It seems that a few more particulars would be interesting in addition to what appears in your issue of the 22nd.

The wife of Jabez Barnard, Sr. was a Miss Hawkins, whose mother was Miss Catherine McConachie, a young Scotch girl who at 17 years of age came to this Province from Scotland with Chief Justice Stewart and his wife—Miss McConachie was a niece of Mrs. Stewart and was brought up in her family. Stewart was the first Chief Justice of the Province. The vessel that brought them here was wrecked but the Stewarts were landed near Casco Bay and afterwards came to Charlottetown.

Miss McConachie married an Englishman, John Hawkins. They had six daughters and two sons. The latter will be remembered by the older residents as William and John Hawkins, both of whom are now dead and I understand left no direct descendants. The daughters were Mrs. Barnard, Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. Pyke, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Bulpitt and Mrs. McKay. You have given the names of most of the remaining residents descended from Mrs. Barnard, but you have made a few errors, for instance the Hudsons should be spelled Hodgson, and the name of Miss Hodgson in Summerside is Ethel, not Nellie.

The descendants of Mrs. Pyke are the families of the late Donald and John P. Nicholson, and of Mrs. D. Bethune. The descendants of Mrs. Williams are Mr. Harry Williams and Miss Agnes Williams, and the descendants of Mrs. Bulpitt are the Bulpitt families of Rosemeath, so that they would all be related (although distant) to Col. Knox and naturally will be interested in his success.

Col. Knox's maternal grandfather Jabez Alder Barnard was born here January 10, 1820. He was a builder and joined the California gold rush of 1849, being one of about 50 shareholders and passengers in the famous brig "Fanny", which left here in the middle of November with the sun shining brightly and the weather warm and fine. The steamer "Rose" with about 300 persons on board took the "Fanny" in tow to the three Idles. The wharves were crowded to excess, with anxious lookers-on and off the "Fanny" sailed. She rounded the "Horn" and reached her destination, but Jabez Barnard did not strike it rich and left for the Sandwich Islands where it is said he established the first Protestant mission there, eventually leaving there for Boston. Among his children were Sarah Barnard Knox, the Colonel's mother and Captain Wm. H. Barnard, who sailed for many years between this port and the British West Indies and Trinidad. Captain Barnard resided in Summerside for several years.

Col. Knox was born January 1, 1874 (seven years to the day after the writer was born) and some years thereafter the family removed to Grand Rapids, Mich. The New York American relates that he started early in life delivering newspapers after school for $2.25 a week, and after his return from the World War he accepted the general management of the entire Hearst newspaper chain, the biggest chain of its kind in the world, at a salary of $150,000 a year. Later he purchased a controlling interest in the Chicago Daily News. The "American" continues: "Early in life he acquired the success habit." He must have inherited his dynamic energy as he did his Scotch thrift from the distaff side of the family." "As a newsboy, collegian, trooper, cub reporter, circulation manager, newspaper publisher, artillery officer and party leader, Col. Knox has managed to attain success in everything he set out to do.

DUKE OF KENT GIVES TALK IN PARENT'S ROLE

"For cruelly there is no excuse, and, as a parent, it is a thing I cannot understand."

The Duke of Kent, who used these words to the annual meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of which he is president, in London, recently, added:

"In the civilization in which we live it seems strange that a society such as yours should be necessary. I am sure that it is a surprise to many people to read of the unhappy large number of cases of cruelty and neglect dealt with each year," he went on.

"The figures in the report show that last year's cases were the highest since the war; on the other hand, cases of wilful cruelty were less frequent, and the number of prosecutions is the lowest since the foundation of the society."

The rain bow has always been of good cheer to farmers because when there is a rainbow, there has been rain for the crops. Another good friend of farmers is H. & N.'s "BLACK TWIST" CHEWING because its stimulating, friendly flavor and lasting goodness help to smooth the furrows of care.
