LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Unleavened Bread.

SIR,—The Baptists have closed their convention in this city, and have not thought fit to take up the subject of the bread used at the Lord's Supper.

When asked if they had done anything about it, the answer was they had no time, and too much business of greater importance to attend to.

This, I positively deny. Was it the union of the Churches, or what was it? I consider the most important was omitted—the Bread of the Lord's Supper.

They will find time enough to face the subject when the Master comes. There will be no backing out then. I am aware that the task I have taken is not an easy one. Where an error has taken such a stronghold on the greater part of the Churches, it is difficult to get them to look at it.

I have talked to some of them about it; they say they are aware the Scripture does not support their present practice, and if their Church wished it changed they would do so. I think the congregations are kept in darkness on the subject.

It is almost impossible to get a Church to reform. They have the idea they are the Church of Christ, and that He is prospering them. They look at the work they are carrying on by their missionaries, Churches and increase of members, and they think the Lord is working marvelous things.

To persuade them that they are in error, is impossible. They will not believe it.

According to the learned Dr. Whittby, unleavened bread was used in the Church until the eleventh century. Since that time it has fearfully changed.

"Leavened" in Scripture is a figure of malice, wickedness, false doctrine and hypocrisy. To place it on the Lord's Table at His supper, is most wicked and sinful and cannot escape punishment from the offended Master. They have taken the figure of these four abominations, viz.: malice, wickedness, hypocrisy and false doctrine, and put them in the Bread of the Lord's supper.
What can we expect of such an error?

Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Take a look around and you can easily see the crop that is coming from the seed they have sown. Be not high minded, but fear; for if I should spread not the natural branches, take heed that He spare not these. When the Son of man cometh shall he find faith on the earth.
This is one of Our Lord's sayings, spoken when on earth!

Some think our blessed Lord was harassed and pressed heavily upon, and he used this language in a time of excitement; and they bring this for an offset against it: "all the missionary work, and increase of churches and increase of converts. If our Lord came now, he would find a large amount of faith on the earth."

I think our Lord well knew what he was saying. He did not make such a mistake. It appears to me that our Lord had His mind on a time when the true faith, once delivered to the saints would be scarce, and not easily found. If he made his return at the present time, it would not be as plentiful as some try to make it appear.

There are different kinds of faith. The one given to the saints differs from a large portion that is preached and practised this present day. The faith given to the saints was that our Lord, when he was about to suffer at the last passover, took unleavened bread and broke it and gave it to his disciples and said: eat this, divide it among yourselves, do this in remembrance of me. And the apostle says: as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup you do show forth the Lord's death till he comes.

It is very easy to see the difference between the two kinds of faith—the one given to the saints given in unleavened bread, the emblem of sincerity and truth; the other in leavened bread, the figure of malice, wickedness, hypocisy and false doctrine. You can see that there is an impossibility of preaching and practising the faith once delivered to the saints, and continue in the use of leavened bread in the ordinance of the Lord's Supper.
It is wrong for any persons to say they are guided by the Word of God to use leavened bread at the Lord's Supper. I am pleased to learn there are a few Churches that use the unleavened bread. May they prosper.

Thanking you, sir, for your valuable space, I remain,
A BAPTIST.

Ch'town, September, 1887.

The Threatened Scarcity of Beef.

The Chicago Tribune, in a long report concerning the so-called "dress-beef ring," at that time, says that a "best famine is not far away." Estimates as to the destruction of cattle in the Northwest last winter are that "in Montana there were about 400,000 head, in Idaho about 100,000, in Wyoming about 300,000, in Colorado about 50,000, or 850,000 head in all.
During the summer, on account of the excessive drought, it is estimated that the losses in the beef-producing states, such as Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, and in New Mexico, Texas, Nebraska, Minnesota, and Dakota, swelled the total to 1,500,000 head of beef. It is now known that from 50 to 75 per cent. less of calves were born this spring than is usual, owing to climate causes, which must have its effect in time. To this must be added the fact that cattle producers have been rushing their surviving stock on the market at an unparalleled rate, and from these and other causes many ranchmen are discouraged and are going out of business.
Those who are opposed to this view argue that there are still 25,000,000 heaves and 13,000,000 milch cows in the country. The bulk of these, however, enter into local consumption and use.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other

To Mr. Joseph McDonald, Mail Carrier, Ver-

DEAR SIR,—As the term of your contract as mail carrier between Vernon River and Wood Islands is about to expire, we are gratified to be able to add our testimony to the very efficient, obliging and regular manner in which you have at all times performed your part during the past four years. The route you travelled is by no means an easy one during the inclement season in winter, and as we reside at the terminus we can say that the regularity of trips has been commendable.

With best wishes for your future welfare,

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN,—When I contracted for the conveyance of the mails between Vernon River and Wood Islands, I determined to do my best to meet the reasonable expectations of the people interested; and that I have performed the service—at times an arduous task —in such a manner as to merit your approval, as evidenced by your kind address, is to me a source of great satisfaction.

Thanking you, and the people along the whole route, for their uniform courtesy and kindness, and bespeaking for the next courier the same generous treatment that I always received at your hands,
I am,
Yours truly,

The World's Wheat Crop.

In its issue of August 25, the Cincinnati Price Current enters into some interesting calculations, based in large part upon preliminary crop estimates at home and abroad.
It gives the world's wheat production in 1887, with comparisons, as follows:—
