Local and Other Items.

A NEW WAY.—Wallace, N. S., raised over $250 for sidewalk purposes at a recent tea meeting.

A GOOD SALARY.—The chief of the culinary department of the Alonquin hotel, St. Andrew's, N. B, receives a salary of $250 per month.

MEN and women prematurely gray, and whose hair was failing, are enthusiastic in praising Hall's Hair Renewer for restoring the color and preventing baldness.

MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.—In case of the absence or illness of any person entitled to be added to the voting list, another person may make the necessary application in his behalf.

THE USUAL RESULT.—Some small boys were playing with a dynamite cartridge at Sussex, N. B., recently, and accidentally set it off. Several of the boys were seriously burned.

KILLED IN A COAL MINE.—A miner named Hugh Macdonald, employed in the Reserve Mines, Cape Breton, was recently killed while at work by a pile of coal falling upon him.

IN THE CREAM.—An exchange reports that about two hundred persons were made very ill by poisoning at a picnic recently held near Kingston, Ont. The prompt efforts of the doctors who were summoned saved all who had been attacked. The poison was discovered, on analysis, to have been in the cream.

THE CAPE BRETON LEPERS.—A vessel arrived at Port Hastings, C. B., a few days ago, sent by the Dominion Government, for the purpose of conveying to the lazaretto at Tracadie, N B., those from the different parts of the island who are afflicted with leprosy. Though several cases were reported by the physician sent there to investigate, only one person is said to have been shipped.

MURDER WILL OUT.—About forty years ago Alex. Greenough, of a small New Hampshire town, was suspected of killing a German peddler, but the charge could not be proved and he finally sold out and came to Quebec. He, however, committed forgery there and left the country, settling down in Chili, South America. A few weeks since Greenough took sick, and believing that his end was near confessed killing the peddler. He did not die, however, and now the Chilian authorities have him under surveillance, while his written confession has been sent to Canada and the United States.

FISHING IN KING'S, N. S.—Not less than $7,000 to $8,000 worth of salmon and alewives, chiefly the latter, were caught on the Gaspereaux, King's, this season, and this is the result of opening the dam some few years ago with the Rogers' patent fishway. At ruling prices there has been sufficent increase on the river already to pay the interest at six per cent. on $120,000, while the cost of the fishways were a mere trifle, probably $350. With all the dams in the country thus opened and all the natural falls surmounted by this invaluable invention, and the bay and harbors along the coast filled with young fish life as a result, what a boon we should have in our mackerel catch, as well as all other coast fish.—Hx. Herald.

MURDER MOST FOUL.—A murder of a most atrocious character was committed at Somerville, a suburb of Boston, at an early hour on Saturday morning last. The victims were Mrs. Catherine Smith and her 14-year old son Thomas, who were shot and killed instantly. Two younger children were wounded. The murder was committed in a tenement occupied by Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith was shot while asleep in bed, and Thomas received a bullet in his forehead while attempting to escape from the house. The other two children were wounded while in their room in the attic. Augustus Rosenburg, who has been living with Mrs. Smith since her husband mysteriously disappeared some time ago, was the murderer. No motive is assigned for the deed. The generally accepted theory is that Rosenburg was insane. After doing the shooting Rosenburg jumped from the second story window into the yard, where later on his body was found. There were no marks of violence on the body, but signs of poisoning were visible.

Telegraphic Odds and Ends.

BELGRADE, July 13.—The military council has decided to arm 30,000 men of third levy.

JACKSONVILLE, Oregon., July 13.—Three prisoners were suffocated by the burning of the jail yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 13.—Wm. P. Swope, a well-known attorney, has disappeared, and he is said to be an embezzler to the extent of $10,000.

LAFAYETTE, La., July 13.—An armed body of men broke open the parish jail and took therefrom Felix Keis, colored, who last Tuesday murdered his wife. He was taken to the scene of his crime and executed by the mob.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 13.—Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, who holds a lease of the Murray tower property, offers to transfer it if the city will undertake to beautify and improve the property as a public park. It is virtually a gift of a lot worth $40,000 to the city.

SWEETSBURG, Que., July 13.—At the examination in the case of Wm. Warren and wife, held charged with the murder of their adopted boy Thomas Westhover, ten witnesses were examined and strong evidence given against the prisoners. However, many believe the boy really hung himself, and that the accused, finding him, were alarmed and tried to hide the matter.

PARIS, July 14.—Deroulode, Laguerre and other Boulangists, members of the Chamber of Deputies, assembled at Place de la Concorde to-day, intending to hold a meeting. A crowd of several thousand persons gathered, and Deroulode was about to begin his speech when the police interfered. Deroulode led the crowd in shouts of "Vive Boulanger." The police attempted to arrest him but the mob rescued him. Finally the police drove away the mob, making many arrests. Dangerous developments are feared.

An African Horror.

FRIGHTFUL TORTURES OF A DEAD KING'S WIVES.

A horrible story of human sacrifices comes from the east coast of Africa. A short time ago the King of Eobe, a province on the Niger, died. Some English traders from New Calabar went up the country to pay their respects to the new sovereign. When they reached Eobe they found what are called the "Ju Ju" rites were being performed. The old king, who had been dead about two months, was still lying in an open grave. It was large enough to accommodate nine of the departed ruler's youngest wives, who had been murdered in the cruelest manner. Each of them had her ankles and wrists broken so that she could neither walk nor crawl. In this maimed condition, and suffering the most excruciating pain, the poor creatures were placed at the bottom of the grave, seven of them lying side by side. The king's body was then laid on them in a transverse direction. Then the two remaining women were laid by his side. There they were left without food or water to wait for their kind liberator, death, which, however, it is said, did not come to their release until after four or five days of intense suffering. In the meantime four men were stationed around the grave, armed with clubs, ready to knock backward any of the women who might manage to crawl to the side of the pit. In other parts of the town human sacrifices were taking place. Suspended from various trees were the bodies of several men. They, too, were undergoing agonizing deaths, holes having, in most cases, been bored through their feet, just by the ankles. Through these holes ropes were drawn and the men tied to a high tree, head downward, and left to die. These are only specimens of the fiendish cruelties practised, and which the traders were quite powerless to prevent. For the next ten months these sacrifices will be continued.

Queen Victoria as a Stage-Prompter.

A delicious story, for the accuracy of which we can vouch (writes one of our correspondents), is "going around," anent Mr. Irving's and Miss Ellen Terry's visit to Sandringham. It appears that all was going beautifully with the Merchant of Venice—Her Majesty seated in front, stick in hand and all attention—until Miss Terry's time came as Portia to deliver her great speech about Mercy. We all know how she does it, advancing towards the Jew and making a marked and peculiar pause before delivering her oration. The kind Queen, who was all attention, and had probably been carefully instructed in her own youth by the Duchess of Kent or her good governess in Shakespeare's "titbits" was eagerly following the gifted actress, but mistook the pause for some sudden failure of memory. So the Queen began prompting her quite low, "The quality of mercy," etc.; but Miss Terry did not take the cue, and Her Majesty then repeated rather more loudly and encouragingly, "The quality of mercy is not strained." This was almost too much for Miss Terry, but, with a violent effort to suppress her twinkling merriment, she controlled herself, and graciously accepted her cue from our gracious sovereign. Good Queen Bess, we know, used to shout at the preachers, and correct them openly in theology when they preached before her, but this is probably the first time that an actress has ever been honored by having a Queen and Empress as stage prompter.—Pall Mall Gazettee.

THE inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier should be known to every wife and mother. It corrects irregularities, gives tone and strength to the vital organs, and cleanses the system of all impurities. The best family medicine.

Picnic Courtship.

When summer fair her charms display,
And wild flowers gem the leas,
And musical are woods and ways
With song birds' melodies.

The gentle maid, in white arrayed,
Then to the picnic hies,
And helps to make the lemonade
And carve the custard pies.

She walks with John o'er mead and lea
And plucks the daisies white,
And hears his vows of love, and she
Returns engaged at night.

Odds and Ends.

What are the wild waves saying? They are probably telling fish stories to one another.

The American system of checking baggage is admitted to be excellent. Now, if some genius would invent a method of checking the American baggage-smasher our system would be perfect.

It is said that the land is so rich in many parts of Missouri that melons cannot be raised on it. The melons grow all right, but the vines grow so fast that they wear the melons out dragging them around the prairie after them.

Mosquitoes are so plentiful in Chicago that a couple of lovers sitting on the back steps of a residence on Wabash avenue were bitten 350 times in 30 minutes. They didn't mind it, however—in fact, they didn't know they had received a bite until an hour after.

"Talking ob law," said Brother Gardiner, "makes me think ob what de' mortal Cato, who lib' 'most a thousan' years ago, once said: 'De law am like a groun' glass window, dat gibs light 'nuff to light us poor folks in de dark passages of dis life; but it would puzzle de debble hisself to see through it!"

"Be your own doctor," advises a patent-medicine advertiser. It is pretty good advice, too. The man who is his own doctor can visit himself half a dozen times a week, charge $1 a visit, collect $25 at the end of the month, and be just that much in pocket. We don't suppose he ever looked at it in that light.

If you drop your collar button there is one sure method of finding it. After you have hauled the bureau across the room to look under it, then replace the heavy furniture and put on a heavy pair of shoes, start to walk across the room, and before you have taken three steps you will step on the collar button and smash it all to pieces.

AN OLD RELIC.—The Annapolis Spectator says: Yesterday we were shown a piece of a cannon's mouth weighing some 19 or 20 lbs, which was dug out of a railway cut a mile or two below Annapolis. The original was evidently a tenpounder used by the French or English in defending the colony. The lock of a musket with the flint still in it was found in Mr. John Gavaza's lot in the railway cutting. The bolts were in a position as if the wooden stock had crumbled away.

COLD, cough, coffin is what philosophers term "a logical sequence." One is very liable to follow the other; but by curing the cold with a dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cough will be stopped and the coffin not needed.
