Harper's Young People.

An Illustrated Weekly.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE has been called "the model of what a periodical for young readers ought to be," and the justice of this commendation is amply sustained by the large circulation it has attained both at home and in Great Britain. This success has been reached by methods that must commend themselves to the judgment of parents, no less than to the tastes of children—namely, by an earnest and well-sustained effort to provide the best and most attractive reading for young people at a low price. The illustrations are copious and of a conspicuous high standard of excellence.

An epitome of everything that is attractive and desirable in juvenile literature.—Boston Courier.

Bay View Notes.

Christmas and New Year's passed off very quietly. Even our "doughty neighbors" were, we think, abundantly satisfied with the amount of moisture to which they were treated on those days.

On New Year's eve the Cavendish Literary Society gave us an excellent entertainment, which consisted of speeches, readings, recitations, dialogues and music. The large audience in the hall showed their appreciation of the different performances by the hearty applause they rendered.

The half-yearly examination of our school took place on the fourth of January, and was attended by the trustees and a few of the parents. All present expressed themselves well satisfied with the progress made during the term. Our teacher, Miss Mary J. Smith, of New Glasgow, seems to possess the sympathy and respect of the scholars to a great degree, and will, we think, make a very successful teacher. If parents would show their interest in the school by attending examinations it would be a great means of encouraging both teacher and trustees.

The Farmers Convention is to meet in the "Cavendish Hall" by invitation of Bay View and Cavendish Farmers Clubs, on Thursday, the 13th of January. We hope to see a good representation of leading farmers from all parts of the Island present on that occasion, and we will be prepared to entertain all who may favor us with their presence.

Hon. D. Ferguson will lecture for us on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst. We are not yet aware of what his subject will be, but we are satisfied that there is a treat in store for us.

There is great surmising as to when the Dominion elections will come off; but it would be about as easy to guess the date of the millennium.

Both parties working up their cases as best they can. The Conservatives are fortunate in having one thorough temperance candidate in the field, and it is a pity they had not two of them, it would make their chances still better; but we trust they will see the propriety of leaving the rum business altogether in the hands of the other party, as they will need considerable liquid stimulant to wash down their stale speeches.

Our genial friend, John C. Clark, Esq., has left on a cruise to the far West. He goes as far as Minnesota, where he will spend some time with his brothers-in-law, Rev. D. H. and B. F. Simpson, the former whom resides at Stillwater, and the latter at Duluth. He expects to go to Winnipeg and Port Arthur, and return by the C. P. R., north of Lake Superior. This will be a well earned vacation for one of our busiest and most successful farmers.

Eighty Years of Service.

THE AGED KAISER REVIEWS HIS MILITARY CAREER.

The Emperor William, on the 1st January inst., celebrated the eightieth anniversary of his entrance into the Prussian army by receiving all his commanding generals, headed by Crown Prince Frederick William. The Crown Prince addressed the Emperor as follows:—"The army celebrates with your majesty the day upon which, eighty years ago, you entered the army. On several occasions we have been fortunate in coming before our chief in war to thank him for leading us through severe struggles to glorious victories. To-day, however, your majesty can look upon sixteen years which have been richly blessed by peace—years, above all, dedicated to the undisturbed development and strengthening of an empire which was only established after long waiting and struggling. This work of peace succeeded because your majesty's competent and active leadership raised the capability of the army to that state of perfection of which every German soldier is justly proud. The Prussia principle that no difference exists between the people and the army, because both are always ready to defend their country, has, by your majesty's care, become the property of the whole German nation. In this natural capability lies our greatest security for the maintenance of peace. May I, then, again tell your Majesty that our strong and united nation, in grateful love and faithfulness, always ready for sacrifices, trusts in its emperor and leader in war, looks with joyful confidence upon him as the preserver of the peace, and cherishes the wish that God's blessing in fullness may dwell upon him." The Emperor, replying, referred to his father, who, he said, allowed him to enter the army with the hope that he would experience better times than Prussia had endured. Providence had permitted him to see such happier times in the fullest measure. These better days were especially due to the successes of the army. Here the Emperor, much moved, embraced the Crown Prince and afterwards Gen. Von Moltke, to whom he spoke in an earnest manner, thanking him for his unparalleled services. Finally turning to the other officers present he said he hoped to meet them again on the First of January, 1888.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entire different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected, and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Unwarranted Attack.

"The ends he has gained by lying, appear to be more owing to their frequency, than the art of them; his lies being sometimes detected in an hour, often in a day, and always in a week."—DEAN SWIFT.

SIR,—For some time I have been expecting to see in your columns a reply from some of the citizens of Georgetown, to the unwarrantable attack made by L. H. Davies, Esq., in a letter published in your columns on the 25th Nov. ultimo, on the electors of that town. In his letter, Mr. Davies said, "I further said I thought that protection would be afforded by adopting the principle of representation by population in the single chamber, if we are determined to have only one. I pointed out that the abolition of the Council would leave the small borough of Georgetown, with its few hundreds of voters, on the same footing as the rich and populous districts of Belfast and Port Augustus." From this you can readily see that Mr. Davies, had he the power, would be inclined to take from Georgetown the privilege it has exercised for nearly forty years, and to make it plainer, a little further on he says, "This, I contended, would be unfair and unjust." As Mr. Davies is the recognized leader of the Grit party, and has placed on record his belief in the advisability of abolishing the Legislative Council, the electors of Georgetown may feel assured that when the Grits get into power their privilege of returning two members to the Local Legislature will be abolished, and they will be tacked on to Murray Harbor or Cardigan districts. Some may think that Mr. Davies was not far astray when he advocated the disfranchisement of Georgetown; but when we remember that the representatives selected by Georgetown in the past, have been men of more than ordinary ability; that two of those representatives have filled the honorable position of Lieutenant-Governor of this Province; that another of them was styled the "grammarian" of the House; and that others have been noted for their ability as legislators; the people of this Province can find no reason to regret that the Town, Common and Royalty of Georgetown has constituted one of the Electoral Districts of this Island. And Mr. Davies should also remember that the celebrated Edmund Burke in one of his works said, "The constitution of a country being once expressed, there is no power existing of force to alter it, without the breach of the covenant, or the consent of all the parties." Even if the majority of the representatives of this Province should vote to take away the right that Georgetown has, it would not be fair or just to do so. But, Georgetown returns two Liberal-Conservative members; and Mr. Davies, like his friend, Mr. Mowat, of Ontario, would like to remedy this state of affairs. If the Grits were in power, by gerrymandering such as was lately practised in Ontario, the borough of Georgetown would be wiped out. Let the electors of Georgetown remember what will be their fate when the Grits gain power. The leader of the party has spoken, and his followers are "always ready to cry out 'vox Davies, vox dei,'" and his views will be followed, irrespective of every consideration, but party gain. No doubt the candidates in the Grit interest who solicit the votes of the people of Georgetown, will say nothing of the "principle of representation by population." The only Doctor will fawn and flatter the electors of Georgetown, notwithstanding the fact that he wished to take the terminus of the railway to St. Andrew's Point. The burly Doctor will expect support, although he placed an open insult on Georgetown, by taking the Marine Hospital to Souris, instead of building it at the only proper harbor on this side of the Island. We will see if the electors of Georgetown will put up with this kind of usage, for any of them who vote for a Grit must approve of all these insults. Let the people of Georgetown become united in defence of their town and its rights, and the day foretold by the poet when

"Georgetown a city yet to be Prince Edward's eastern pride, will lawn, and the natural advantages of the town in conjunction with its magnificent harbor and contiguity to the fishing grounds, will be fully used by an enterprising and industrial population. It has been too much the habit of even residents of Georgetown to decry the place. No town will ever grow unless the citizens have confidence in it and themselves. If trade does not prosper in one way, it will in another, and Georgetown will get its share if the people work for it. I do not mean to say that a good business is not now done in Georgetown, for such would not be the fact. In no town of like size are there so many citizens who are well off or well to do; and although the trade there is not so lively as in some other places, perhaps it is on a surer foundation. I fear I trespass on your space, but I thought it only fair and just to say a word in favor of the town where many of my early days were passed, and in favor of a place that will in the future (when the Subway is built) be the port of call for the ocean steamers en route for Montreal. With direct railway communication with the mainland, the mail steamers from England would touch at Georgetown and land their mails and passengers as they now do at Rimouski, for it would save nearly two days ocean voyage, besides giving greater despatch.

With best wishes for the success of this Province in general, and Georgetown in particular, not forgetting THE EXAMINER and its staff.
I am, Sir,
Yours sincerely,
O. N.
