REAGH & MILLER, - - Proprietors.
Designed to Educate Young Men for Business.

OUR SYSTEM is conducted on Actual Business and Scientific Principles, and embraces all subjects necessary for a thorough Commercial Education. Our facilities for teaching these are the most complete that have ever been devised. Theory and practice are combined, and the whole course rendered so interesting and practical that the duldest student cannot fail to be largely benefited. The course of Study is short, practical, useful and reasonable; it is just what every MAN needs and will use, no matter what his calling or profession is to be.

The youth commencing a business life with only industry and integrity as his capital, the clerk engaged during business hours, but desirous by evening study to repair the defects in his education, each have the advantage offered by our sessions occupying DAY AND EVENING. Morning Session, 9.30 to 12, and 2 to 4 p. m. Evening Session, 7.30 to 9.30.

Diplomas granted to such as pass satisfactory examinations. Students may enter at any time. No entrance examination required.
Business men and others are cordially invited to call and examine our system.

Teach your sons what they will practice when they become men.

The Souris Correspondent.

WHAT has become of the Souris correspondent? Has he expended so much brain force in arranging the minutes of the Souris West meeting, that he has not since been able to muster sufficient to throw away on "Souris Notes." Or may it be possible that a portion of that, necessary for work of this nature, has found a way of escape through the rents and openings of that famous hat "through which the elements whistled for over a score of years"—otherwise known as the element hat. Or it may be, that he finds his critical business—a business critical in more ways than one—more remunerative, and consequently devotes to it his sole attention. Whatever the trouble, this much is certain, that during the past season numerous opportunities were offered, by taking advantage of which this sophist of the East could display still further his rare literary genius, and show his ability in his lately adopted profession. It was in anticipation of a production from the pen of this reporter, that others were silent with regard to the principal events of the present winter, enacted here.

I happened to be present at an entertainment given on the 28th January, under the auspices of Phoenix Division, No. 126, Sons of Temperance; and as I was informed that the reporter was present, I took no notes, nor the names of the different actors; therefore at this distant date I can hardly be expected to give a just and intelligent report of the proceedings. But although I cannot particularize, I feel constrained to express my approbation of, and satisfaction with, the proceedings in general. The stage was beautifully decorated and everything appeared in order. The hall was comfortably filled with an appreciative and respectable audience, notwithstanding the unusually stormy weather previous, and the bad roads in consequence. The programme was well-selected, and the parts very naturally sustained the different characters, two or three in particular. We heard several declare that it was one of the best, if not the best, variety entertainment ever given in Souris; and the manner in which it was conducted reflects great credit on the managers and performers. I wish I could do it justice, and I consider it a pity that those who performed so well should not have received that public commendation, to which they were justly entitled. The entertainment was repeated on the Thursday following—proceeds devoted to the poor. The Oddfellows of the place were, at that time, also preparing to give a dramatic entertainment, which, I understand, came off successfully on Thursday, the 16th Feb., when was enacted the popular play, entitled, "Handy Andy." It was repeated on Tuesday following. Not being present, I am not in a position to state particulars; but, I understand, it was well received.
Perhaps Shakespeare will report it. The ball given after the entertainment at Bayne hotel was not as successful as was expected, for various reasons. Its written history would prove interesting—those parts in particular in which some of the Souris gentlemen, noted for manliness and liberality, figured conspicuously. I wish some person able to give a particular report of these matters had done so; but I cannot allow any opportunity to pass by which I can express my appreciation of honorable and creditable efforts.

NOVUS HOMO.

March, 1882.

Montague Notes.

Mr. Richard Butler, accompanied by Messrs. Bethune, Drew, Harris and Perry, from the establishment of Mr. Mark Butcher, Charlottetown, put together and fitted in their places forty pews and a communion rail in the Catholic Chapel, commencing Friday morning and finishing by five o'clock on Saturday. The pews are of ash, trimmed with walnut, and very handsome. The rail is of walnut with gilt bronze corner brackets. The whole present a beautiful appearance, and is in perfect keeping with the rest of the building, reflecting credit on the workmen.

The Rev. E. Bayne preached here yesterday morning.

Mr. Alexander McKenzie, formerly of Strathalbyn, died last night of inflammation of the lungs, after about four days illness.

Roads are bad, ice poor, the top crust breaks through at almost every step of a horse. Mad raising not as active as former years.

Montague, March 6, 1882.

Once upon a time, in the remoter parts of Scotland, there was a dinner party, composed of the inferior sex only, in which what a recent writer has called the "savage observance" of whiskey toddy set in according to custom. Men talked, and there was one particular man who began to talk sport. He recounted various anecdotes of his own prowess, which the company, with one exception, received with polite and good-humored acceptance. The exception was an ancient man, who was observed to balance his toddy ladle with a clouded brow and twitching fingers. At last, after some more than ordinarily outrageous Munchausenism, a fresh story was begun. "I started some woodcocks, you know, and the fact is I missed." At this point the toddy ladle dropped with a clang, and the voice of the aged was heard, "I believe that."

Some one estimates that if a man lives to be 72 years old he passes at least twenty-four of them in sleep. This is a rather low estimate—in case the man is a policeman. About ten years more of sleep should be added. If he is an editor ten years should be deducted.

Leopold Von Ranke, the veteran historian, recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his admission to the Academy of Sciences, Berlin. He is now in his eighty-seventh year.

NEWS NOTES

Where Garfield delivered a brief address in Wisconsin in 1876 the town of Garfield now flourishes and perpetuates his name.

The increased activity of China in military and naval preparations are very marked. Steel torpedo boats are being built.

"I like to hear a baby cry," said a crusty old bachelor. "Why?" "Because then the little nuisance is taken out of the room."

The Ozar takes it into his head to treat General Skobeloff like a naughty boy. This is very unwise. Skobeloff would make a great leader for the revolutionists.

The Chinese say that almost all the Japanese who resided in various parts of Pekin have left, so that only two or three remain in the Japanese Legation.

Nevada used to send out wealth; now it is taking it in. All the mines in the State yielded during 1881 about $4,500,000—less than enough to pay the cost of operating them.

The Mississippi Legislature shows a disposition to meet Governor Lowry in his purpose to encourage immigration to that State. The Senate has passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for this purpose.

When a man shoots at a potentate, as did Maclean at the Queen of England, and Guiteau at the President, many people immediately attribute the act to lunacy. The bullet will stay all the same.

The times are out of joint in the West, particularly in Ohio, where a youth shot his invalid mother. A man shot his wife in Illinois, and Indiana had its crime this week. It is time for another comet.

There are now nearly five hundred men in jail in Ireland, some of them members of Parliament, and not one of them has had even a preliminary trial. "The ways of justice," says the Dublin (Irish) Times, "are past finding out."

Chicago, with half a million inhabitants, has only 262 police patrolmen. The total number of arrests last year was 34,773, and the cost of the department was $77,038.77.
Three policemen were murdered during the year. Chief McGarigle pleads for 250 more men.

President Arthur has a wonderful memory for faces. At one time he travelled in a railroad car for a few miles with a physician who was carrying a brother to some kind of an asylum. Seven years afterward he met the doctor, called him by name, and inquired for the brother.

"What time is it, my dear?" asked a wife of her husband, whom she suspected of being drunk, but who was doing his best to look sober. "Well, my darling, I can't tell, 'cause you see there are two hands on my watch and each points to a different figure, and I don't know which to believe."

The national Tonic beverage, beer, according to the Paris "Figaro," is largely used at the royal table in Berlin. The Emperor William's favorite dish is beer soup, made very sweet, with toasted bread in it; the Crown Prince likes beef stewed in beer, which imparts a peculiar flavor to the meat; and the Empress is particularly fond of eels with beer sauce.

It is said that the silk cocoons of California are the finest in the world, but inexperience in reeling the fibre deteriorates the value of the production. In Japan the reeling of the cocoon is so perfectly performed that the Japanese fibre is commonly nine and a half miles long, without a break. The art of reeling is not a difficult one to attain, as it simply requires careful-ness and delicacy of handling.

Colonel Ingersoll's father is said to have been a preacher of extraordinary force and eloquence. The Louisville "Courier-Journal" learns that on one occasion "he so vividly portrayed the tortures of hell that the whole vast audience was swayed like trees by a strong wind." He began his sermon that day at one o'clock in the afternoon and ceased speaking at sundown.

Russia encourages women in the medical profession. Twelve female doctors are now officially engaged in teaching medicine to women, thirty are in the service of the Zemstovos and forty others serve the hospitals. The number of female students is steadily increasing. Twenty-five female doctors who took part in the military operations of 1877 have been decorated, by order of the Emperor, with the Order of St. Stanislas of the third class.

It is said that the most of the reputed discoverers of famous ore beds on the Pacific coast met with a melancholy fate. Allen and Hosea Groesch, brothers, discovered important silver mines in Nevada, and while endeavoring to work them Hosea died from the effects of a pick wound in the foot. Allen who had been in San Francisco for machinery, was caught in a storm, and reduced to the extremity of subsisting on his own mule. He was rescued, but subsequently died from the effects of that exposure. W. S. Bodie, who discovered the ore deposits bearing his name in Mono county, Cal., perished in a storm.

The Washington Star says that "the Chinese Minister apparently enjoys society very much. He does not yet understand English, but is very observant and seems to comprehend much of what is going on about him through watching actions and gestures. He could not have his interpreter with him at the State dinner at the White House last week, and so was the only person there who did not understand any of the languages spoken by the others present. When he makes calls, as he does daily, his interpreter always accompanies him. His wife does not have any opportunity of learning English, since no one except her husband and her woman servants, all of whom are Chinese, are permitted to be with her.
