Parking Meter System In City Likely To Be Changed

A strong possibility that the entire local system of parking meters will be completely replaced early this spring was indicated at last night's monthly meeting of the newly-elected City Council.

A crowded chamber greeted Mayor Edwin C. Johnstone and the new Council at their initial sitting. Every seat in the spectators section was filled and a score or more of citizens stood in the doorway.

Prior to commencing the regular business of the Council, Mayor Johnstone threw open the meeting to any groups or individuals wishing to draw Council's attention to some matter of public or private concern.

Mr. J. J. MacKay, New Glasgow, representing the Duncan Parking Meters of Canada, explained to Council the advantages of using his particular type of machine.

REVENUE TOO LOW

Mr. MacKay said that Charlottetown's present revenue from parking meters was the lowest of any Maritime city, and constituted "an all-time record in revenue."
