WHAT?

McLeod & McKenzie, Star Merchant Tailors.

MODESTY forbids us (to use a slang phrase) to blow our own horn, and as it is contrary to our opinion (according to the old proverb) when in Rome to do as Rome does, we shall endeavor, as heretofore, to present facts so undeniable as to be beyond the reach of dispute. True, people have gained for themselves a name (not an enviable one) which, to all appearances, served the purpose they had in view. But wisdom dictates, before posing as leaders in the great race for supremacy, that we should look well to the foundation upon which those assertions are based. To throw the mantle of charity over such people is our motto; and instead of revealing to the public gaze, through your columns, the errors into which they have fallen, we will endeavor to lead them gently into the light. That you will acquiesce in what we say, is a foregone conclusion, namely, as Fathers of the trade in this Province we treat the several branches of the trade in this city with the same consideration as a loving parent would his innocent offspring; and to this end we invite such traders to aim high and co-operate in elevating this, the first profession, to the high status to which it is entitled. In the meantime, call and see our handsome goods, in NAPS, MELTONS, SCOTCH TWEEDS, WORSTEDS, &c., made up in the latest styles and cheap.

The Teacher

Who advised her pupils to strengthen their minds by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, appreciated the truth that bodily health is essential to mental vigor. For persons of delicate and feeble constitution, whether young or old, this medicine is remarkably beneficial. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring and fall I take a number of bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am greatly benefited."—Mrs. James H.
Eastman, Stoneham, Mass.

"I have taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla with great benefit to my general health." —Miss Thirza L. Greer, Palmyra, Md.

"My daughter, twelve years of age, has suffered for the past year from ### General Debility.

A few weeks since, we began to give her Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Her health has greatly improved."—Mrs. Harriet H.
Battles, South Chelmsford, Mass.

"About a year ago I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for debility and neuralgia resulting from malarial exposure in the army. I was in a very bad condition, but six bottles of the Sarsaparilla, with occasional doses of Ayer's Pills, have greatly improved my health.
I am now able to work, and feel that I cannot say too much for your excellent remedies."—F. A. Pinkham, South Molucous, Me.

"My daughter, sixteen years old, is using Ayer's Sarsaparilla with good effect."—Rev. S. J. Graham, United Brethren Church, Buckingham, W. Va.

"I suffered from

Nervous Prostration, with lame back and headache, and have been much benefited by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I am now 80 years of age, and am satisfied that my present health and prolonged life are due to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Lucy Moffitt, Killingly, Conn.

Mrs. Ann H. Farnsworth, a lady 79 years old, So. Woodstock, Vt., writes: "After several weeks' suffering from nervous prostration, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken half of it my usual health returned."

The Bell of Justice.

There was a King long years ago;
His name historian doth not know.

He lived beneath Italian skies, A noble monarch, just and wise.

That he might serve his people well, In a high tower he hung a bell.

He who was wronged had but to ring
The bell of justice, for the King

Was bound to make the humblest prayer
The subject of his royal care.

At first men rung it every day, Rotted at last the rope away.

And, growing shorter by degrees, Swayed lightly to each passing breeze.

For many a month it idle hung, No longer needed. No one rung

For justice; men had learned to fear, And dreaded now the bell to hear.

At length a wandering grape-vine clung Tight to the rope that idle hung,

And firmly held it, sweetly grasped,
As if one hand another clasped.

A staving horse turned out to die, One summer day was passing by,

And browsing where the grape-vine hung,
The bell of justice loudly rung.

Straightforward a royal herald came,
And saw the horse, half-starved and lame.

He told the King who rung the bell, The monarch answered: "It is well

"The brute for justice doth appeal; For straying brutes I pity feel.

Go seek his owner out for me,
And tell him this is our decree:

"Long as he lives this horse must fare On oats and grass of his. Beware!

"If he again for justice call My wrath shall on his owner fall."

Would God to-day there was a bell That brutes could ring, and thereby tell

The story of their cruel wrongs, And win the justice that belongs

To every creature, great and small;
For God their Maker loveth all.

Horse Notes.

A GREAT OFFER FOR SUNOL.

A despatch from Sacramento says that Senator George Hearst, who is in that city to attend a meeting of the National Grange authorized his friend, Dr. H. Latham to send a despatch to Senator Stanford, saying if Sunol had not been sold he (Hearst) would give more for the filly than Bonner or any other man on earth. The doctor was likewise instructed to request the Senator to put a price on the wonderful horse Palo Alto. The doctor says Hearst insists that money is not to stand in the way of keeping the fleet animals in California if $250,000 will buy Sunol. The Senator is willing to produce the coin if it takes half a million. The doctor also says that the sum will not daunt him, as his check is ready for any amount for the animal.

TO TROT IN 2.04

Referring, in the course of a recent interview, to the price Robert Bonner paid for Sunol, Senator Stead said it was more than had been paid for Maud S., and not so much as Axel brought. The mare he added, will be kept in San Francisco for a year and speeded as the Palo Alto men see fit. "I hope to send her for another record in a few days," said Senator Stanford. "Sunol, Palo Alto, and some other horses will be sent to Napa. My opinion is that if Palo Alto keeps in good condition he will trot as good as 2.10, and if Sunol is all right, she will make a record that will place her only second to Maud S., beating Jay-Eye See."

"And next year," continued the Senator, after a few moments' reflection, "I am confident Sunol will, if all goes well, trot in 2.04. We have always had the greatest confidence in Sunol, and it is my rule not to expect a horse to do in public what he has not shown in private. If Sunol had been well this year, and had had the exercise needed to develop her, I am inclined to think she would have made a much better record."

A GREAT BREEDING FARM.

Senator Stanford lately talked at length about his Palo Alto breeding farm, which has produced the fastest yearling in the world, the fastest two-year-old and the fastest three-year-old, and bids fair to secure the best four-year-old record as well. "I believe," said he, "I have reached the point in breeding where I can say at the birth of a colt, 'This colt will be able to trot in 2.20 unless he is taken sick.' But beyond that it is not safe to make predictions. I have great faith in Palo Alto as a record breaker. He is the only horse that I ever timed a quarter of a mile in 0.30, or a two minute gait. He was set back by sickness for a long time, or I think he would have done much better than he has. It is probable that Palo Alto will be forced to do a mile in 2.12 before the end of the year, and will then take a rest for the winter."

"ANOTHER COUNTY HEARD FROM."

We are glad to see THE EXAMINER calling for better accommodation in the press quarters at the Charlottetown Driving Park.
Everything about the track is in first class shape except the reporters' apartment, which is not at all in keeping with the other equipments. And then it is rendered still more inconvenient by other persons frequently without let or hindrance, and showing the unhappy reporters about until life becomes a burden to one who attempts to take notes a burden to one who attempts that the directors, now that their attention has been called to the matter, will remedy it, and win the thanks of the newspaper fraternity.—Agriculturist.

It is no use talking! Goff Bros. boots beat them all.

Sonnet of the Church.

The following centennial sonnet is written by Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax:— Firm vindicator of man's sacred rights, O church! first gospel bearer to this shore, Strong in thy hoary age, as strong of yore, When belted tyrants, in thy pristine fights, Worsted, revoked such law as freedom blights, And conscience freed; here, too, thy mission bore

The freedom of light. Thy sons made Baltimore
A beacon city on fair Freedom's heights.
The cycling years have marked one hundred now

Since mitred chief, endued with power divine, This seed linked to thy throne; he sowed in tears:

In deep thanksgiving joyous reapers bow, Soul filled with hopes that in the ages shine To garner richer fruit in coming years.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Brutal Action.

Sir,—I was walking up Pownall Street last Saturday, about six o'clock I saw three men in a group in deep conversation, and as I drew near I noticed one of these men to be James Hughes, better known as "Simple Jimmy." One of these men had a five gallon can of kerosene oil, which he persuaded Jimmy was hop beer. He held this can up to Jimmy's head for him to drink, which he did. I stepped up and asked him if it was kerosene he was giving him to drink, upon which he immediately lowered the can and walked down the street. This mean man is well known to our citizens and should be ashamed of himself.

CITIZEN.

One Hundred and Five.

THE FATHER OF A FAMILY WHO HAVE DIED OF LEPROSY.

(From the Sydney Reporter.)

There lives at Lake O'Law, Inverness county, just across the Victoria county line, an old man of distinguished name and family, and with an interesting history himself, but little known hitherto to the outside world. His name is Justin Mc-Carthy. He came from the same place in Ireland that has credit as the birthplace of his namesake, the distinguished author and statesman, and there is no doubt that he belongs to the same family. Mr. Mc-Carthy, of Lake O'Law, is now 105 years old, and has lived about half his life in that settlement. He still retains all his faculties and as good health as an average man of 70 or 80. By trade he was a brick-maker, and some of his family still follow that industry. Though not eminent in the literary world, the centenarian has, through no fault of his own, become rather distinguished in another way, being the father of the family who have mostly died of the dread disease of leprosy in that section. His wife, whom he married in Prince Edward Island, where he formerly worked, was, we understand, the first victim of the horrible disease, and several of those who have married into the family have also succumbed to it. Indeed it would be now impossible to tell, without the closest genealogical research and investigation, where the traces of this diseased blood may have been distributed throughout this country. There are said to be some cases of it now in the settlement of Egypt, Margaree, and also a family of the tainted blood at George's River, in this county. Sometimes the disease will not show for a generation, and it seems remarkable that the old centenarian whose wife died of it has never shown any evidence of being affected.

Prosperity in Nova Scotia.

A BUILDING BOOM AT AMHERST AND SEVERAL OTHER TOWNS.

The Weekly Press, with commendable enterprise, publishes a list of the new buildings put up in Amherst during the past season. They number about 100 and the cost amounts to $150,000.

Lunenburg is another of the growing towns of the province. Within the past season 25 new houses have been erected.

The Windsor Tribune says there probably was never a time in the history of the town when there was so many enquiries for comfortable, moderate-sized dwellings as have been made through the past summer.

The New Glasgow papers report quite a number of new buildings in that town and not half a dozen unoccupied buildings.

The Truro Sun says: That our town is prospering in a marked degree is plain to the most casual observer. The many buildings erected during the season and the fact that all are fully occupied and more are needed to accommodate our steadily increasing population is satisfactory evidence of this. Our water service has to be constantly increased to meet the growing wants of our people; we have electric light and telephone service by private companies. There are 17 factories manufacturing hats and caps, leather, pegs and lasts, flour and meal, woolen goods, condensed milk, furniture, steam engines and boilers, mining machinery, rotary mills, iron bridges, &c., &c.

There are ten miles of electric light wires and 1550 electric lamps. There are numerous wholesale and retail houses with a distributing business of $3,750,000 per annum. Truro paid in the fiscal year 1888 customs duties amounting to $77,524.44, being a larger sum than was paid by any other Nova Scotia town except two, Halifax and Yarmouth; only exceeded in New Brunswick by St. John and Moncton. The growth and recent development and progress may be illustrated by its assessment which was in 1878, $900,450, and in 1888, $1,462,274, showing an average yearly increase for ten years of $56,182. But astonishing as it may appear, the increase of 1888 over 1889 was $257,149!
