The next deadline for articles, sightings, or other newsletter information is Oct. 31, 2004

Illustrations/Pictures: The Society extends a special thanks to the late Hal Hinds and Dover Colouring Books for their illustrations in this issue.

The Natural History Society gratefully acknowledges support from the Department of Education and Human Resources which enables distribution of newsletters to schools and libraries desiring it. The Natural History Society is an affiliate of the Canadian Nature Federation and has representation on the board of the Island Nature Trust. The Society is a registered, non-profit organization (Part 2, Companies Act). Tax receipts are issued for donations to the Society and these funds are used to further the work of the Society.

Reprinting: Editors of other newsletters and teachers wishing to copy classroom materials are welcome to reprint articles from the Island Naturalist (except when copyrighted). Due acknowledgment must be provided to the Island Naturalist, the author and illustrator. Web page: The Society's web page is located at www.isn.net/~nhspei

Cover Illustration:

Common here on the Island on certain parts of saltmarshes, the sea-lavender or marsh-rosemary (Limonium carolinianum (Walt.) Britt) is used in for dry flower arrangements. This practice, used for commercial purposes could threaten this species.
