Skiing By Motor Gains Popularity

MONTREAL — A new Canadian winter sport is taking over the snow - ways this winter and promises to be the big new recreation development of 1963-64.

A motorized version of skiing, with whole families riding a ski - vehicle behind a miniature tractor, has added a new word to the winter sportsman's language. Right across Canada and far down into the United States, outdoor fans are talking about hus skiing vehicle manufacturers are being hard pressed to keep up with demands as Hus-Ski sports clubs are being organized and "snow safaris" and winter rallies are under way.

Travelling on snow is not new in Canada. In one form or another Canadians have been doing it for more than three centuries. Snow - shoes and dog sleds were the first aids to winter travel and are both still in use in some areas. Skiing knocked out snow - shoeing as Canada's most popular winter sport, however, and hus-skiing now threatens to knock out the husky dog.

"When we began assembly line production of Hus - Ski snow vehicles late last summer", O. R. Brumell, president of Hus - Ski Company, said, "we did not anticipate the interest that would be shown in this new form of winter recreation. For the past three months, we have been working two shifts a day at our Pointe Claire factory and have been shipping out vehicles as fast as we could make them. Orders have come in not only from eight of Canada's ten provinces but from more than a dozen states in the U.S. Featured at a winter fair in San Francisco, Canadian - made Hus-Skis were an instant hit and can now be seen throughout the California ski country. One of them has been fitted up with a TV camera and is used to cover ski events in Yosemite".

Brumell is convinced hus-skiing is not a fad but is a family recreation that will grow everywhere where snow makes winter travel difficult. Thousands of families, he says, will be able to use their summer cabins year - round once they discover how to get in to them by Hus-ski without having the roads cleared.

Intensely promotion - minded, the snow vehicle industry is planning a series of safaris and rallies for the winter season. By 1967, they predict, Canada will have added hus-skiing to hockey as its unique winter sports contribution.

Jacques Plante Great As Rangers Top Bruins 5-3

BOSTON (AP)—Rod Gilbert, Camille Henry and Al Langlois gave New York Rangers a 3-0 lead and the Broadway crew sped to their fourth straight National League victory, 5-3 over Boston Bruins Thursday night.

Phil Goyette assisted on three Ranger goals and New York goalkeeper Jacques Plante turned in a spectacular 46-save performance.

Plante's shutout bid was spoiled by Tom Johnson at 4:35 of a wild third period, which saw the last-place Bruins find the range too late.

The contest was marked by an injury to Boston's Ed Westfall who was taken to a hospital after complaining of impaired vision. He suffered a 10-stitch cut on the right eyelid when struck by Goyette's stick late in the second period

Gilbert converted a rebound, Henry scored on a short pass when the Bruins failed to clear and Langlois connected on a screened 50-footer to give the Rangers a 3-0 bulge at the end of the second period.

Vic Hadfield and Jim Neilson added New York goals in the final 20 minutes, while Johnson, Bobby Leiter and Dean Prentice scored for the Bruins.

Boston now is winless in 10 straight games, the longest such streak in the NHL this season:

Legionaires Nip Borden Nationals

Two quick goals within five seconds of each other saved the unbeaten streak of the Junior Legionaires in a regular Prince County League game at Borden last night which the Juniors won 4-2. At the fifteen mark of the third period, they were trailing 2-1, but John Poirier and David Martin scored the two quick ones, and George Dalton added an insurance tally two minutes later. Bill Thibeau, a new addition to the Borden team, scored the only goal of the first period, and relentless forechecking by the Borden forwards, and superb work in the Borden net by Ed Johnston kept the juniors off the score sheet in the second frame which was scoreless. George Dalton evened the score after four minutes of the third period, but Dale MacWilliams put Borden ahead two minutes later. This lead held up till Juniors two quick goals were fired. Johnston had been hit in the nemk by a flying puck and retired to the dressing room for five minutes. Soon after he returned the Juniors fired their tying and winning tallies.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Old-Time Winters Return To Province

There is no need to wonder where our old fashioned winters have gone... we have the makings of one in our laps at the moment. The year 1923 is the last one I remember distinctly. I used to take snowshoe jaunts that winter and could sit on top of the nearest telephone pole when I felt like taking a breather. The present one has all the ear marks of another ilke we experienced 40 years ago.

Our rabbits are getting a much needed break this winter as hounds have tough going in the swamps while the hunters have to remain on the outskirts. Fox hunters fare somewhat better for foxes have a tendency to break cover for some distant point once the hound is on their trail. Rabbits on the other hand have a tendency to go underground when the thickets are buried in snow. I remember one winter of deep snow I was hunting rabbits with the aid of snowshoes. The snow was criss-crossed with beaten trails but no rabbits were flushed from cover until the webs broke through and I landed up to my armpits in snow. This came as no surprise but the rabbit that came out of the hole like a white streak, almost brushing my face, did give me a jolt. This bunny had a snug retreat five feet under the snow. I called it a day and went home.

TRAVELLING TRICKY

I once, while on such a snowshoe jaunt, observed where a fox was hot on the trail of a rabbit until his quarry went underground... under snow would be more appropriate. Brer Fox was quite disgusted for he left his mark of displeasure at the burrow mouth. I thought to myself: "You'll be a long time filling your stomach with rabbit... you might as well go to the meadows and dig out mice."

Travelling on snowshoes when the spruce thickets are covered is tricky business. I had to remove mine before I got out of the trap I fell in and sort of swim out.

I have received letters since my last column appeared in print that threw light on what caused the disappearance of at least 70 per cent of our crane population, although it didn't come as news to this columnist. I thought it better to let some reader give with the true facts.

A letter from East Kings County stated that empty top killer cans and bags were thrown into the stream at the head of East Lake and killed all the trout in the stream and in the top trout pools at the head of the lake and that the cranes ate the dead trout and all died where they stood at stream or pool edge. Another letter stated that the same thing occurred in the stream flowing into South Lake. I was informed that both the bags and empty cans were still in the water at freeze-up. Incidentally I was given the names of the potato growers in both instances.

'DREAM SPOTS'

There used to be some wonderful trout pools at the head of East Lake with the one known as Abie Block's taking top priority. In my game warden days the head of East Lake was a 'rout fishermen's paradise...an out of this world dream spot. Our "dream spots" are getting fewer and farther apart with each passing year. What happened to our great blue herons is, in all probability, the cause of the almost complete disappearance of our kingfishers. Cranes are protected under the Migratory Birds Convention Act and I have witnessed trout fishermen getting red in the face as they condemned the Migratory Birds Convention Act for their crane protection policy, and yet the careless use of pesticides will kill more trout in an hour than all the cranes and kingfishers will take in years and yet, when a sprayer is washed in a stream and cleans it of all trout in its waters they button their lips so tight not a cheep comes out...at least not to the proper authorities.

In looking back over my "files" of convictions in my game warden days the list of saw mill operators convicted for "allowing sawdust to enter water frequented by trout" was an eye opener. I smiled when I read the names of four mill operators I haled into court in one batch... incidentally my last either single, double or treble. In Biblical days the decree went out from Caesar Augustus "That all the world would be taxed". In this modern age the decree was worded somewhat differently:—"That sport must not be allowed to interfere with industry."

In the early forties wildgeese remained in the province all winter at Rollo Bay. They started with a small flock of five and in a few years this concentration numbered in the 80s. The last year I was game warden the number had topped the 100 mark and alternated between Rollo Bay and South Lake. My information as the cause was sniping tactics with .22 calibre rifles after those rifles became legal for hunting purposes. South Lake was more cramped for water space and I figured the geese did not pull out from Rollo Bay without cause.

While the .22 calibre rifile was made legal for hunting rabbits only that was all the excuse owners of .22 rifles needed... it gave them the legal right to carry such rifles. Before this change in the Game Act was made any person in possession of a .22 rifle in the woods, fields or marshes was wide open to prosecution and the rifle promptly seized. Now they can carry such a weapon with impunity, unless caught in the act of shooting at other game or with such game in possession or showing sign of having killed with such a weapon.

JUVENILES AND CROWS

The rabbit season extends from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31. After this amendment was made in the Game Act, juveniles, carrying such rifles, were as common in the woods and marshes surrounding Souris as crows in springtime and the geese moved out to Port Joli pronto.

It is now a matter of record that our wildgeese had a pretty rough passage this fall via the motor boat- rifle route. Recently I was informed that what happened to the geese in Queens County with respect to illegal hunting, meaning motor boats and rifles as hunting methods, was not to be compared with what took place in Prince County with MacEwen's Island and Black Banks taking top priority. I was told that motor boats, sneak boats, live birds as decoys night lights and just plain ordinary shooting at night were in vogue. Wildgeese will absorb terrific punishment for a time but when they decide they have had enough they pull up stakes for parts far distant with Port Joli the nearest stopping point.

Years ago wildgeese pulled out of Pownal Bay, after excessive illegal persecution, and moved elsewhere in the province I know of one large concentration of geese that shifted feeding grounds three times this fall due to night shooting, rifles and motor boats. The last move was to Port Joli. It took the geese years to come back to Pownal Bay after they were driven out, and they had only a short distance to come. If driven to Port Joli or the Atlantic seaboard of the United States it could take them a lot longer... if ever.

That's something for goose hunters to think about this winter.

Detroit Wings Defeat Hawks

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings blew an early two-goal lead but came back strong to score a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the slumping Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

The loss was the third in their last four games for the league-leading Black Hawks.

Larry Jeffrey paced the Detroit attack with two goals, the second coming in the final period after Chicago had closed within a goal of tying on Bobby Hull's 24th marker of the season.

Andre Pronovost gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in the first period, three minutes after Jeffrey's first tally. But Chicago charged right back and tied it in the same period on goals by Kenny Wharram and Ron Murphy. Wharram's goal was his 23rd of the season.

The victory, which gave the Red Wings a 3-2-2 win-loss-tie record in the season series with Chicago, kept Detroit five points ahead of New York in the battle for fourth place.

Johnny's Flying Hawks Even Up Hockey Series

Upwards of 1,000 howling hockey fans turned up at the Charlottetown Forum to witness what turned out to be the most exciting game of the season.

Johnny's Flying Hawks skated off the cie with a hard earned 5-3 victory over Sandy's Parkdale Royals to even their best of seven series for the City Senior Championship. The 11.00 a.m.—Otters vs. Raccoons. next game in this great series will take place next Thursday evening.

Gerald Noonan and Donnie 'Gunner' MacCormack stole the show for the winners with Noonan picking up three goals and McCormack the other two.

For the Royals, Gerry Kane tallied twice with defenceman Eustace Reeves getting the other marker.

The game opened fast and furious with both teams handing out some stiff body checks. The Hawks opened the scoring at 2:05 when Noonan took 'Billy Sherry's passout from behind the net and drilled a 15-footer that Royals' goalie Frankie Roper never saw.

This lead only lasted a few minutes as Reeves fired from the point a blistering shot that sailed over Butch Ward's shoulder for the tying goal.

The highlight of the opening stanza was the great goaltending, with Roper coming up with the more difficult saves. At one stage, late in the period he was sensational as the Hawks held a two man advantage for almost three minutes but couldn't score.

The winners didn't waste any time in the second period as they jumped into a 2-1 lead with Donnie MacCormack deflecting Ralph Shepherd's drive from the blueline past Roper. The Royals came right back a few minutes later and Gerry Kane rifled a shot from the corner that slipped past Ward and again tied up the game.

The Hawks scored again late in the period when the Royals were shorthanded to take a 3-2 lead with Noonan connecting for his second goal of the night.

MacCormack put the Hawks two goals ahead early in the final period when he backhanded the puck past Roper but aKne, who played a great game scored on a screen shot to again put the Royals to within one goal.

Noonan came back later in the period to pick up his hat trick and put the game out of reach of the Royals. The losers kept trying however and with 45 seconds remaining in the game removed Roper in favor of an extra forward. The move almost backfired as MacCormack just missed the open cage with a backhand drive seconds before the end of the game.
