straits were open, for the railroads are logging off the grain faster than it arrives. Then there are 4,000,000 bushels at Milwaukee, which will keep for vessels.

A keg of gold amounting to $12,000 was lately recovered from a mill pond, where it had been hidden for fourteen years. A guide that was with Jeff. Davis when he was making his flight through Georgia deserted the party on arriving in Wilkes County, stole the keg of money and rolled it into the pond. On his deathbed at the penitentiary where he was soon afterwards sent, he disclosed the locality of the treasure.

A letter just received from Nastatquan Point, on the Labrador coast, states that the first snow fell there on the 16th December, in small quantity. Really cold weather was not experienced till between the 12th and 25th of January, but it was nevertheless mild in comparison with former years—so much so, in fact, that the bays continued as clear of ice as in summer. The missionary, Rev. J. A. Chlaffour, who usually goes as far as Blanc Sablon in winter, was obliged to await the opening of the navigation. The destitution and suffering among the inhabitants along the coast were very great this winter—in fact, many would have died of want but for the assistance sent down last fall by the Government; and unless similar aid reaches them very soon this spring, a catastrophe may occur.

The Death-rate of

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year, especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find, too late, that a Fever or Lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.
