Bruins Shut Out Habs Saturday; Leafs And Red Wings Also Victorious

BOSTON 2, MONTREAL 0
MONTREAL, March 16—(CP)—Boston Bruins shut out Montreal Canadiens 2-0 Saturday night and the all-important result gave the Bruins a firmer grip on fourth place in the fast-waning National Hockey League race.
Ed Sandford and the veteran Milt Schmidt supplied the only goals of the game which was almost devoid of color. The Bruins, badly needing a win to hang on to the last play-off spot, played cagily, took few chances and checked closely.
The crowd of 14,487 had little to enthuse about. Canadiens too often floundered about in trying to get an attack going. When they did get rolling they ran up against the superb goal-tending performance of Sugar Jim Henry, who earned his sixth shutout of the season.
Maurice (Rocket) Richard came back into action with Canadiens for the first time since Feb. 4. Well tanned after a two-week rest in Florida and seemingly unhurt by the groin injury that laid him low, the Rocket nevertheless lacked effectiveness after the long layoff.
Canadiens were short two of their high-scoring rookie wingers—Dickie Moore and Dick Gamble. Moore is out with an injured knee and Gamble was taken to hospital shortly before game time, reported suffering from a touch of virus pneumonia.

Says Today's Ball Players Lack Incentive

BURBANK, Calif., March 15 — (AP)—The trouble with today's crop of major league baseball players is a bad shortage of incentive and Ty Cobb is right when he says they don't belong in the same class with the old timers. So said one of the game's brightest all-time stars and a player devoted to baseball—Rogers Hornsby.
Hornsby, determined to lead St. Louis Browns out of the wilderness this year had just finished reading Cobb's article, a biting criticism of today's players, in a magazine.
Hornsby, a boyhood worshipper of Cobb, Hornsby observed:
"Cobb is right. Right in everything he says. The players today should be greater. They have it easy compared to the old players."
He referred to improved parks, vastly improved club operations; the lack of freak-ball pitching such as the emery and spilling. He probably meant the coddling of the kids get, too, when he recalled:
"When I came up the rookies weren't even allowed in batting practice when the regulars were hitting. Now they get right in with 'em."
He paused. "I can't figure it out, but they just haven't the incentive. I don't know the reason. I wish I did."
"Now-days, the kids concentrate on their strength, on what they do best. They should work on their weaknesses and the hell with their strength."
Any reasons for this?
Hornsby thought a moment. "Maybe it's the bonuses they hand out. Makes things too easy."
"Maybe it's like some managers. Understand, I'm not criticizing the managers. But you can't teach a player anything sittin' on the bench, or walking around with your hands in your hip pockets."
"I try to show my kids what they ought to do. I get right down with 'em in practice."

Scout News and Notices

7th Charlottetown (St. Paul's) Group
We had the pleasure of the attendance of the Committee of the Ladies Auxiliary at our last meeting. They saw a regular Scout programme of instruction and games as well as an investiture. Bob Waugh, who was invested, took the trouble of learning his tenderfoot tests from other Scouts of the Troop before joining, as a consequence he was invested two weeks after enrollment.
The Ladies Auxiliary have already proved their value to, and interest in, the Group by a number of gracious acts. We offer our sincere thanks.
Seven Scouts are spending an extra evening a week at a course designed to fit them for the Tracker's Badge which is a qualifying badge for the Bushman's Think. Good luck boys.
David Ives has qualified for his Cub First Star, this makes fifteen cubs who have attained this standard. At their last meeting the Cubs enjoyed their first sessions of camp fire songs, further sessions are anticipated. Bill Ives, Arthur Cauty and Ian Taylor King's Scouts of the Group, are taking an active part in the Cub programmes every week. This is greatly appreciated and indicates the keenness of all members of both Troop and Pack.

On Saturday, March 15th, we spent the afternoon collecting salvage paper from a number of people who had asked us to call. Despite the poor weather and road conditions, a total of 22 calls were made, only three were missed owing to lack of time. Our apologies are offered to these three households but we hope they will appreciate our difficulties. Anyone in Charlottetown who has an accumulation of clean newspaper, magazines etc. that they wish to dispose of is invited to contact P. W. Jels, phone 2430-L. Arrangements will be made to collect this paper on the first possible Saturday afternoon. Collection is facilitated if the paper is either tied in bundles or placed in boxes. The money collected by the sale of this paper is to be used to buy equipment, help pay the Summer camp expenses and also to defray the expenses of any of our boys attending the Canadian Jamboree in 1953.

CONFUSING TONGUES

There are at least 55 separate languages of North American Indians, and many more different dialects.
LONDON, March 16—(Reuters)—The Queen will hold five investitures at Buckingham Palace during July, it was announced Saturday. Those named in the birthday honors list in June will be summoned to attend.

SHERBROOKE W. I.

Mrs. Martin Dekker, Sherbrooke, entertained the Sherbrooke Women's Institute, Thursday, March 6th, with an attendance of twelve members and five visitors, one of whom renewed her membership and the other four were welcomed as new members. The president, Mrs. Elmer Warren presided.
After the reading and approval of the minutes and treasurer's report, it was reported that the sewing and knitting for the Red Cross consisting of dresses, blouses, overalls, and sweaters had been taken to the Red Cross Office by the convener, Mrs. Ray Harris.
Quilt squares to be applied in the butterfly pattern were distributed among the members as their next Red Cross project. All correspondence was read and discussed, including an appeal for funds from the Red Cross. It was decided that each member would collect from her near neighbours and pass the money to the Secretary to be forwarded to the Red Cross. Two thousand capsules had been ordered and received from the Red Cross for school and pre-school children since the last meeting.
On motion the Secretary, Mrs. Eric Madsen, was appointed a member of the Consumer Association of Canada. Subscriptions to the Institute News were renewed and the money due the A. C. W. W. Fund sent to Headquarters.
As Sherbrooke is entertaining the District Convention this year, Mrs. Charles Yeo, will represent the area at the Leadership Course to be held in Charlottetown, March 27th and 28th. Letters acknowledging a card of sympathy and a Valentine to a patient in hospital were read.
A delicious supper was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Earle Chappell and Mrs. Elmer Warn.
