CONGRATULATIONS!

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Kim Gass on her victory for the position for Vice President External in the past S.U. elections. I would also like to congratulate the other candidates who won their positions. I feel a warm congratulations should also go to the other candidates who ran, but came in second place and hope that they, like myself, found it to be a learning experience. A warm thanks goes out to everyone who supported me especially Mike Trainor and Sharon Nunn, and also to Janet Braum and the other electoral officers for a job well done. I look forward to working with the Student Union and the University community next year, and wish next year's executive a successful and prosperous year.

Sincerely yours,
Gus Hillstrom

The day of the Election.

To: Anyone willing to listen to the concerned.

I would like to take a little time to recollect upon the past election from the standpoint of those of us who did not vote and have no plans ever to do so in these so called representations of the student's opinions (popularity contests). Now most of us don't mind with the occurrence of these 'elections'

(some people watch football and other such de-meaning things) but since these contests were carried out with the subtlety of your average tank division the strain upon the person trying to allow the children to play their silly little games becomes more apparent. The atrocities start with minor little things such as those massive posters that people produce on an assembly line system and place all over campus in order to publicize their 'candidate' and thus gain a boost to the ego if the person wins. Now we all know that it is a basic human habit to write on walls, for it is assumed that others will read the writing on the wall and take heed, but this leads to the scaring of the wall coverings and thus the general dislike of those who have to clean the walls. To state one or two examples of this, observe the plaster in the Robertson Lounge or the
